France May Be Balky On Confirmation

De Gaulle Says Cabinet To Study Lemnitzer Matter

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle went out of his way Saturday to emphasize that France will not be just a rubber stamp for the appointment of Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer as supreme Allied commander in Europe.

There seemed little doubt that France will eventually endorse President Kennedy's choice, but De Gaulle served notice he will not be hurried into it.

A statement from De Gaulle's office showered praise on Gen. Lauris Norstad whose resignation as commander was disclosed Friday. It conceded that the supreme commander should be another American, then added: "The French government is currently examining the proposal which the American government has made to it and to the other governments of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, as to Gen. Norstad's successor.

CABINET MEETING

"The decision of the French government on this matter will be taken in one of the next Cabinet meetings."

In other words, Lemnitzer's appointment will not be confirmed as quickly as Washington—and the NATO secretariat—may have expected.

Kennedy named Lemnitzer as the new U.S. commander in chief in Europe. This post and the job of Allied commander in Europe usually go together.

The Cabinet normally meets on Wednesdays and officials of the Elysee Palace said there are no plans for any session earlier than next Wednesday. Furthermore, the Elysee statement did not even promise to make the decision then, but rather spoke airily of "one of the next" Cabinet meetings.

This contrasted with a prediction by NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker that Norstad's successor would probably be named Monday or Tuesday.

Rains Cool Area; Hot For Today

Farmer "drought" northeast Louisiana were generally heartened Saturday by light to heavy rain that cooled off the heat-struck area during the afternoon. Thunder, lightning and winds were reported, but no damage.

A cold front extending southward into northern Mississippi and central Arkansas produced thundershowers over portions of south Arkansas, northeast Louisiana and northern Mississippi [illegible] widely scattered.

In Monroe the Federal Aviation Agency at Selman Field recorded 1.36 inches between [illegible] a.m. and 4:25 p.m. The FAA said pilots reported rains [illegible] miles north, 25 miles east and [illegible] of Monroe.

But before the rains hit, temperatures were scorching as usual in the area. The mercury in the Twin Cities exceeded by one degree the 95 prediction. Another 95 is predicted today.

And nights are still getting warmer. Saturday's low was 70 here and the overnight reading is expected to leap to 72 today.

Electric power was off in Monroe in the college area from 11:55 a.m. until 1:35 p.m.

Also suffering power loss was Hodge which was blacked out for 30-40 minutes of a hard two-hour early afternoon downpour accompanied by heavy thunderclaps and brilliant lightning.

HEADLAND, Ala. (AP) — An airplane landed on top of a moving pickup truck near here and no one was injured. But the whirling propeller missed the truck driver's head by inches.

The crop-dusting plane, piloted by Sonny Houser of Dothan, Ala., was coming in for a landing Friday and struck the pickup driven by Robert Howard of near Headland and moving in the same direction as the plane.

Howard and two small boys riding with him escaped injury when the propeller sliced through the top of the cab.

One wheel of the airplane landed in the open truck body, the other was left dangling outside.

Louisiana's Republicans Set Platform

National Defense, Economy Stressed By State GOP

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana Republicans Saturday adopted a party platform for 1962 and 1963.

Tom Stagg, Shreveport attorney and head of the platform committee, termed it "rather conservative."

The platform consisted of state and national divisions which called for economy in government and advocated strong national defenses.

In the five hour meeting the greatest controversy came over a right to work law segment of the labor plank. Several members thought such a law would hurt chances for Republican victory in the coming elections. After considerable deliberation the issue was left in the platform.

APPOINTED

An amendment was made of the original platform stating the superintendent of education should be appointed by the board of education and he should be responsible to this board.

The platform also urged an immediate adoption of a stiffer curriculum for high schools and the consolidation of small rural high schools.

The Republicans took a strong stand on the tidelands issue and opposed any "political" settlement of the dispute between Louisiana and the federal government.

Once a settlement has been reached, the body said, some of the state escrow funds from the tidelands should be used for state expenditures.

The convention advocated a tax cut only in proportion with reduced government spending. The fiscal program the platform stated should be planned and operated on the basis of common sense and without the use of "sophisticated" budgetary innovations.

"The nation," the platform states, "has now reached the prohibitive and destruction level of 33 per cent of national income and we submit that, historically, this level is beyond the national resources, energy, labor and industry of any people.

"We, therefore, require a reduction in federal income tax to coincide with a reduction in federal spending."

LAX ENFORCEMENT

Committee Report Raps Justice Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff study said Saturday night the Justice Department has only sporadically enforced the law requiring foreign agents to make full disclosure of their U.S. activities.

A Justice Department spokesman said a preliminary study of the report indicates that it contains some inaccuracies. He noted that it cited in support of its conclusion alleged inaccurate or incomplete disclosure on the part of only seven agents out of about 1,556 registered with the department.

The staff study was made public by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, as a preliminary to a committee investigation. It plans to make a year long inquiry into the extent to which U.S. agents for foreign governments attempt to influence U.S. policy through propaganda and other activities.

The Justice Department spokesman said the department welcomes the inquiry, has cooperated with it fully and will continue to do so. The department has responsibility for enforcing the act which requires that agents of foreign governments register and report every six months on their activities, income and expenditure.

The report gave the department high marks for enforcing the act as it relates to agents of Iron Curtain countries.

"The apparent failure to require full disclosure does not extend to all registrations," the staff said. "Representatives of certain Communist countries file statements complete to the last detail and the Federal Bureau of Investigation regularly checks their accounts. This type of enforcement, however, is limited to Communist countries' agents."

Fulbright said the staff study does not represent the views of the Senate committee or its members.

UNOFFICIAL BASIS

Peruvian Junta Talks With U.S.

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru's military junta is holding informal talks with the United States in an effort to renew diplomatic relations, Vice Adm. Louis Edgardo Llosa, the foreign minister, said Saturday.

The United States suspended relations with the junta and cut off aid a few hours after the military took over the government from President Manuel Prado last Wednesday.

"We are holding the talks on an unofficial basis, of course," Edgardo Llosa said in an interview.

He indicated, however, that little progress had been made.

NO STUDY

Edgardo Llosa said the junta had given no study to a Venezuelan proposal for an inter-American foreign ministers' conference to investigate the junta's seizure of the government. The United States also is reported considering a request that the Peace Committee of the Organization of American States conduct an investigation.

In this respect, Edgardo Llosa said: "Anyone is welcome to come to see what's happening."

Army Gen. Ricardo Perez Godoy, the junta chief, issued a similar invitation at a news conference Friday. "Our frontiers are open," he said.

Edgardo Llosa declined to say who was taking part for either side in the informal conversations he claimed were being carried carried out with the United States on diplomatic relations.

Sporadic demonstrations have been breaking out against Perez Godoy's regime daily since the military takeover, but none has been a serious threat.

A brief demonstration was put down at noon Saturday.

Union leaders, meanwhile, announced a call for a general strike Monday in protest of the overthrow of the nation's constitutional regime.

HOT CONTESTS

State Elections Loom Saturday

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Three hotly-fought congressional contests-including a strong conservative-segregationist challenge to Rep. Hale Boggs-head the Democratic primary ballot in Louisiana on July 28.

Boggs, whose position as House Democratic whip is the highest ever attained by a Louisiana congressman, has three opponents: State Rep. Boggs is favored to win in the 2nd District which includes part of New Orleans and all of Jefferson, St. James, St. John the Baptist and St. Charles parishes.

Mariner I Is Delayed; Set Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A stray radio signal that burned out a fuse in the booster rocket's command destruct system Saturday forced a one-day postponement of an attempt to launch a Mariner I spacecraft to the vicinity of Venus.

The Atlas Agena B rocket now is scheduled to blast off in the predawn hours Sunday to start Mariner I on a 139-day interplanetary journey to Venus. The spacecraft is to fly within 10,000 miles of the bright planet on Dec. 8 to explore conditions beneath its heavy cloud layers.

The spurious radio signal entered the first-stage Altas as the countdown was progressing early Saturday morning. Apparently it overloaded the fuse and it burned out. The fuse is part of a box through which a signal would pass to destroy the rocket in flight if the range safety officer detected something wrong.

Technicians replaced the fuse quickly but it required considerable time to check out. So the shot was called off for the day.

Stray signals of the type often are caused by atmospheric phenomena picking up a signal from one source, such as a radio station, and introducing it into another radio outlet, such as the telemetry system in a missile. It happens very rarely at Cape Canaveral, officials reported.

Laos Treaty Approved By Conference

U.S., Red China Exchange Words On Asian Peace

GENEVA (AP) — The 14-nation Laotian conference formally approved Saturday a treaty declaring Laos independent and neutral but the United States and Red China exchanged words on keeping the peace in the area.

Chen Yi, Red China's foreign minister, asserted that the United States is perpetuating armed intervention in South Viet Nam, Laos' neighbor. He added that there is no justification whatsoever for American forces being in Thailand.

Chen said the Laos peace could not be consolidated "as long as the flames of war are kept alive in South Viet Nam." He suggested more international consultation to settle that struggle.

Similar accusations were voiced by Ung Van Khiem, Communist North Viet Nam's foreign minister.

COUNTERS

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk countered that the treaty must be scrupulously observed in order to unify Laos and seal off its borders from any nation that would use it as a base for aggression.

This was an obvious reference to Communist infiltration into South Viet Nam and Thailand from Laos. South Viet Nam insists infiltration of Viet Cong Communist guerrillas from Laos has increased since the formation of a Laotian coalition government.

Rusk objected strongly to distortions of fact in some of the Communist speeches. And he made clear that in signing the treaty the United States does not imply recognition of all signers, meaning Red China and North Viet Nam.

South Viet Nam's foreign minister, Vu Van Mau, objected to inclusion of the Laos Communist faction in neutralist prince Souvanna Phouma's government.

"The balance in Laos will be constantly menaced by the presence in the Laotian coalition government of representative of a political faction whose idology is in all points incompatible with the requirements of neutrality," he declared.

Plane-Missile Industry Union To Delay Strike

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —One of the unions threatening a major strike in the plane-missile industry yielded promptly to a plea by President Kennedy Saturday and delayed its strike deadline for 60 days.

The International Association of Machinists, AFL-CIO, acted after Kennedy had set up a three-member panel to help negotiate a settlement of the dispute.

The machinists' union represents about 120,000 of the 150,000 aerospace industry workers who had been scheduled to strike major missile manufacturing plants and sites at noon Monday.

The other union involved, the United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO, represents the remainder of the workers.

Officials of the auto workers met in Los Angeles to consider Kennedy's plea that work and operations continue under present labor management contracts for a period of 60 days.

Algerian Talks Still Fruitless

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Algeria's rival leaders continued their complex compromise negotiations throughout the day Saturday but reported no progress.

The rival camps of Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda in Algiers and dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella in Tlemcen negotiated indirectly through their supporters on the so-called Council of Wilayas—zones—of the Algerian guerrilla army.

The council has been in secret session since Tuesday, trying to work out a formula for patching up the bitter dispute between the two factions.

OVER TEA CUPS

Rusk, Gromyko Discuss Berlin

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko squared off over tea cups Saturday in a new round of sparring. Presumably the question they discussed was the big one—Berlin.

Gromyko invited Rusk for tea at the Soviet delegation's Villa Rose, and Rusk accepted expecting Gromyko to talk about Berlin. Rusk was prepared to return the invitation in order to extend his probe into Soviet intentions regarding the divided city.

INCIDENTS

Recent minor Soviet harassing incidents in Berlin's air corridors and Moscow's sharpened pronouncements have given some American diplomats the idea the Soviet Union is trying to bring the dispute over the divided city to a head.

A U.S. spokesman said the two discussed subjects of mutual interest. He did not elaborate. Much of the 2½-hour meeting was taken up by the need for translation from English to Russian and vice versa.

Rusk was accompanied by Foy D. Kohler, who has been appointed to succeed Llewellyn E. Thompson as U.S. ambassador to Moscow.

The Rusk-Gromyko tea was only one of the swirl of exchanges in the international community gathered here for the 14-nation conference on Laos, and for the resumed disarmament negotiations.

Rusk was host at dinner Saturday night to British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. They discussed a wide variety of problems.

One subject that did not come up, an informed U.S. source said, was the Congo. But Rusk is expected to pursue with Home later the issue of how strong a position to take on sanctions against Katanga's President Moise Tshombe unless he agrees to end his secession from the Congo.

The four Western foreign ministers were reported to have agreed at the dinner that there was no significant change in the Soviet attitude on Berlin up to now.

Hole Blasted In Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP) — A dynamite blast early Sunday knocked out a big hole in the Communist wall dividing Berlin, West Berlin police reported.

The blast occurred in a section of the wall near Potsdamer Platz, once one of the busiest squares in the city but now deserted. The wall runs through the area and is heavily reinforced by barbed wire and tank obstacles.

Police said the section knocked out measured six feet by six feet.

It was the third time in recent weeks that a hole has been blasted in the wall.

HUNDREDS JAILED

Albany Police Halt Marching Negroes

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Several hundred Negroes began a march Saturday night on City Hall for a prayer meeting in the face of a federal court injunction against resumption of demonstrations. But police halted the march.

Nearly 100 Negroes then went in small groups to the downtown area where they fell on their knees in a line on the sidewalk and began praying.

The Rev. Samuel Wells prayed for nearly 10 minutes before the entire group was marched off to city jail.

Hardly had the first group been jailed when a second march of about 40 Negroes led by a gray-haired woman with a bandage on her leg left the church.

They were promptly escorted to jail between two lines of police.

An estimated 150 policemen and state troopers kept down any incidents as large crowds of Negroes gathered on two street corners to boo and yell at police officers.

The Negro section of this southwest Georgia city was teeming with Negroes after the prayer march.

Wells, an Albany minister, led the demonstrators from a packed church after shouting, "It's not tomorrow, not at high noon—now."

"I heard about an injunction," Wells told the wildly cheering crowd. "I haven't seen one. I heard a few names but mine hasn't been called."

He referred to a federal court order enjoining several integration groups from staging mass demonstrations or otherwise promoting desegregation activities. Others named in the decree—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy and Dr. W. G. Anderson—made no appearance at the rally.

Earlier, King described the injunction as "a futile attempt to block that which is unblockable."

"We do not intend to take this lying down," he said after he voluntarily submitted to service of the injunction.

United States Blamed For Resumption

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Saturday night it will set off a new series of nuclear tests covering the latest Soviet atomic weapons. The Kremlin claimed the move was forced by the current U.S. tests in the Pacific.

The Soviet Union did not disclose the nature of the tests or the dates they will be conducted. Observers here expected them to begin at any time.

"The explosions of American nuclear bombs above Christmas and Johnston islands have produced their echo—they have made reply of Soviet nuclear tests inevitable," declared a government statement.

CLAIMS RIGHT

"The Soviet Union, which has invariably held its nuclear tests only in reply, has the right to be the last to hold nuclear tests in the world," the statement added.

Premier Khrushchev announced several times after the United States launched its latest nuclear series that the U.S.S.R. planned to test again. The major question was the timing.

In Hyannis Port, Mass., where President Kennedy was spending the weekend, a White House spokesman said there would be no immeditae comment.

In Washington, the State Department said the United States deplores the Soviet decision as "disturbing news." It called on the Soviet Union to continue negotia-

America Deplores Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States deplored as "disturbing news" Saturday night the formal announcement of the Soviet Union's decision to hold a new series of nuclear weapons tests.

In a statement, the United States called on the Soviet Union to continue negotiations at Geneva on a test ban treaty and expressed hope that the negotiations would be "seriously" conducted.

The statement was issued by the State Department a few hours after the official Soviet government announcement in Moscow.

The Soviet Union began another round of nuclear explosions last September when it broke a moratorium which had existed for almost three years.

After the United States resumed testing in the atmosphere, following the Soviet lead, Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders said several times that the U.S.S.R. would fire a new test series.

Saturday night's Moscow declaration, therefore, had been fully expected in advance and the chief interest attached to it here was the implication in the timing that the Soviet Union may now be ready to start the tests. The speculation is that the new séries will be mainly concerned with research in development in the field of antimissile defenses.

The U.S. statement was obviously designed to counter the propaganda claim in the Moscow statement that the current rivalry in nuclear testing was brought on by the United States and that the Soviet Union has been trying to get a nuclear test ban but has been prevented by the United States from doing so.

The department has responsibility for enforcing the act which requires that agents of foreign governments register and report every six months on their activities, income and expenditure.

The report gave the department high marks for enforcing the act as it relates to agents of Iron Curtain countries.

"The apparent failure to require full disclosure does not extend to all registrations," the staff said. "Representatives of certain Communist countries file statements complete to the last detail and the Federal Bureau of Investigation regularly checks their accounts. This type of enforcement, however, is limited to Communist countries' agents."

Fulbright said the staff study does not represent the views of the Senate committee or its members.

Senator Soaper Says

It seems to be the general's assignment to tell the troops how happy they should be in the service, and then retire to write a book revealing how nervous the whole thing made him personally.

A new type of refrigerator automatically refills the ice trays. Let us remember that many families have been held together for years by the fact that everybody took turns being the idiot who forgot to refill the ice tray.

Suitable ceremonies celebrate the 100th anniversary of the beautiful bugle call known as "taps." The day we'll never live to see is any similar commemorative enthusiasm for reveille.

Laos Treaty Approved By Conference

U.S., Red China Exchange Words On Asian Peace

GENEVA (AP)—The 14-nation Laotian conference formally approved Saturday a treaty declaring Laos independent and neutral, but the United States and Red China exchanged words on keeping the peace in the area.

Chen Yi, Red China's foreign minister, asserted that the United States is perpetuating armed intervention in South Viet Nam, Laos' neighbor. He added that there is no justification whatsoever for American forces being in Thailand.

Chen said the Laos peace could not be consolidated "as long as the flames of war are kept alive in South Viet Nam." He suggested more international consultation to settle that struggle.

Similar accusations were voiced by Ung Van Khiem, Communist North Viet Nam's foreign minister.

COUNTERS

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk countered that the treaty must be scrupulously observed in order to unify Laos and seal off its borders from any nation that would use it as a base for aggression.

This was an obvious reference to Communist infiltration into South Viet Nam and Thailand from Laos. South Viet Nam insists infiltration of Viet Cong Communist guerrillas from Laos has increased since the formation of a Laotian coalition government.

Rusk objected strongly to distortions of fact in some of the Communist speeches. And he made clear that in signing the treaty the United States does not imply recognition of all signers, meaning Red China and North Viet Nam.

South Viet Nam's foreign minister, Vu Van Mau, objected to inclusion of the Laos Communist faction in neutralist prince Souvanna Phouma's government.

"The balance in Laos will be constantly menaced by the presence in the Laotian coalition government of representatives of a political faction whose idology is in all points incompatible with the requirements of neutrality," he declared.

Plane-Missile Industry Union To Delay Strike

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—One of the unions threatening a major strike in the plane-missile industry yielded promptly to a plea by President Kennedy Saturday and delayed its strike deadline for 60 days.

The International Association of Machinists, AFL-CIO, acted after Kennedy had set up a three-member panel to help negotiate a settlement of the dispute.

The machinists' union represents about 120,000 of the 150,000 aerospace industry workers who had been scheduled to strike major missile manufacturing plants and sites at noon Monday.

The other union involved, the United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO, represents the remainder of the workers.

Officials of the auto workers met in Los Angeles to consider Kennedy's plea that work and operations continue under present labor-management contracts for a period of 60 days.

Algerian Talks Still Fruitless

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Algeria's rival leaders continued their complex compromise negotiations throughout the day Saturday but reported no progress.

The rival camps of Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda in Algiers and dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella in Tlemcen negotiated indirectly through their supporters on the so-called Council of Wilayas—zones—of the Algerian guerrilla army.

The council has been in secret session since Tuesday, trying to work out a formula for patching up the bitter dispute between the two factions.

OVER TEA CUPS

Rusk, Gromyko Discuss Berlin

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko squared off over tea cups Saturday in a new round of sparring. Presumably the question they discussed was the big one—Berlin.

Gromyko invited Rusk for tea at the Soviet delegation's Villa Rose, and Rusk accepted, expecting Gromyko to talk about Berlin. Rusk was prepared to return the invitation in order to extend his probe into Soviet intentions regarding the divided city.

INCIDENTS

Recent minor Soviet harassing incidents in Berlin's air corridors, and Moscow's sharpened pronouncements have given some American diplomats the idea the Soviet Union is trying to bring the dispute over the divided city to a head.

A U.S. spokesman said the two "discussed subjects of mutual interest." He did not elaborate. Much of the 2½-hour meeting was taken up by the need for translation from English to Russian and vice versa.

Rusk was accompanied by Foy D. Kohler, who has been appointed to succeed Llewellyn E. Thompson as U.S. ambassador to Moscow.

The Rusk-Gromyko tea was only one of the swirl of exchanges in the international community gathered here for the 14-nation conference on Laos, and for the resumed disarmament negotiations.

Rusk was host at dinner Saturday night to British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. They discussed a wide variety of problems.

One subject that did not come up, an informed U.S. source said, was the Congo. But Rusk is expected to pursue with Home later the issue of how strong a position to take on sanctions against Katanga's President Moise Tshombe unless he agrees to end his secession from the Congo.

The four Western foreign ministers were reported to have agreed at the dinner that there was no significant change in the Soviet attitude on Berlin up to now.

Hole Blasted In Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP) — A dynamite blast early Sunday knocked out a big hole in the Communist wall dividing Berlin, West Berlin police reported.

The blast occurred in a section of the wall near Potsdamer Platz, once one of the busiest squares in the city but now deserted. The wall runs through the area and is heavily reinforced by barbed wire and tank obstacles.

Police said the section knocked out measured six feet by six feet.

It was the third time in recent weeks that a hole has been blasted in the wall.

HUNDREDS JAILED

Albany Police Halt Marching Negroes

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Several hundred Negroes began a march Saturday night on City Hall for a prayer meeting in the face of a federal court injunction against resumption of demonstrations. But police halted the march.

Nearly 100 Negroes then went in small groups to the downtown area where they fell on their knees in a line on the sidewalk and began praying.

The Rev. Samuel Wells prayed for nearly 10 minutes before the entire group was marched off to city jail.

Hardly had the first group been jailed when a second march of about 40 Negroes led by a gray-haired woman with a bandage on her leg left the church.

They were promptly escorted to jail between two lines of police.

An estimated 150 policemen and state troopers kept down any incidents as large crowds of Negroes gathered on two street corners to boo and yell at police officers.

The Negro section of this southwest Georgia city was teeming with Negroes after the prayer march.

Wells, an Albany minister, led the demonstrators from a packed church after shouting, "It's not tomorrow, not at high noon—now!"

"I heard about an injunction," Wells told the wildly cheering crowd. "I haven't seen one. I heard a few names but mine hasn't been called."

He referred to a federal court order enjoining several integration groups from staging mass demonstrations or otherwise promoting desegregation activities. Others named in the decree—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy and Dr. W. G. Anderson—made no appearance at the rally.

Earlier, King described the injunction as "a futile attempt to block that which is unblockable."

"We do not intend to take this lying down," he said after he voluntarily submitted to service of the injunction.

United States Blamed For Resumption

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Saturday night it will set off a new series of nuclear tests covering the latest Soviet atomic weapons. The Kremlin claimed the move was forced by the current U.S. tests in the Pacific.

The Soviet Union did not disclose the nature of the tests or the dates they will be conducted. Observers here expected them to begin at any time.

"The explosions of American nuclear bombs above Christmas and Johnston islands have produced their echo—they have made reply of Soviet nuclear tests inevitable," declared a government statement.

CLAIMS RIGHT

"The Soviet Union, which has invariably held its nuclear tests only in reply, has the right to be the last to hold nuclear tests in the world," the statement added.

Premier Khrushchev announced several times after the United States launched its latest nuclear series that the U.S.S.R. planned to test again. The major question was the timing.

In Hyannis Port, Mass., where President Kennedy was spending the weekend, a White House spokesman said there would be no immeditae comment.

In Washington, the State Department said the United States deplores the Soviet decision as "disturbing news." It called on the Soviet Union to continue negotia-

America Deplores Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States deplored as "disturbing news" Saturday night the formal announcement of the Soviet Union's decision to hold a new series of nuclear weapons tests.

In a statement, the United States called on the Soviet Union to continue negotiations at Geneva on a test ban treaty and expressed hope that the negotiations would be "seriously" conducted.

The statement was issued by the State Department a few hours after the official Soviet government announcement in Moscow.

The Soviet Union began another round of nuclear explosions last September when it broke a moratorium which had existed for almost three years.

After the United States resumed testing in the atmosphere, following the Soviet lead, Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders said several times that the U.S.S.R. would fire a new test series.

Saturday night's Moscow declaration, therefore, had been fully expected in advance and the chief interest attached to it here was the implication in the timing that the Soviet Union may now be ready to start the tests. The speculation is that the new series will be mainly concerned with research in development in the field of antimissile defenses.

The U.S. statement was obviously designed to counter the propaganda claim in the Moscow statement that the current rivalry in nuclear testing was brought on by the United States and that the Soviet Union has been trying to get a nuclear test ban but has been prevented by the United States from doing so.

Three On Bond In Pill Sales

Three northeast Louisiana persons arrested Thursday morning on charges of selling or possessing "pep pills" were out of jail on bond Saturday while a fourth suspect in one case was still being held. He had failed to post bond.

Still in the Lincoln Parish jail in Ruston was Billy M. Taylor of Choudrant, charged with illegal sale of the pills at a truck stop in Choudrant which he operates.

Out on bond are Jimmy Max Allen of Choudrant, charged with illegal possession of the pills; Lynch C. Hogan, Rayville, charged with possession of the pills and his wife, Mrs. Lois Hogan, charged with sale and possession of the pills.

The arrests came after agents of the state police, working with officers of the Lincoln and Richland Parish sheriffs' departments, purchased pills at the two truck stops.

Earlier reports from state police had erroneously named the Choudrant place as Barrett's Truck Stop. However, later it was learned that it was not Barrett's. Mrs. Frances Barrett operates a truck stop at Calhoun and had formerly operated the business in Choudrant. She has moved, now, and has no connection with the Choudrant establishment, which was raided.

Capt. John R. Thomas, head of the state police narcotics division, who had given out the earlier statement Saturday said that the state police "certainly do not want to give the impression that the Barrett's are involved or that Barrett's Truck Stop at Calhoun is involved."

The place where the pills were allegedly purchased by the officers is located on U.S. highway 80 at Choudrant.

Richland Parish Sheriff Earl Hill said Saturday that the Hogan couple's case will come up for hearing in Fifth District Court in Rayville in September.

Officials in the sheriff's office in Lincoln Parish said that arraignment in the Lincoln Parish case will probably be Sept. 13.

Voters In Winn Total 6900 For Saturday Race

WINNFIELD (Special) — Clerk of Court Robert Lee Dunn said 78 absentee votes had been cast Saturday for the July 28 Democratic primary election in Winn Parish by the noon deadline.

Winn Parish has 6900 voters eligible, Charlie Crain, Winn voter registrar said Saturday.

Crain said, "7421 voters were eligible to vote in the 1960 Congressional race. The 521 drop from then was brought about by certain difficulties encountered in carrying out the permanent registration program, and partly by considerable voter apathy."

Winn voters will select two school board members from four candidates in ward one, one member from two candidates in ward two and one member from two candidates in ward three.

Also on the ballot will be two senatorial candidates and three hopefuls for the Eighth Congressional district seat.

Ward one candidates are incumbent T. H. Harrell, Harold Swilley, Willard Harland and Mrs. Sayde Hahn.

In ward two, Roy Jones and A. J. McCartney will be competing for the job held by Julian McCartney (no relation), who did not enter the race.

Stanley J. Smith, incumbent and former board president, and Sikes merchant H. C. Thompson are running for the ward three post.

Officer Killed Man Wounded In Gunbattle

BARBOURVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A Barbourville police officer was killed and another man wounded Friday night in a brief but fierce gunbattle.

The officer, James Smith, 43, was hit in the stomach with a charge from a 12-gauge shotgun. Fellow officer Charles Mayes was not hurt.

Parker Hemphill, 54, was struck five times as Smith emptied his pistol and Mayes also fired. Hemphill was struck in the right leg, twice in the abdomen, once in the shoulder and once in the chest, hospital attendants said. He was reported in fair condition Saturday at a hospital in this southeastern Kentucky town.

Mayor Paul Buchanan said Smith and Mayes had answered a disturbance call at Hemphill's home. They talked with him and "thought they had the situation in hand," Buchanana said.

But as they were leaving, Hemphill produced a shotgun and threatened to kill Mayes and then turned on Smith, Buchanan said.

Hemphill was charged with murder, Buchanan said.

Smith was married and had two children, the mayor said.

Lake Providence Man Kills Self; Wife Is Wounded

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — A 31-year-old coffee shop operator wounded his wife and killed himself Friday night, authorities reported Saturday.

The dead man was identified as Richard Henry Hughes Jr., operator of "The Friendly Coffee Shop." The East Carroll Parish sheriff's department and Lake Providence city police investigated the incident.

The authorities said Hughes' wife, Peggy, was shot twice, once in the hip and once in the back. Hughes was shot once in the left chest.

The incident occurred in the living room at the Hughes home on Fifth Street here, about 9 p.m. Friday as the couple's 10-month old son, Richard Henry Hughes III, lay asleep in a bedroom, authorities said.

Dr. F. M. Terral acted as coroner in the case. Mrs. Hughes was listed in "fair" condition a East Carroll Parish Hospital.

Authorities said although wounded, the woman ran to a neighbor's house for help.

Funeral services for Hughes were scheduled 2 p.m. today at Gay's Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Paul Young, minister of the Church of God officiating.

Interment will be in Providence Cemetery. Military rites were planned.

Additional survivors include his mother, Mrs. Ernest (Edith) Rushing and a sister, Mrs. Grady Brock of Ferriday.

Troops Launch Surprise Attack On Laos Outpost

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A right-wing military communique said Saturday 300 Communist Pathet Lao troops made a surprise attack with heavy artillery Thursday against an outpost near the southern town of Attopeu. Western military sources, however, said the report was exaggerated.

The announcement came as a 14-nation conference at Geneva approved a treaty for independence and neutrality in Laos.

The comminque said, "We have abstained from reporting other attacks in order not to demoralize the population."

Pathet Lao officials in the coalition government were unavailable for comment. Coalition officials reported previously that the two forces had clashed several times since an end was ordered to hostilities.

Graduation At Tech Will Feature Fant

RUSTON (Special) — Commencement exercises will be held for 200 summer graduates of Louisiana Tech at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 2, in air - conditioned Howard Auditorium here.

The graduation address will be given by Clyde E. Fant, mayor of Shreveport, whose record of public service dates through almost two decades.

He was appointed commissioner of public utilities in 1944 and was elected mayor of Shreveport in 1946. He was re-elected mayor in 1950 but did not seek a third term in 1954. He was returned to office as mayor in 1958.

For three consecutive years, Mayor Fant was elected president of the Louisiana Municipal Assn. and was named "Mayor of the Year" in Louisiana in 1953. The following year he was made a life member of the board of directors of the association.

In 1954, he became the first person to receive the Shreveport Advertising Club's award given to the individual or institution bringing to Shreveport the most favorable publicity during the year. Mayor Fant served on the board of trustees of the United States Conference of Mayors for three years and at present is a member of the executive board of the conference. In 1948, Mayor Fant attended the World Conference of Mayors in The Hague.

East Texas Baptist College conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon Mayor Fant in 1960.

Try To Plant U.S. Flag On Everest Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attempt to plant the U.S. flag atop Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, is being planned for next year.

An 18-man team will carry out an extensive scientific research program in making the assault on the forbidding 29,028-foot peak, the National Geographic Society announced Saturday.

The expedition next spring will be led by Norman G. Dyhrenfurth, Monica, Calif., a participant in five other Himalayan and Alaskan explorations.

Plans for the effort to scale Everest were announced by Melville Bel Grosvenor, president of the society that will be a major backer of the expedition.

Seven major expeditions were defeated by the peak on the Nepal-Tibet border before the 1953 conquest by a British expedition led by Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norkey.

The American team is to make a two-week trial climb on Mt. Rainier in Washington this September to test equipment and instruments and get in condition for the Everest assault.

The expedition will leave for Nepal next January where it will pick up some 30 Sherpa guides and 300 porters for the 175-mile march from Katmandu to the base camp.

Dr. William E. Siri, a physiologist at the University of California at Berkeley, will be deputy leader of the expedition.

Congo Diplomat Flying To U.S.

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion left by air Saturday for Washington amid a quickening of diplomatic activity in Western capitals that could lead to a new concerted policy toward the Congo.

Gullion's visit comes in the wake of high-level discussions between American representatives and the governments of Britain, France and Belgium.

Gullion intends to press for a stronger stand—including all political and economic means short of outright force—for reintegration of wealthy Katanga Province with the Congo central government.

Three Die In Water Tragedy

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Three men drowned while swimming Friday night when, police theorized, one called for help and the others tried to rescue him. Their bodies were recovered early Saturday.

Fairfax County police identified the men as Albert William Davis, 19; Melvin Pearley Brown Jr., 20, and Walter Glen Smith, 22, all of Fairfax County. All were married and had children, police said.

The drownings occurred in Occoquan Run, near where it enters a water supply reservoir. Police said the water is quite deep at that point.

James A. Gaumer, 23, a fourth member of the party, said the men had been drinking beer and decided to go swimming. He told police the other men went into the water while he remained in the car to finish a container of beer and change into swimming trunks.

Gaumer summoned aid when he could not locate the others a short time later.

Plans for the effort to scale Everest were announced by Melville Bel Grosvenor, president of the society that will be a major backer of the expedition.

Seven major expeditions were defeated by the peak on the Nepal-Tibet border before the 1953 conquest by a British expedition led by Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norkey.

The American team is to make a two-week trial climb on Mt. Rainier in Washington this September to test equipment and instruments and get in condition for the Everest assault.

The expedition will leave for Nepal next January where it will pick up some 30 Sherpa guides and 300 porters for the 175-mile march from Katmandu to the base camp.

Dr. William E. Siri, a physiologist at the University of California at Berkeley, will be deputy leader of the expedition.

Congo Diplomat Flying To U.S.

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP) —U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion left by air Saturday for Washington amid a quickening of diplomatic activity in Western capitals that could lead to a new concerted policy toward the Congo.

Gullion's visit comes in the wake of high-level discussions between American representatives and the governments of Britain, France and Belgium.

Gullion intends to press for a stronger stand—including all political and economic means short of outright force—for reintegration of wealthy Katanga Province with the Congo central government.

Graduation At Tech Will Feature Fant

RUSTON (Special) — Commencement exercises will be held for 200 summer graduates of Louisiana Tech at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 2, in air - conditioned Howard Auditorium here.

The graduation address will be given by Clyde E. Fant, mayor of Shreveport, whose record of public service dates through almost two decades.

He was appointed commissioner of public utilities in 1944 and was elected mayor of Shreveport in 1946. He was re-elected mayor in 1950 but did not seek a third term in 1954. He was returned to office as mayor in 1958.

For three consecutive years, Mayor Fant was elected president of the Louisiana Municipal Assn. and was named "Mayor of the Year" in Louisiana in 1953. The following year he was made a life member of the board of directors of the association.

In 1954, he became the first person to receive the Shreveport Advertising Club's award given to the individual or institution bringing to Shreveport the most favorable publicity during the year. Mayor Fant served on the board of trustees of the United States Conference of Mayors for three years and at present is a member of the executive board of the conference. In 1948, Mayor Fant attended the World Conference of Mayors in The Hague.

East Texas Baptist College conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon Mayor Fant in 1960.

Three Die In Water Tragedy

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Three men drowned while swimming Friday night when, police theorized, one called for help and the others tried to rescue him. Their bodies were recovered early Saturday.

Fairfax County police identified the men as Albert William Davis, 19; Melvin Pearley Brown Jr., 20, and Walter Glen Smith, 22, all of Fairfax County. All were married and had children, police said.

The drownings occurred in Occoquan Run, near where it enters a water supply reservoir. Police said the water is quite deep at that point.

James A. Gaumer, 23, a fourth member of the party, said the men had been drinking beer and decided to go swimming. He told police the other men went into the water while he remained in the car to finish a container of beer and change into swimming trunks.

Gaumer summoned aid when he could not locate the others a short time later.

Stocks Weather Fair-Sized Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market last week weathered some profit-taking on a previous three-week advance and then began cutting its losses in the final trading sessions.

The decline on the week was fairly substantial but amounted to little compared with the considerable ground regained in the three previous weeks from the big sell-off of this spring.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 13.01 at 577.18.

Trading was conducted against a backdrop of doubtful economic news and continued talk about the possibility of a tax cut to spur the economy.

As the week ended, the nation's gross national product was reported $7 billion higher than the $545 billion annual rate for the first quarter, but this fell well below the administration's hopes. The behavior of this key figure, according to Washington observers, could have an important bearing on whether President Kennedy asks for a tax cut this year to spur the economy.

Prospects for a tax cut were the chief subject of conversation among Wall Streeters who hope for higher stock prices.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week dropped 4.40 to 215.40.

Volume for the week dwindled to 15,962,490 shares from 23,073,400 the week before and was the smallest for any full trading week since the week ended April 14, when 15,924,308 million shares changed hands.

Credited for reversing the downtrend late in the week were technical factors, chiefly the rising "short interest." This is the total of shares borrowed to effect "short sales" in which the seller hopes to repay the loans with stock bought in the future at lower prices, thus profiting.

After the Wednesday decline, the New York Stock Exchange announced that the short interest had risen to 5,158,849 shares, the highest total since Sept. 15, 1958, when the figure was 5,646,414 shares.

This meant that, sooner or later, the short sellers must buy, or procure somehow, more than five million shares to "cover" their contracts—in effect, placing a buying cushion under the market.

The week was also featured by a late rally of the major steels, in hope that Bethlehem and U.S. Steel would declare their regular dividends and by losses of the savings-and-loan holding companies, adversely affected by the latest news from Washington on the tax bill.

Record sales and earnings for General Motors were a plus factor.

12 Vietnamese Sent To Jail

TOKYO (AP)—A North Vietnamese military court Saturday sentenced 12 South Vietnamese agents to prison for terms ranging from two years to life, Radio Hanoi reported. The radio said the Vietnamese included two frogmen.

The broadcast said the South Vietnamese were "caught in an armed motorboat attempting to commit sabotage against boats of the Viet Nam people's army in an area 70 miles north of the Viet Nam demarcation line."

State Election Set Saturday

Hammond. Unopposed for renomination are Reps. Edwin Willis of St. Martinville, Joe D. Waggonner Jr. of Plain Dealing and Otto Passman of Monroe.

Also on the ballot are three contests for the State Board of Education, one for the Public Service Commission and various judicial races including a rare challenge to Chief Justice John Fournet of the Louisiana Supreme Court.

Polls throughout the state will be open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday. Where candidates fail to poll an absolute majority, runoffs will be scheduled for Sept. 1. The Democratic nomination is tantamount to election in Louisiana.

The Boggs race is rated a key Southern test for the Kennedy administration. Boggs has been a firm administration backer in the House. His opponents, of whom Schwegmann is the best known, have all been strongly critical of Kennedy.

Boggs' election campaign has been bolstered by backing from practically every elected official in the district. Schewgmann has run pretty much of a "lone wolf" campaign, while McClendon has a small group of dedicated backers in the Conservative Political Organization, which is backing his and St. Amant's candidacies. The nominee will face Republican David Treen, former States Rights Party state chairman, in the Nov. 6 general election.

Mrs. Oleta Britton Eaker

[illegible]

In the 7th District, all three of Thompson's opponents are from Lake Charles, the district's largest city, located in Calcasieu Parish, which casts about 30 per cent of the district's votes.

They are Hugh Shearman, publisher of The Lake Charles American Press, Allen Commander, a former government official and protege of Passman, and Larry Stephenson, parish civil defense director.

In surviving a three-man contest two years ago, Thompson carried six of the district's eight parishes, losing only Calcasieu and the home parish of his runoff opponent.

BIG ISSUE

McSween held onto his 8th District seat two years ago only because former Gov. Earl K. Long died 10 days after he defeated McSween in a bitterly contested runoff. The district Democratic committee then named McSween as the nominee.

This has become a major issue in the present campaign for Gillis Long, an attorney making his first bid for elective office. McSween has bore heavily on his role in getting the suspension of a committee that supervised the government's feed grains program in Avoyelles Parish.

A third candidate in the race is W. H. Lamblin, a city commissioner in Alexandria.

Morrison's opponent is Herbert Price of Baton Rouge, an outspoken segregationist.

Hebert is opposed by a political unknown, Jacob Fink of New Orleans. Another unknown, Pascal Calogero, filed for the race but then withdrew.

Russell Long is bidding for his third six-year term in the Senate, in which he has served since he won a close special election from Robert Kennon in 1948. He has never been seriously challenged since.

Although several of the state's segregation leaders have been highly critical of Sen. Long, none decided to challenge him in the primary.

If successful Saturday, Long will face Taylor W. O'Hearn of Shreveport, a Republican making his first try for office in this heavily Democratic state, in the November election.

The three board of education contests are in the 2nd and 5th congressional districts, and in the 2nd Public Service Commission district. No incumbents are standing for re-election.

In the 2nd Congressional District, three candidates are running for the seat being vacated by Mrs. Eleanore Meade. They are Daniel Ellis, J. Marshall Brown and Joseph J. LoGreco.

In the 5th district, four candidates are seeking the seat of George Madison. They are O. N. (Nick) Hamilton, John E. Mulhearn, W. E. Whetstone and Bobby Wilson.

The winner of the Democratic nomination faces Monroe Republican George Snellings in the general election.

Only two candidates are seeking the 2nd Public Service Commission District seat being given up by Isom Guillory of Eunice. They are Robert L. Browne of Lafayette and State Sen. Jack Fruge of Ville Platte.

Public Service Commissioner Ernest Clements has five opponents in the 2nd District. They are state Sen. Lee C. Firmin of Franklin, state Rep. Francis Bickford of Tangipahoa Parish, Andrew J. Falcon, J. Bentley Alexander, Ted Nelson and Dudley LeBlanc, the former patent medicine figure who has run for various offices in the past.

Judicial contests are headed by Chief Justice Fournet's race in the third district. His opponents are James Nelson Lee and Vance Thompson.

A. J. Jones and Dist. Judge Horace Reid are contending for a seat in the third district of the first circuit court of appeals. Judge Reid has been sitting on the court since the death of Judge Robert D. Jones of Bogalusa.

tions at Geneva on a test ban and expressed hope that the negotiations would be conducted seriously.

The Kremlin's announcement distributed by the Soviet news agency Tass said every effort would be made to keep radioactive fallout to a minimum.

In its last series of tests from September to November last year the Soviet Union is believed to have set off at least 31 nuclear blasts with a total force of 130 megatons or the equivalent of 130 million tons of TNT. The tests included one 55-60 megaton "terror" bomb.

It has been estimated that in all of its tests the Soviet Union has touched off atmosphere explosions totaling 170 megatons.

The United States has conducted 27 tests so far in its current series, including explosion of a missile-borne hydrogen device more than 200 miles above the Pacific on July 8. It was the highest thermonuclear blast ever achieved in altitude.

Up to the time of the latest U.S. series in the Pacific and on the U.S. continent, the United States and its allies have fired off a combined total of 125 megatons into the atmosphere.

The Soviet statement said its scientists had achieved considerable results in keeping down radioactive fallout in nuclear tests.

The Soviet Union sought to put full responsibility for their resumption of tests on the United States.

The U.S. government, the Soviet statement said, knew that if American nuclear bombs would begin to explode the Soviet Union would be faced with the need to hold tests of its own nuclear weapon.

Richland Parish Sheriff Earl Hill at Rayville said the rain in his area was a "nice one." Sheriff Hill said the rain extended south of Rayville to Archibald and possibly Mangham, and was puddling between the cotton rows.

Earlier in the day Rayville had high temperatures, but thunder, lightning and rain hit around noon. Rain was reported also in Delhi.

Further east in Tallulah only a drizzle was reported, with a high temperature of 97 preceding it. Dark clouds overcast the clear skies of early morning by noontime.

Rain hit Winnsboro and as far as 10-15 miles south, welcomed by cotton and soybean farmers who were not satisfied by light rains earlier in the week. But the rain was recorded only in spots, and some areas, including pastures now drying up slightly, are still suffering. Temperatures were 95-100 in Franklin Parish.

In Farmerville it was scorching, according to Mrs. Olivia Barr, until noon when a light rain fell. The rain, however, was local and none fell only a few miles from town.

Morehouse and West Carroll got scattered showers. In Bastrop a near - noon deluge struck so fast water stood in the streets, but residential areas at the edge of town were left completely dry. It was cool all day in Bastrop, however.

The rain delighted farmers around Bastrop and Oak Grove who reportedly have been "holding their breaths" in worry about cotton crops which are on the borderline now.

The cold front should weaken soon in the mid - South, and leave the week - end good for outdoor activities and heavy to moderate dew producing good spraying conditions early today and Monday.

COURT RULES

Tulane Integration Suit Cleared For Aug. 4 Trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Saturday cleared the way for an Aug. 4 trial of a suit two Negro co-eds have brought to force Tulane University to admit them.

In its ruling, the appeals court rejected the Negroes' appeal asking the tribunal to restore a summary judgment ordering their immediate admission.

But at the same time, the appellate judges ordered "an expeditious trial on the merits" of the full case.

U.S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright had issued the original summary order compelling Tulane to admit the Negroes.

But Wright left the post to fill an opening on the appellate court for the District of Columbia.

And his successor, Judge Frank Ellis, revoked the summary admission order and called for a full trial of the case on its merits.

"We hold that the record support the trial judge's (Ellis') decision that . . . the case was not one for summary judgment," the appeals court said.

The trial is on the docket for Aug. 4 in Ellis' district court.

In a 3-page ruling, the appeals court called for an "early trial" and instructed Ellis not to let the claims of heirs of university donors delay the case.

State Election Set Saturday

Hammond. Unopposed for renomination are Reps. Edwin Willis of St. Martinville, Joe D. Waggonner Jr. of Plain Dealing and Otto Passman of Monroe.

Also on the ballot are three contests for the State Board of Education, one for the Public Service Commission and various judicial races including a rare challenge to Chief Justice John Fournet of the Louisiana Supreme Court.

Polls throughout the state will be open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday. Where candidates fail to poll an absolute majority, runoffs will be scheduled for Sept. 1. The Democratic nomination is tantamount to election in Louisiana.

The Boggs race is rated a key Southern test for the Kennedy administration. Boggs has been a firm administration backer in the House. His opponents, of whom Schwegmann is the best known, have all been strongly critical of Kennedy.

Boggs' election campaign has been bolstered by backing from practically every elected official in the district. Schewgmann has run pretty much of a "lone wolf" campaign, while McClendon has a small group of dedicated backers in the Conservative Political Organization, which is backing his and St. Amant's candidacies. The nominee will face Republican David Treen, former States Rights Party state chairman, in the Nov. 6 general election.

In the 7th District, all three of Thompson's opponents are from Lake Charles, the district's largest city, located in Calcasieu Parish, which casts about 30 per cent of the district's votes.

They are Hugh Shearman, publisher of The Lake Charles American Press; Allen Commander, a former government official and protege of Passman; and Larry Stephenson, parish civil defense director.

In surviving a three-man contest two years ago, Thompson carried six of the district's eight parishes, losing only Calcasieu and the home parish of his runoff opponent.

BIG ISSUE

McSween held onto his 8th District seat two years ago, only because former Gov. Earl K. Long died 10 days after he defeated McSween in a bitterly contested runoff. The district Democratic committee then named McSween as the nominee.

This has become a major issue in the present campaign for Gillis Long, an attorney making his first bid for elective office. McSween has bore heavily on his role in getting the suspension of a committee that supervised the government's feed grains program in Avoyelles Parish.

A third candidate in the race is W. H. Lambdin, a city commissioner in Alexandria.

Morrison's opponent is Herbert Price of Baton Rouge, an outspoken segregationist.

Hebert is opposed by a political unknown, Jacob Fink of New Orleans. Another unknown, Pascal Calogero, filed for the race but then withdrew.

Russell Long is bidding for his third six - year term in the Senate, in which he has served since he won a close special election from Robert Kennon in 1948. He has never been seriously challenged since.

Although several of the state's segregation leaders have been highly critical of Sen. Long, none decided to challenge him in the primary.

If successful Saturday, Long will face Taylor W. O'Hearn of Shreveport, a Republican making his first try for office in this heavily Democratic state, in the November election.

The three board of education contests are in the 2nd and 5th congressional districts, and in the 2nd Public Service Commission district. No incumbents are standing for re-election.

In the 2nd Congressional District, three candidates are running for the seat being vacated by Mrs. Eleanore Meade. They are Daniel Ellis, J. Marshall Brown and Joseph J. LoGreco.

In the 5th district, four candidates are seeking the seat of George Madison. They are O.N. (Nick) Hamilton, John E. Mulhearn, W. E. Whetstone and Bobby Wilson.

The winner of the Democratic nomination faces Monroe Republican George Snellings in the general election.

Only two candidates are seeking the 2nd Public Service Commission District seat being given up by Isom Guillory of Eunice. They are Robert L. Browne of Lafayette and State Sen. Jack Fruge of Ville Platte.

Public Service Commissioner Ernest Clements has five opponents in the 2nd District. They are state Sen. Lee C. Firmin of Franklin, state Rep. Francis Bickford of Tangipahoa Parish, Andrew J. Falcon, J. Bentley Alexander, Ted Nelson and Dudley LeBlanc, the former patent medicine figure who has run for various offices in the past.

Judicial contests are headed by Chief Justice Fournet's race in the third district. His opponents are James Nelson Lee and Vance Thompson.

A. J. Jones and Dist. Judge Horace Reid are contending for a seat in the third district of the first circuit court of appeals. Judge Reid has been sitting on the court since the death of Judge Robert D. Jones of Bogalusa.

ISRAEL

U.A.R. Can Reach Arch-Enemy With Rockets

CAIRO (AP)—The armed forces test fired four rockets in a blaze of orange flame Saturday and President Gamal Abdel Nasser said, in effect, that they could hit any target in Israel.

The United Arab Republic president, who watched from a half-buried bunker 100 yards from the launching paid, said the rockets carried no nuclear warheads. But he remarked that they could land just south of Beirut—which would be Israel. He said the rockets were made entirely in the U.A.R. and they are in full production.

Two of the rockets, named El Zahir (Victorious), were said to have a range of 222 miles—which would cover Tel Aviv and Israel's Negev Desert. The other two, named Naked el Kaher (Conqueror), were claimed to have a range of about 360 miles, which would cover all Israel, Damascus, and most of King Hussein's Jordan as well as most of the eastern Mediterranean.

The Middle East News Agency said the first Kaher landed on target, 375 miles away. Unless fired in a southerly direction this would have taken it outside Egyptian territory.

But newsmen saw one rocket streak in a northeasterly direction—toward Israel—and the other in an easterly direction toward the Negev where Israel is building an atomic reactor.

The test firings were from a secret base 48 miles north of Cairo and took place just two days before the United Arab Republic celebrates the 10th anniversary of the Nasser revolution which overthrew King Farouk.

On Monday Soviet-equipped units of the 100,000-man U.A.R. army will parade in Cairo and officials will open a score of new factories, some built with Soviet assistance.

But Nasser said Egypt's rockets were built entirely by his own technicians. An informed source said, however, there had been technical advice from several countries.

The United States announced more than a year ago that it was giving the U.A.R. four weather rockets, but their launching never was reported.

Just over a year ago, on July 5, 1961, Israel announced the firing of a multistage rocket, which soared 50 miles into space for the purpose of collecting weather data. Its name Shavit (Meteor). It suggested it was the second of a series. Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, who watched that firing, said it was not a guided missile.

ISRAEL

U.A.R. Can Reach Arch-Enemy With Rockets

CAIRO (AP)—The armed forces test fired four rockets in a blaze of orange flame Saturday and President Gamal Abdel Nasser said, in effect, that they could hit any target in Israel.

The United Arab Republic president, who watched from a half-buried bunker 100 yards from the launching paid, said the rockets carried no nuclear warheads. But he remarked that they could land just south of Beirut—which would be Israel. He said the rockets were made entirely in the U.A.R. and they are in full production.

Two of the rockets, named El Zahir (Victorious), were said to have a range of 222 miles—which would cover Tel Aviv and Israel's Negev Desert. The other two, named Naked el Kaher (Conqueror), were claimed to have a range of about 360 miles, which would cover all Israel, Damascus, and most of King Hussein's Jordan as well as most of the eastern Mediterranean.

The Middle East News Agency said the first Kaher landed on target, 375 miles away. Unless fired in a southerly direction this would have taken it outside Egyptian territory.

But newsmen saw one rocket streak in a northeasterly direction—toward Israel—and the other in an easterly direction toward the Negev where Israel is building an atomic reactor.

The test firings were from a secret base 48 miles north of Cairo and took place just two days before the United Arab Republic celebrates the 10th anniversary of the Nasser revolution which overthrew King Farouk.

On Monday Soviet-equipped units of the 100,000-man U.A.R. army will parade in Cairo and officials will open a score of new factories, some built with Soviet assistance.

But Nasser said Egypt's rockets were built entirely by his own technicians. An informed source said, however, there had been technical advice from several countries.

The United States announced more than a year ago that it was giving the U.A.R. four weather rockets, but their launching never was reported.

Just over a year ago, on July 5, 1961, Israel announced the firing of a multistage rocket, which soared 50 miles into space for the purpose of collecting weather data. Its name Shavit (Meteor) II suggested it was the second of a series. Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, who watched that firing, said it was not a guided missile.

Liberals Urged To Support Quick Reduction In Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Hubert H Humphrey, D-Minn., urged the country's liberals Saturday to get behind a quickie tax cut that might run as high as $7 billion

Humphrey, the assistant Senate majority leader, said in an interview a poll he has conducted with the approval of President Kennedy shows a Senate majority favors reducing levies now

But he added he does not expect Kennedy to decide before August 10 whether to ask for action on the matter in this session of Congress

Humphrey, who has been arguing at White House meetings for an immediate tax reduction to stimulate the economy, said those who regard themselves as liberals ought to throw their political weight behind a drive for action now

"It's about time for those who are liberal to act that way," he said "We shouldn't stand by and let the U.S. Chamber of Commerce be the only group advocating immediate action" Humphrey added that, to spur the economy, and reduction should run between $5 billion and $7 billion

Sen. Harrison A Williams, D-N.J., who tabs himself a liberal, said in a tape television program that because he advocates additional government spending he has been reluctant to plug for tax cuts at the same time

"I didn't want to appear to be inconsistent," he said, "but I will say that if the economy really needs immediate and significant stimulation an across-the-board tax cut is one of the surest tools that the national government has"

Sen John Sparkman, D-Ala., said on another taped program he is hesistant about hurrying tax action because he does not "share the feeling of a lot of people that we are almost bound to have a recession"

"As a matter of fact," he said, "most of the economic indicators are pretty well up. One very good sign is in the field of construction. Home construction is running at almost an all-time high level. It looks now as if we will have almost as many houses built this year as we built in 1955, which was the banner year"

Humphrey said he intends to present to the Senate this week a survey covering economic ups and downs in the last decade.

He said his answer to those who contend a tax reduction would mean a sharp revenue loss and a huge boost in the deficit lies within that period. He noted that Congress cut taxes in 1954, when there was a sizable deficit in prospect

"This action was followed by the greatest investment period in American history and by the only balanced budgets the Eisenhower administration was able to achieve," he said

Two More Men Nailed For Theft

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal agents picked up two more men but still hunted a mysterious "Mr X" Saturday in a $1.3 million blue chip stock theft that started as a joke

"Mr X" was described as a 30-year-old salesman whose part in the crime was to dispose of the securities stolen from Bache & Co., a Wall Street brokerage house

Dist Atty Frank S Hogan's office said the man may have about $1 million in the securities with him

Hogan said the theft had its origin in a bar-room conversation last spring between Gordon A Tallman, 30, a $120-a-week clerk in the Bache office, and his pal, Robert J Dodge, 24, of the Bronx, a truck driver, who both are under arrest

What would they do, they pondered laughingly, if they had all the money in the stocks that Tallman handled each day, Hogan reported Then the talk turned, Hogan said, from make believe to serious consideration of the possibilities

The bundle of stock disappeared from the Bache offices in June Authorities said Tallman had secreted the certificates inside his shirt They described him as the "inside man" in the case

Picked up Saturday were William B Gladstone, 45, Manhasset, N.Y., and Milton Parness, 44, Scotch Plains N.Y.

Gladstone was arrested in upstate Brant Lake, N.Y., where he was living with his wife and son at a summer cottage Parness was arrested in Newark, N.J. Both were charged with conspiring to transport stolen property across state lines

Gladstone and Parness represented the ninth and tenth arrests in the case by FBI agents and state officials

Tallman and Dodge were arraigned before Magistrate Walter H Gladwin in Felony Court and held for a hearing on Monday

Tallman charged with grand larceny, was held without bail, and Dodge, charged with criminally receiving stolen property, was held in $10,000 bail

The district attorney's office said it had learned that Tallman was convicted of robbery in Norfolk, Va., in 1953 and sentenced to eight years in prison, of which he served two years and eight months

Polaris Fired After Similar Russian Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States fired a pair of Polaris missiles from a submerged nuclear submarine Saturday within hours after Russia claimed it had conducted similar underwater tests.

The American sub, the U. S. S. John Marshall, launched the bottle-shaped Polarises from firing tubes in its deck at 4:50 p.m. EDT and 6:20 p.m. EDT

The missiles were aimed at targets more than 1,500 miles away. The shots were the third and fourth for the John Marshall, the ninth member of America's growing family of ballistic missile-firing nuclear subs

Indications were the first shot was a success However the second appeared to perform an abnormal "corkscrew" in the sky within a minute after it was launched.

Earlier, the Soviet news agency Tass said Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had witnessed atomic-powered submarines firing Polaris-type missiles from underwater in a series of tests in the polar regions.

This marked the first claim by the Soviets that they had missiles they could fire from beneath the water, although there previously have been claims Russia had atom submarines equipped with rockets.

The U.S. tests today were unannounced. The sleek, black John Marshall slipped out to sea before dawn and steamed into a launching area more than 50 miles east of Cape Canaveral.

Boy Gets Stuck In Trash Can

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Baranowski, 6, sat on the steps of a schoolhouse Friday night watching a pickup basketball game.

The ball went out of bounds and knocked John into a trash can.

There he stuck Even the joint efforts of the other boys couldn't free him

A call for help went out to firemen, who poured motor oil into the can and eased the boy out.

Hogan said the theft had its origin in a bar-room conversation last spring between Gordon A. Tallman, 30, a $120-a-week clerk in the Bache office, and his pal, Robert J. Dodge, 24, of the Bronx, a truck driver, who both are under arrest.

What would they do, they pondered laughlingly, if they had all the money in the stocks that Tallman handled each day, Hogan reported. Then the talk turned, Hogan said, from make believe to serious consideration of the possibilities.

The bundle of stock disappeared from the Bache offices in June. Authorities said Tallman had secreted the certificates inside his shirt. They described him as the "inside man" in the case.

Picked up Saturday were William B. Gladstone, 45, Manhasset, N.Y., and Milton Parness, 44, Scotch Plains, N.Y.

Gladstone was arrested in upstate Brant Lake, N.Y., where he was living with his wife and son at a summer cottage. Parness was arrested in Newark, N.J. Both were charged with conspiring to transport stolen property across state lines.

Gladstone and Parness represented the ninth and tenth arrests in the case by FBI agents and state officials.

Tallman and Dodge were arraigned before Magistrate Walter H. Gladwin in Felony Court and held for a hearing on Monday.

Tallman, charged with grand larceny, was held without bail, and Dodge, charged with criminally receiving stolen property, was held in $10,000 bail.

The district attorney's office said it had learned that Tallman was convicted of robbery in Norfolk, Va., in 1953 and sentenced to eight years in prison, of which he served two years and eight months.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Nine South Korean army officers returned Saturday after observing the military situation in South Viet Nam for two months.

Polaris Fired After Similar Russian Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States fired a pair of Polaris missiles from a submerged nuclear submarine Saturday within hours after Russia claimed it had conducted similar underwater tests.

The American sub, the U. S. S. John Marshall, launched the bottle-shaped Polarises from firing tubes in its deck at 4:50 p.m. EDT and 6:20 p.m. EDT.

The missiles were aimed at targets more than 1,500 miles away. The shots were the third and fourth for the John Marshall, the ninth member of America's growing family of ballistic missile-firing nuclear subs.

Indications were the first shot was a success. However the second appeared to perform an abnormal "corkscrew" in the sky within a minute after it was launched.

Earlier, the Soviet news agency Tass said Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had witnessed atomic-powered submarines firing Polaris-type missiles from underwater in a series of tests in the polar regions.

This marked the first claim by the Soviets that they had missiles they could fire from beneath the water, although there previously have been claims Russia had atom submarines equipped with rockets.

The U.S. tests today were unannounced. The sleek, black John Marshall slipped out to sea before dawn and steamed into a launching area more than 50 miles east of Cape Canaveral.

Boy Gets Stuck In Trash Can

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Baranowski, 6, sat on the steps of a schoolhouse Friday night watching a pickup basketball game.

The ball went out of bounds and knocked John into a trash can.

There he stuck. Even the joint efforts of the other boys couldn't free him.

A call for help went out to firemen, who poured motor oil into the can and eased the boy out.

German Reds Accuse West Of Sabotage

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germany accused the West Saturday of sabotaging Berlin's Communist-run elevated railway. It warned the Communists could retaliate by interfering with West Berlin's vital rail traffic with the West.

The Communist charge came after an explosion at an el station in the U.S. sector of Berlin broke 10 windows of a train and damaged three cars.

The East German Traffic Ministry, in an announcement carried by the Communist news agency ADN, blamed Friday night's explosion on a "West Berlin terrorist underground organization."

The West Berlin city government condemned the blast and offered a $500 reward for the arrest of the unidentified persons who threw two explosive - filled bottles on the tracks at the Botanical Gardens station.

No one was injured in the explosion. But traffic was halted on the el from 11 p.m. until 4 a.m. Saturday and the eastern traffic ministry said the stretch of long-distance rail line passing through the city en route to West Germany also was closed down in the interests of safety.

The Communist traffic ministry announcement stressed that Western Allied military trains pass over the long-distance line. But Western Allied spokesmen said no military trains were traveling in the stretch at the time it was closed off.

The East German ministray said that since the el and the line to West Germany form a single unit in this city, the sabotage posed a danger to the through traffic running across the Soviet zone between West Germany and West Berlin.

Berlin's elevated is run by the Communists in both West and East sectors of the city under a four - power postwar agreement. The Communists repeatedly have charged the el is being sabotaged in West Berlin.

West Berliners have been staging a boycott of the el line since the Communists put up their Berlin anti-refugee wall last Aug. 13. The boycott is said to have cost the el's Communist management about $3.2 million so far this year.

Indians Blast Chinese-Held Border Post

TOKYO (UPI) — Radio Peiping said Sunday that Indian troops attacked a Communist Chinese-held border post in the disputed Chinese-Indian border area.

A Chinese - language broadcast monitored in Tokyo said:

"Indian troops suddenly began attacking the Chinese border post of Hsinchiang in Tibert at 6:35 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EST) Saturday afternoon.

"The Indian troops ignored a warning from our troops not to attack, and at 7 p.m. they began firing at our guard post. Our troops had no other choice but to take self-defense measures.

"According to latest reports from the post, our troops were still under Indian attack."

The official Communist New China news agency, in a similar report, said the post was located in the "Chip Chap Valley" in Sinkiang Province.

The Chip Chap River Valley is in the Ladakh region of northeast India which has been the scene of dispute between India and Red China in recent weeks. India has claimed that Communist Chinese troops had moved into its area.

The Communist broadcast said the alleged Indian attack "created a new and dangerous situation in the area."

Indians Blast Chinese-Held Border Post

TOKYO (UPI) — Radio Peiping said Sunday that Indian troops attacked a Communist Chinese-held border post in the disputed Chinese-Indian border area.

A Chinese - language broadcast monitored in Tokyo said:

"Indian troops suddenly began attacking the Chinese border post of Hsinchiang in Tibert at 6:35 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EST) Saturday afternoon.

"The Indian troops ignored a warning from our troops not to attack, and at 7 p.m. they began firing at our guard post. Our troops had no other choice but to take self-defense measures.

"According to latest reports from the post, our troops were still under Indian attack."

The official Communist New China news agency, in a similar report, said the post was located in the "Chip Chap Valley" in Sinkiang Province.

The Chip Chap River Valley is in the Ladakh region of northeast India which has been the scene of dispute between India and Red China in recent weeks. India has claimed that Communist Chinese troops had moved into its area.

The Communist broadcast said the alleged Indian attack "created a new and dangerous situation in the area."

Passengers Miss Serious Injury In Bus Accident

Five persons sustained minor injuries when a Continental Trailways bus skidded on wet pavement and overturned Saturday on U.S. Highway 80 at the Crew Lake bridge near Rayville.

Driver of the bus, Durward Robinson, 26, of 402 West Huron St., Jackson, Miss., told investigating state troopers that his right brakes grabbed on the big bus as he attempted to stop. The bus turned on its side in the ditch, but no one was seriously injured.

Injuries ranged from a sprained ankle, probably the most serious, to abrasions and contusions. Those passengers carried to St. Francis hospital for emergency treatment included Patricia Faircloth, 19, of Lake Providence, sprained ankle; Rosie Lee Walls, 42, Cowpens, S.C., sprained little finger; Scott Clewis, 59, Fort Worth, Tex., contusion of the hip; Dorothy Hargrove, 55, 508½ S. 4th St., Monroe, abrasions of the left leg; and Negro, Hannie Griffin, 61, Glen Allen, Miss., abrasions.

The bus, running double out of Jackson, Miss., for the 1:55 p.m. schedule out of Jackson, was headed west on Highway 80 when the accident occurred. Robinson said he was stopping for a car in front of him that was making a left turn into a driveway.

When he applied the brakes, the right side grabbed, pulling the unit off onto the shoulder and causing it to turn onto its right side. He was behind a vehicle driven by Rosemary B. Davis, 37, of Jennings.

The accident occurred around 2 p.m., approximately 11 miles east of Monroe inside Richland Parish. The rest of the approximately 15 passengers were uninjured.

Former Monroe Resident Dies; Rites Tuesday

Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Mrs. Eloise Davis, 52 former Monroe resident who died unexpectedly in her home Thursday in Oglesby, Ill.

The remains will arrive in Monroe this morning and services will be conducted in the chapel of Hixson Brothers Funeral Home at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Burial will be in Welcome Home Cemetery at Grayson at 4 p.m. Tuesday under the direction of Hixson Brothers.

Survivors include her husband, Raymond A. Davis, Oglesby; four brothers, Jesse Wainwright, Claudis, Beverly and Delbert Wainwright, all of Monroe; two sisters, Mrs. Elnor Louis, Monroe, and Mrs. Bessie Ruth Lee, Bossier City, and her mother, Mrs. Stella Wainwright, Monroe.

Several Thefts Are Cleared By Arrest Of Four

A number of minor thefts were cleared Saturday by Monroe police with the apprehension of four juvenile boys.

Chief James C. Kelly said three of the four were taken into custody Saturday morning by a juvenile officer as they were pilfering cars on St. John Street.

They implicated the fourth youth. All four boys ranged in age from 11 to 13 years. They have admitted taking a 23 jewel, white gold man's wristwatch from a locker at Swayze Natatorium in Forsythe Park on July 11.

Police recovered the watch. The four also told officers that during the last two months, they have pilfered automobiles parked on the riverbank at the new traffic bridge, at Howard Griffin's boat dock and other lockers at the swimming pools.

Items that the group allegedly has taken include money, cigarette lighters, knives, watches and a first aid kit from a boat belonging to the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department.

Police also recovered a stolen bicycle with the apprehension of a 12-year-old Negro juvenile Saturday. The bike was taken from the recreation center on Renwick Street, and police said the young boy was riding the stolen vehicle when taken into custody.

HENRY H. MARSHALL

Puzzling Story Unfolds Of Estes Mystery Man

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The puzzling story of the late Henry H. Marshall, mystery man in Billie Sol Estes' cotton deals, unfolded last week in colorful, often ungrammatical language.

The color came not only from witnesses, but also from members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D—Ark.—possibly best known for his clashes with Teamsters President James R. Hoffa.

The other senators blended probing questions, partisan politics and touches of humor along with their share of folksy expressions.

A stream of farmers and farm aid officials painted a mixed picture of Marshall, key Texas farm-aid official when Estes was swinging his cotton allotment transfers.

Generally, they portrayed Marshall as a conscientious Agriculture Department official trying to keep the 37-year-old Pecos, Tex., financier from getting away with his get-rich-quick scheme.

But there were some conflicts, and more are expected this week from officials in Pecos and Reeves counties — which received the more than 3,000 acres of cotton allotments Estes snared from Texas and Oklahoma farmers forced off their lands by public projects.

On Thursday, Texas officials dramatically announced that Marshall's gunshot death June 3, 1961, now is considered murder, not suicide.

At the time of his death, he was investigating Estes' cotton scheme. Marshall was found dead on his ranch near Franklin, Tex., shot five times. His death first was ruled suicide.

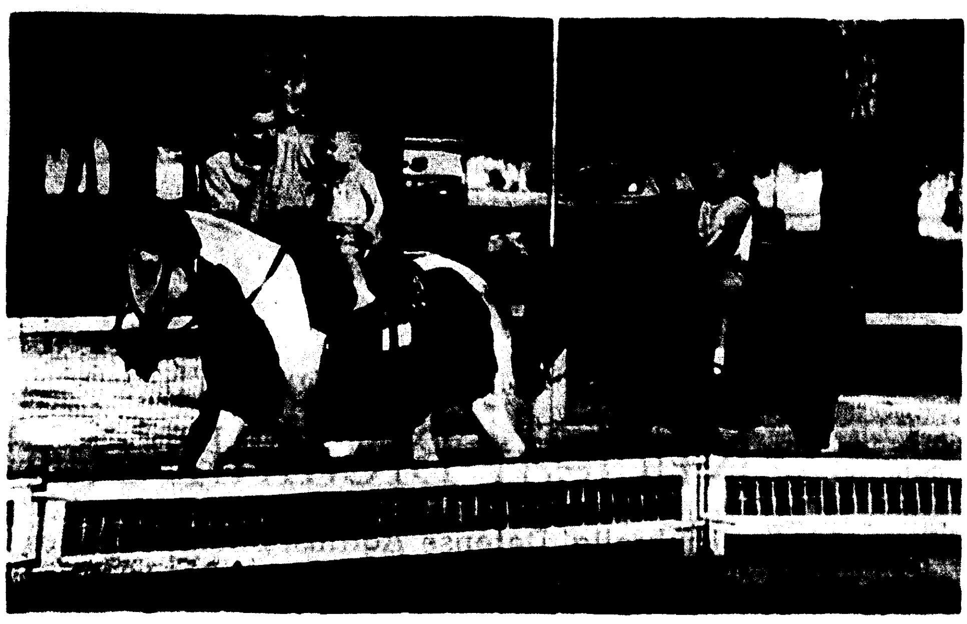
Water sports are attracting many area residents who are attempting to escape the heat. Scenes of activity range from local swimming pools to rivers, bayous, lakes, and even to small plastic wading pools in residential yards. Tree shaded parks are attracting some of those who seek recreation in a firmer setting. Seventeen-month-old Beverly Katheryn Bradford, blonde-haired, blue eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bradford Jr., Choudrant, finds delight in tossing a large rubber ball around a wading pool at her home. Her father, a staff photographer, took the photo. Riding ponies at Bernstein Park here are "Ricky" in the lead with his father, Thurston Butler, and "Becky," daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fogleman. He is also a staff photographer. Besides the park scene he contributed pictorial reports on a water skier moving at a lively pace behind a motor boat and a cooling spray of water, and another dropping the tow line after swinging in a wide arc toward the bank on Bayou DeSiard as well as a friendly water fight.



New Orleans, 'State of Mind'

New Orleans is the birthplace of jazz music, and it first introduced permanent opera to America, as well as the chancy game of craps. New Orleanians annually spend some $5 million, and thousands of man-hours on Mardi Gras. Some residents and visitors, too, are shocked to find out that the French Quarter isn't French, Basin Street is like any other business thoroughfare, and there's no streetcar named Desire there..

By KEN DAVIS

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Some leagues from the mouth of the Mississippi River, where the boyous almost meet Bourbon Street, there is a state of mind known as New Orleans.

Technically, it is a city. Actually, it is a passion shared by hundreds of thousands of persons who aren't certain exactly why they like this humid metropolis, but are extremely certain they do.

CERTAINTY

This is about the only thing that is certain in New Orleans. Perhaps that is part of the city's charm.

Here the Mississippi River flows north. Here is the nation's third seaport 100 miles from the sea. Here what appears to be the same street suddenly has another name because the early Creoles and Americans didn't get along.

Maybe it's because history — the sweep of the American saga —remains more than in most places a daily companion.

Here is old St. Louis Cathedral, perhaps the most ancient in the country; the oldest hotel; some of the oldest street cars, none of which now is named Desire.

Here is the birthplace of jazz, although fabled Storyville has disappeared in the face of a different morality and Basin Street looks like any commercial district you might walk through. On the flip side of a bit of musical history, this city first introduced permanent opera to America.

Of a somewhat different culture, the chancy game of craps was introduced to America here. It is said the name came because boatmen from up north called French of New Orleans "Johnny crapuds" or "Johnny frogs."

Some of the vestigal remains of history still exist: Place d'Armes or Jackson Square with its artists, beloved of the tourist; the Cabildo, seat of Spanish government; ancient buildings of a hundred past uses.

CONTRASTS

A city of contrasts, New Orleans: churches and Storyville; culture and winos; history and jet planes. New Orleans has about 600 churches and 2,500 bars. As one citizen observed defensively, "Well, it costs less to start a bar."

To millions of Americans, New Orleans is the old square known as the French Quarter. This is unfortunate, because in these days that conjures up visions of strippers, tourist jazz, B-drinkers, barkers and huge hurricane drinks.

"Come in, ladies," yells the barker of the strip club. "This show has been approved by good housekeeping."

The tourists obey by the thousands.

It's not the wine, women and song that make the Vieux Carre, as the natives call the French Quarter. It's your state of mind.

In a certain state of mind, perhaps, gay old New Orleans may offend. It has too many winos, too many panhandlers, too many eroded and empty buildings, still some scabrous housing, open storm drains and roller-coaster streets. It has or has had the civic cancers of graft, narcotics and syndicate gambling.

ONLY ONE

The French Quarter has one, and one only, French structure—the Ursulines convent, circa 1751, oldest building in the Mississippi Valley. The rest of the quarter is Spanish or American.

Rapport with New Orleans is not always achieved at once. The shotgun houses and above-ground burial vaults can be a shock to a newcomer.

How well I remember the time Harnett Kane, the author, and Pie Dufour, the author-columnist, cornered my wife, a newly arrived and unreconstructed Northerner.

"How do you like New Orleans?" they asked, smiling in anticipation of praise for the city both love.

"I think it stinks," said my diplomatic spouse blithely.

Later I heard Mrs. Davis was asked for and freely gave her reasons for disliking New Orleans.

"Where do you live, Mrs. Davis?" She told them.

"Oh that's the reason," said Harnett. "Now you ought to live in the French Quarter."

Neither Harnett nor Pie frequent the bistros of Bourbon Street, being of a somewhat more intellectual persuasion, but the French Quarter is their spiritual home, the epitome of freedom of choice — to sin or not to sin.

That attitude is not uncommon among devotees of the Crescent City. Arterial hardening or native morality may dictate they never partake from the fleshpots, but the citizens of New Orleans resent anyone trying to impose rigid controls on individual action.

'LIBERAL CITY'

"New Orleans never was meant to be closed down," these people say.

In the 1850's a minister put it: "New Orleans is the most liberal city in Christendom."

And it has gumbo variety.

Along the north side of the city is Lake Pontchartrain, the front yard of the city's most expensive residential real estate. This is another orbit, the lake, where Mr. and Mrs. New Orleans crab, fish, boat and swim. The lake helps keep the city temperatures up in the winter, down in summer — and humid all the time.

On the west side of New Orleans is the old garden district and much antebellum history. Here the Americans who stacked up enough greenbacks built their show homes.

Unlike the French who built walled homes with courtyards in the middle, the Americans built enormous homes in the midst of broad gardens.

From this broad area decades ago, the belles sped by carriage to their soirees and gay gamecocks rode horseback to the dueling oaks in what is now city park.

This is the orbit of the city's old families.

It is getting a new orbit: Saturn.

They're going to build Saturn booster rockets at Michoud within the city limits and test them 10 miles from the Place d' Armes where the booted feet of French and Spanish soldiery scarcely shook the earth.

There is another orbit that has no geography — Mardi Gras. More properly it is Carnival, which is the period from 12th night, Jan. 6, to Shrove Tuesday — the entire season of make - believe madness. Mardi Gras or Fat Tuesday is the final day of merriment before the atonement of Lent.

New Orleanians spend $5 million and uncounted thousands of man-hours on Carnival each year, but this is a private matter. They spend nearly $400,000 a year on junk jewelry to throw to bystanders along parade routes; something more than a million on the fantastic masked balls with which they regale themselves, their friends and guests each year.

FOR ILLUSION

They do not spend on pageantry for tourist pleasure, but for the unlikely illusion of the never-was, the chance for every man to be courtier, a king for a day.

Unionism And Courts

High above the heads of wage earners, regardless of whether they may wear white or blue collars, a struggle is shaping up between big unionism and the federal courts.

The issue has many variations, but its central theme will emerge sooner or later as the application of anti-trust laws to large labor organizations.

Right now, court tests concern the so-called "agency shop" practices, one of the more monopolistic aims of unionism. This is the arrangement between employer and union forcing non-union workers to pay union fees and dues in order to hold jobs. For the past three years, certain union officials have been pushing an "agency shop" drive in order to kill the effectiveness of right-to-work laws already approved in 19 states and spreading to others.

Approximately 14,000 General Motors employes in Indiana refused to join Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers Union. Reuther demanded that General Motors accept the "agency shop" arrangement. This would have meant the 14,000 workers would have to pay regular union fees and dues (without union membership) or be fired.

General Motors refused on grounds that such an arrangement would be illegal. In 1961, a National Labor Relations Board ruling upheld the company decision. But after President Kennedy placed new members on the NLRB, the body reversed its decision and approved the "agency shop" side of the issue.

General Motors took the case to the Cincinnati Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. In a far-reaching decision, the court outlawed the "agency shop." If this decision should hold good in the Supreme Court, it will stand as another milestone in the struggle to protect individual freedom among America's working force.

The "agency shop" was the third major compulsory device which big unionism has sought to put power over jobs into the hands of a few officials. The first maneuver was the "closed shop." Under the Wagner Act, all workers could be forced to join a union before they could obtain a job. But the American public rebelled against such a monopoly on the control of jobs, and the "closed shop" was outlawed by the Taft-Hartley law.

By the time that law was passed, however, union pressure was so great until "union shop" agreements were granted. Under this arrangement, workers have from 30 to 60 days to apply for union membership and pay fees and dues —or be fired.

It was against such coercion that states began to pass right-to-work laws. The public has gradually become more aware of monopolistic powers on both sides of the fence —in management and in labor— and the term "right-to-work" has grown into national movement.

Such a bill was introduced at the past session of the Louisiana Legislature in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment, but died in committee.

Certainly, as long as union officials through such tactics as the "agency shop" can collect fees and dues from non-union workers, they are likely to meet such reaction as took place in Indiana and in the Cincinnati court of appeals.

Pension Laws

Under the cloak of what they choose to call "patriotism," a group of congressmen has turned its attention to the veterans of World War I. Actually this group of politicians is trying to junk the many sound points behind our veterans' pension laws and come up with a huge giveaway for those particular veterans.

In brief, the law calls for $11 billion to be added to present funds set aside for World War I veterans. There are approximately 2,400,000 persons who fit this category, half of whom are already drawing pensions.

The sponsors of the bill claim they are trying to do something for "the forgotten man." The proposed beneficiaries would need no service-connected disabilities, nor have to sign a statement that they are needy. In fact, most veterans of World War I are among the people who aren't asking the government for any additional help.

The Kennedy administration opposes the measure as did the Eisenhower administration in addition to most veterans' organizations. The House Veterans Affairs Committee has refused to release the bill for a floor vote after voting it down in committee. With such widespread opposition, how does the bill stand a chance?

The sponsors of the bill are the main source of concern. They are, prior to the fall congressional elections circulating a discharge petition which would bring the bill out of committee for a floor vote. Observers feel this strategy may swing support for the bill which could not be found at another time. Representative Otto Passman is strongly against the bill and has joined a dozen other congressmen in an educational program to block its release from the committee. An ex-serviceman himself, Passman says:

"The time is long overdue for the people's elected representatives to start thinking more seriously of the welfare of America rather than merely of just the next election."

Actually, no veteran in World War I or in needy circumstances now ever need fear that his country won't help him. Who are the people for whom the bill appears to be designed?

The remaining veterans of the first World War who are not already drawing a veteran's check from the government, apparently. These persons fit the category of those making more than $3,000 a year and who do not have any war-incurred disabilities. The proposal wants to boost the figure on a "needy" salary to $3,600.

Add a proposed pension of $1,200 to an existing $3,600 salary and attach Social Security or other retirement pay and the recipient would draw pay anywhere from $5,000 up.

More than half of all American taxpayers make less than $4,000 annually, according to the latest statistics. So the proposed pension plan would set surviving World War veterans at least $1,000 a year ahead of 50 per cent of the nation's taxpayers.

Forgotten men? World War veterans have received $30 billion in benefits already. They are now getting two billion of the Veterans Administration $5 billion budget for this year.

The nation is grateful for the part they played in the first great war the United States fought overseas. But laws have been agreed upon which include public gratitude for the citizens who fought in two major military operations since that war, namely, World War II and the Korean conflict.

The financial liabilities are bad enough in view of the federal deficit of $6.3 announced last Friday. But the give-away concept of rewarding service to one's country in uniform cheapens the patriotic efforts of the millions of taxpayers who are now struggling to prop up the government during a time of uneasy peace.

Nuclear Breakthrough

'Umbrella' Defense Against Enemy Missiles Proved Possible By 200-Mile-High Blast

WASHINGTON — U.S. scientists have scored a major breakthrough in their search for an "umbrella-like" defense against enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles.

A preliminary analysis of last week's dramatic 200-mile-high nuclear explosion by Joint Task Force Eight scientists shows it is scientifically and technologically possible to develop a weapon capable of protecting whole cities.

The finding clashes head-on with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's propaganda warning that the U.S. is deluding itself in thinking that a high-altitude nuclear explosion could be effective against Russian global rockets.

The still-secret analysis reveals that the fireball of the 2-megaton thermonuclear warhead exploded over the Pacific created enough heat and electromagnetism to effectively destroy or neutralize incoming missiles passing through a limited area.

Monitored results of the high-altitude test indicated that all missiles entering a five-square-mile area within two minutes of the blast would be neutralized if not outright destroyed.

By using thermonuclear war heads with greater explosive power and increasing the height of detonation, the scientists believe the "umbrella" or protective area can be greatly extended and the intercept time markedly lengthened.

Task Force Eight scientists will try to develop this breakthrough even further next week by exploding a 5-megaton warhead at an altitude of more than 500 miles over the Pacific.

As in the spectacular 200-mile high test, the warhead will be carried into space atop a THOR intermediate range ballistic missile launched from Johnston Island.

This high altitude test, called off by the President earlier this month, was rescheduled after the preliminary results of the 200-mile-high blast became known. Originally, the President had ordered the Pacigic tests completed before the Geneva disarmament conference convened this week.

OTHER RESULTS — In studying results of other tests, officials report that the developmental progress and technical sophistication shown in reducing the weight and increasing the explosive yield of strategic weapons indicates that the U.S. has again pulled ahead of the Soviet Union in most areas of atomic weapon design.

For example: The analysis shows U.S. scientists succeeded in drastically reducing the size of the fission bomb trigger used in detonating the thermonuclear explosion reaction of a hydrogen bomb warhead.

Before the U.S. resumed atmospheric testing, the general appraisal was that the Soviet Union had edged ahead in this field, particularly in large-yield warheads for ballistic missiles.

After analyzing the results, U.S. officials say flatly that the U.S. has regained its technological lead over Russia in the development of atomic weapons.

MORE TESTS — The Army is getting ready to make its second attempt to shoot down an ATLAS intercontinental ballistic missile with its NIKE-ZEUS anti-missile missile.

The unannounced first test failed last month when the second stage of the NIKE-ZEUS failed to function, and no contact was made with the Air Force's ICBM.

As in the unsuccessful attempt, the Atlas will be fired from Point Mugu, Calif., and the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile from Kwajalein Island, 5,000 miles across the Pacific.

The Army plans no advance announcement of the test in order not to alert Soviet tracking ships now in the Pacific.

The success or failure of this coming test is expected to determine whether President Kennedy will give the Army the go-ahead to put the anti-missile missile into production.

At present, the Army has been authorized only to carry on additional research and development of the controversial Nike-Zeus.

ATOMIC FALLOUT — There is a new report that Russia will fly the world's first atomic-powered airplane before fall. Representative Melvin Price, D-Ill., outspoken critic of the Kennedy Administration's decision to stop the development of an A-plane, says the report was picked up by U.S. Intelligence in London. The Soviet military attache there reportedly boasted to British military officicials that the prototype will be flown in August. . . . Ambassador James M. Gavin has written members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee from Paris that he believes the U.S. should assist France to produce nuclear weapons. . . . The U.S. has successfully tested an atomic device which can be carried in one hand. It has the explosive power of a carload of TNT. It will be used in a new-type atomic land mine being developed by the Army.

fully arranged to have a large garden tent for the comfort of the several hundred diplomatic and other guests.

Jennifer Johnson, daughter of Undersecretary of State U. Alexis Johnson, is leaving soon for Bangkok to marry a Thai businessman who was educated in the U.S. He is "Mike" Mojdara, graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whose father was Ambassador to this country. It was then that "Mike" met Miss Johnson, sub-deb of 16, and it was a case of love at first sight for both of them . . . . Lebanon Ambassador and Madame Dimednkie, who are leaving Washington, chalked up an all-time record in farewell parties. Since the announcement of their departure earlier this year, they have attended 163 farewell parties. Maybe that's why they are going to spend several months vacationing in Switzerland before the Lebanese envoy takes up his new post . . . Intriguing sign in a window in the 1300 block of Pennsylvania Avenue: "Government Exterminating Service."

TAX CUT PROSPECTS — Keep in mind that any tax cut bill proposed by Administration may be completely changed by Congress and not executive department works its will on taxation matters. Especially is this true in fundamental tax bill such as President has announced he will propose. Journey from proposal to enactment is a long one. President's tax cut plan, although it has not been spelled out is already under Congress and business fire. Even some liberal members of Congress are arguing that it would only increase the budget deficit and complicate the international balance of payments. Some veteran legislators say bill which finally emerges for President's signature will be a redistribution of taxes, not a cut.

KENNEDY - McCORMACK — Friends of Speaker John W. McCormack, No. 3 man in the line of Presidential succession, say he was burned up over Administration "interference" in behalf of Edward Kennedy, the President's brother, by pressure on delegates to the Massachusetts State Democratic convention. The Speaker did not make his decision to stump for his nephew until after the convention adjourned, now he is considering whether to make Representative Carl Albert Speaker-Protem and take to the hustings in earnest. At all events he will campaign for Edward McCormack weekends until the September Bay State primary. Speaker McCormack's Congressional District, most populous in Massauchusetts, embraces about 85 percent of the voters of the city of Boston.

Views Of Our Readers

South Grand

Monroe, La

To the Editor:

Residents on South Grand Street are fighting a losing battle against dirt and noise.

We are usually a peaceful group of people but after two and a half months on a street job that should have taken a little over a month our temperature is reaching the boiling point.

For progress, yes we're for progress, but to come back several times after a job could have been completed and tear up six inches more of concrete every few weeks is unreasonable.

Delays for weather are to be expected but incompetence on someones part be it contractor, officials or etc. is a waste of the taxpayers dollar. This we believe could be remedied by a little fore thought and finishing one or more jobs at a time.

We hope for a complete job before winter provided all goes well.

Today is Sunday, July 22, the 203rd day of 1962 with 162 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1587, the second lost colony was re-established on Roanoke Island off the coast of North Carolina.

In 1864, the first Battle of Atlanta, Ga., was fought in the Civil War.

In 1833, Wiley Post completed the first round-the-world solo airplane trip.

In 1934, Public Enemy No. 1, John Dillinger, was shot down by federal agents in Chicago.

A thought for the day: The American author, Havelock Ellis, said: "To be a leader of men, one must turn one's back on men."

The Silver Issue

Legislation Sought By JFK Goes To Congressional Scrapheap

Whatever else may happen in the waning session of the present Congress the silver issue which has echoed through the country's political history will not this year re-echo in the legislative halls.

The promised big debate, invoking memories of William Jennings Bryan, his Cross of Gold speech in 1896, and the issue of 16 to 1, is off. Legislation sought by President Kennedy aimed at demonitizing silver and removing it completely from the United States currency system except for such convenient subsidiary coins as nickles, dimes, quarters and half dollars, has gone to the scrapheap as far as this Congress is concerned.

It has been eight months since President Kennedy took the first step to snip the legal ties between silver and some $2 billion in paper bills. It has been nearly six months since the Treasury Department sent to Congress proposed legislation to accomplish that purpose.

A bill to carry out the Administration's desires was introduced by Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. Senator Robertson said prompt hearings would be held on it. None have been held and none are now scheduled.

President Kennedy in November took all the action he is permitted to take. He stopped the Treasury sale of free silver (free silver is the stocks of that metal in excess of that needed to back paper currency.)

He also decreed the replacing of $5 and $10 silver notes with Federal Reserve notes. All $1s and $2s, 25 percent of the $5s and less than 1 percent of the $10s are backed by silver, which is cached away at West Point, just as gold is at Fort Knox.

The legislation which President Kennedy sought would have repealed the silver purchase laws of 1934, 1939 and 1946 obtained by the western silver bloc, headed in the Senate by Senator William E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, and Senators Key Pittman, Nevada and Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma, Democrats.

The silver certificates, which have been in use since 1878 would have gradually been discarded under the requested legislation. They are our only currency with dollar-for-dollar metalic backing. The $1 bill, as an example bears this incription: "This certifies that there in on deposit in the Treasury of the United States of America ONE DOLLAR in silver, payable to the bearer on demand."

The President's decision last November 28 to suspend fixed-price sale of Treasury silver to the industry was pleasing to the silver producing states, for the price immediately went from 98¾ per troy ounce to $1¾ and has remained near that price. Thirteen western states Senators had asked an end to the free silver sale.

But 15 eastern Senators from the heavy silver using for industrial purpose states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and New England want to repeal all Government silver purchase laws. The western Senators, however, want the Government to continue as a guaranteed customer at a guaranteed price, even though at present silver prices, miners can do better than the 90.5 Government floor.

The largest silver producing state is Idaho, where Democratic Senator Frank Church is in a rough race for re-election. It could be even rougher if Church permitted a law, largely the handiwork of his predecessor, the great Borah, to be repealed. Repeal could also make the going tough for Congressional condidates in Utah, Montana and Arizona, which, in that order follow Idaho in rank as silver producers.

The legislation, which the President asked, would end silver's status as an important monetary metal and make it a freely-traded commodity like copper or soy beans. Its industrial purposes have been most important in tableware, photographic and electrical industries. It has newer space-age uses, including missiles.

Paper currency backed by silver total only $2 billion of more than $32 billion outstanding. But the Federal Reserve Board cannot issue any note for less than $5.

Pesident Kennedy's action in November and the legislation requested in February was supposed to break the Democratic ties to silver which have existed for nearly a century. But the sidetracked Congressional committee hearings emphasize that it is still a durable issue, though a less controversial topic than in other generations.

The first silver purchase act passed over President Hayes veto in 1878, and there was a bigger purchase act passed in 1890. President Cleveland overcame a Senate filibuster and got it repealed in 1893. William Jennings Bryan made it the Democratic baby again in 1896 with the Cross of Gold speech, which won him the Democratic Presidential nomination.

The Borah - Pittman - Thomas group in 1934 accomplished what Bryan could not, putting the Government back into the silver-buying business in a big way. And the sidetracking of the Kennedy legislation this year again demonstrates that the western silver bloc is a tough one to buck, even though the Treasury deems the white metal to be an anacronism in our monetary reserves.

Profile Of A Tycoon

Industry Seeking Executives With Scientific Backgrounds

What sort of men head America's 500 largest corporations - the power elite of U.S. industry which in 1961 alone chalked up sales totaling an awesome $209 billion, accounted for more than half the sales and over 70 per cent of the profits of all U. S. manufacturing and mining companies? What are the ages, educations, backgrounds of the men who preside over companies which in one year produce more than the total output of dozens of well-known nations around the globe?

Here's a profile of this tycoon.

He's between 50 and 59 years of age, and if he's president of a giant with sales of more than a half-billion a year he didn't get his position until he was over 50.

He has held his present job for five years or less and he rose through the executive ranks via manufacturing or marketing - although if he's president of the biggest of the bigs, he also may have come up through the engineering and scientific routes.

He has at least a bachelor's degree, most likely obtained from a college or university in the East with Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Cornell and M I T heading the list.

He has worked for only one to two companies, is the rare exception if he has switched jobs frequently.

He holds one or more directorships in other corporations, indicating he has great influence outside as well as inside his own company.

This is a summary of the major characteristics of the presidents of 453 of the 500 largest corporations ranked by Fortune Magazine. The study was made by Heidrick & Struggles, one of the biggest and oldest executive recruiting firms in the country and is, says H & S, the first study every made of the presidents of the top 500. While the aim of H & S was to find out for its own guidance how and why the men rose to the top, it has fascinating implications for any of you who are striving to reach the same pinnacle, for the men bear impressive similarities to each other.

A first key point is their education. Of the presidents, 74 per cent have at least a bachelor's degree, and of those who are presidents of companies with sales of a half-billion or more 81 per cent have at least this college degree. Says Heidrick & Struggles: "In this era of professional management, education is extremely important," and it adds, "We seldom look for a man without a college degree, not because we think the degree necessarily makes him better, but because we think the college graduate will have a broader outlook and be more poised."

A second significant point if the similarity between the routes they took to the pinnacle - manufacturing, marketing, engineering or science. Says the recruiting firm: "Most companies, including those in defense work, are seeking an increasing number of executives with engineering and scientific backgrounds."

A third provocative point is the immobility the men show. To me it was astounding to read that 41 per cent of the presidents have worked for only one company, another 23 per cent have worked for only two. Even taking nepotism into consideration, this is a startling finding, for on the other end of the scale the proportion who have jumped around - worked for seven or more companies is a tiny 4 per cent. But the results fit in with advice I've submitted in this column from other job experts. Specifically, do your moving around in your 20s, at age 30 start thinking hard about the place you want to be and your goals and then concentrate on achieving them.

Finally, a point which stands out is the relatively short time the men remain at the peak. Only one in five stays in this office more than 10 years, and among the giant 100 only one in nine stays in this office more than 10 years.

Unionism And Courts

High above the heads of wage earners, regardless of whether they may wear white or blue collars, a struggle is shaping up between big unionism and the federal courts.

The issue has many variations, but its central theme will emerge sooner or later as the application of anti-trust laws to large labor organizations.

Right now, court tests concern the so-called "agency shop" practices, one of the more monopolistic aims of unionism. This is the arrangement between employer and union forcing non-union workers to pay union fees and dues in order to hold jobs. For the past three years, certain union officials have been pushing an "agency shop" drive in order to kill the effectiveness of right-to-work laws already approved in 19 states and spreading to others.

Approximately 14,000 General Motors employes in Indiana refused to join Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers Union. Reuther demanded that General Motors accept the "agency shop" arrangement. This would have meant the 14,000 workers would have to pay regular union fees and dues (without union membership) or be fired.

General Motors refused on grounds that such an arrangement would be illegal. In 1961, a National Labor Relations Board ruling upheld the company decision. But after President Kennedy placed new members on the NLRB, the body reversed its decision and approved the "agency shop" side of the issue.

General Motors took the case to the Cincinnati Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. In a far-reaching decision, the court outlawed the "agency shop." If this decision should hold good in the Supreme Court, it will stand as another milestone in the struggle to protect individual freedom among America's working force.

The "agency shop" was the third major compulsory device which big unionism has sought to put power over jobs into the hands of a few officials. The first maneuver was the "closed shop." Under the Wagner Act, all workers could be forced to join a union before they could obtain a job. But the American public rebelled against such a monopoly on the control of jobs, and the "closed shop" was outlawed by the Taft-Hartley law.

By the time that law was passed, however, union pressure was so great until "union shop" agreements were granted. Under this arrangement, workers have from 30 to 60 days to apply for union membership and pay fees and dues—or be fired.

It was against such coercion that states began to pass right-to-work laws. The public has gradually become more aware of monopolistic powers on both sides of the fence—in management and in labor—and the term "right-to-work" has grown into national movement.

Such a bill was introduced at the past session of the Louisiana Legislature in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment, but died in committee.

Certainly, as long as union officials through such tactics as the "agency shop" can collect fees and dues from non-union workers, they are likely to meet such reaction as took place in Indiana and in the Cincinnati court of appeals.

Pension Laws

Under the cloak of what they choose to call "patriotism," a group of congressmen has turned its attention to the veterans of World War I. Actually this group of politicians is trying to junk the many sound points behind our veterans' pension laws and come up with a huge giveaway for those particular veterans.

In brief, the law calls for $11 billion to be added to present funds set aside for World War I veterans. There are approximately 2,400,000 persons who fit this category, half of whom are already drawing pensions.

The sponsors of the bill claim they are trying to do something for "the forgotten man." The proposed beneficiaries would need no service-connected disabilities, nor have to sign a statement that they are needy. In fact, most veterans of World War I are among the people who aren't asking the government for any additional help.

The Kennedy administration opposes the measure as did the Eisenhower administration in addition to most veterans' organizations. The House Veterans Affairs Committee has refused to release the bill for a floor vote after voting it down in committee. With such widespread opposition, how does the bill stand a chance?

The sponsors of the bill are the main source of concern. They are, prior to the fall congressional elections circulating a discharge petition which would bring the bill out of committee for a floor vote. Observers feel this strategy may swing support for the bill which could not be found at another time. Representative Otto Passman is strongly against the bill and has joined a dozen other congressmen in an educational program to block its release from the committee. An ex-serviceman himself, Passman says:

"The time is long overdue for the people's elected representatives to start thinking more seriously of the welfare of America rather than merely of just the next election."

Actually, no veteran in World War I or in needy circumstances now ever need fear that his country won't help him. Who are the people for whom the bill appears to be designed?

The remaining veterans of the first World War who are not already drawing a veteran's check from the government, apparently. These persons fit the category of those making more than $3,000 a year and who do not have any war-incurred disabilities. The proposal wants to boost the figure on a "needy" salary to $3,600.

Add a proposed pension of $1,200 to an existing $3,600 salary and attach Social Security or other retirement pay and the recipient would draw pay anywhere from $5,000 up.

More than half of all American taxpayers make less than $4,000 annually, according to the latest statistics. So the proposed pension plan would set surviving World War veterans at least $1,000 a year ahead of 50 per cent of the nation's taxpayers.

Forgotten men? World War veterans have received $30 billion in benefits already. They are now getting two billion of the Veterans Administration $5 billion budget for this year.

The nation is grateful for the part they played in the first great war the United States fought overseas. But laws have been agreed upon which include public gratitude for the citizens who fought in two major military operations since that war, namely, World War II and the Korean conflict.

The financial liabilities are bad enough in view of the federal deficit of $6.3 announced last Friday. But the give-away concept of rewarding service to one's country in uniform cheapens the patriotic efforts of the millions of taxpayers who are now struggling to prop up the government during a time of uneasy peace.

Nuclear Breakthrough

'Umbrella' Defense Against Enemy Missiles Proved Possible By 200-Mile-High Blast

WASHINGTON — U.S. scientists have scored a major breakthrough in their search for an "umbrella-like" defense against enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles.

A preliminary analysis of last week's dramatic 200-mile-high nuclear explosion by Joint Task Force Eight scientists shows it is scientifically and technologically possible to develop a weapon capable of protecting whole cities.

The finding clashes head-on with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's propaganda warning that the U.S. is deluding itself in thinking that a high - altitude nuclear explosion could be effective against Russian global rockets.

The still-secret analysis reveals that the fireball of the 2-megaton thermonuclear warhead exploded over the Pacific created enough heat and electromagnetism to effectively destroy or neutralize incoming missiles passing through a limited area.

Monitored results of the high-altitude test indicated that all missiles entering a five-square-mile area within two minutes of the blast would be neutralized if not outright destroyed.

By using thermonuclear warheads with greater explosive power and increasing the height of detonation, the scientists believe the "umbrella" or protective area can be greatly extended and the intercept time markedly lengthened.

Task Force Eight scientists will try to develop this breakthrough even further next week by exploding a 5-megaton warhead at an altitude of more than 500 miles over the Pacific.

As in the spectacular 200 - mile-high test, the warhead will be carried into space atop a THOR intermediate range ballistic missile launched from Johnston Island.

This high - altitude test, called off by the President earlier this month, was rescheduled after the preliminary results of the 200 - mile-high blast became known. Originally, the President had ordered the Pacigic tests completed before the Geneva disarmament conference convened this week.

OTHER RESULTS — In studying results of other tests, officials report that the developmental progress and technical sophistication shown in reducing the weight and increasing the explosive yield of strategic weapons indicates that the U.S. has again pulled ahead of the Soviet Union in most areas of atomic weapon design.

For example: The analysis shows U.S. scientists succeeded in drastically reducing the size of the fission bomb trigger used in detonating the thermonuclear explosion reaction of a hydrogen bomb warhead.

Before the U.S. resumed atmospheric testing, the general appraisal was that the Soviet Union had edged ahead in this field, particularly in large - yield warheads for ballistic missiles.

After analyzing the results, U.S. officials say flatly that the U.S. has regained its technological lead over Russia in the development of atomic weapons.

MORE TESTS — The Army is getting ready to make its second attempt to shoot down an ATLAS intercontinental ballistic missile with its NIKE-ZEUS anti-missile missile.

The unannounced first test failed last month when the second stage of the NIKE-ZEUS failed to function, and no contact was made with the Air Force's ICBM.

As in the unsuccessful attempt, the Atlas will be fired from Point Mugu, Calif., and the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile from Kwajalein Island, 5,000 miles across the Pacific.

The Army plans no advance announcement of the test in order not to alert Soviet tracking ships now in the Pacific.

The success or failure of this coming test is expected to determine whether President Kennedy will give the Army the go-ahead to put the anti - missile missile into production.

At present, the Army has been authorized only to carry on additional research and development of the controversial Nike-Zeus.

TAX CUT PROSPECTS — Keep in mind that any tax cut bill proposed by Administration may be completely changed by Congress and not executive department works its will on taxation matters. Especially is this true in fundamental tax bill such as President has announced he will propose. Journey from proposal to enactment is a long one. President's tax cut plan, although it has not been spelled out is already under Congress and business fire. Even some liberal members of Congress are arguing that it would only increase the budget deficit and complicate the international balance of payments. Some veteran legislators say bill which finally emerges for President's signature will be a redistribution of taxes, not a cut.

KENNEDY - McCORMACK — Friends of Speaker John W. McCormack, No. 3 man in the line of Presidential succession, say he was burned up over Administration "interference" in behalf of Edward Kennedy, the President's brother, by pressure on delegates to the Massachusetts State Democratic convention. The Speaker did not make his decision to stump for his nephew until after the convention adjourned, now he is considering whether to make Representative Carl Albert Speaker-Protem and take to the hustings in earnest. At all events he will campaign for Edward McCormack weekends until the September Bay State primary. Speaker McCormack's Congressional District, most populous in Massauchusetts, embraces about 85 percent of the voters of the city of Boston.

ATOMIC FALLOUT — There is a new report that Russia will fly the world's first atomic-powered airplane before fall. Representative Melvin Price, D-Ill., outspoken critic of the Kennedy Administration's decision to stop the development of an A-plane, says the report was picked up by U.S. Intelligence in London. The Soviet military attache there reportedly boasted to British military officicials that the prototype will be flown in August . . . Ambassador James M. Gavin has written members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee from Paris that he believes the U.S. should assist France to produce nuclear weapons . . . . The U.S. has successfully tested an atomic device which can be carried in one hand. It has the explosive power of a carload of TNT. It will be used in a new-type atomic land mine being developed by the Army.

To the Editor:

Residents on South Grand Street are fighting a losing battle against dirt and noise.

We are usually a peaceful group of people but after two and a half months on a street job that should have taken a little over a month our temperature is reaching the boiling point.

For progress, yes we're for progress, but to come back several times after a job could have been completed and tear up six inches more of concrete every few weeks is unreasonable.

Delays for weather are to be expected but incompetence on someones part be it contractor, officials or etc. is a waste of the taxpayers dollar. This we believe could be remedied by a little fore thought and finishing one or more jobs at a time.

We hope for a complete job before winter provided all goes well.

The Silver Issue

Legislation Sought By JFK Goes To Congressional Scrapheap

Whatever else may happen in the waning session of the present Congress the silver issue which has echoed through the country's political history will not this year re - echo in the legislative halls.

The promised big debate, invoking memories of William Jennings Bryan, his Cross of Gold speech in 1896, and the issue of 16 to 1, is off. Legislation sought by President Kennedy aimed at demonitizing silver and removing it completely from the United States currency system except for such convenient subsidiary coins as nickles, dimes, quarters and half dollars, has gone to the scrapheap as far as this Congress is concerned.

It has been eight months since President Kennedy took the first step to snip the legal ties between silver and some $2 billion in paper bills. It has been nearly six months since the Treasury Department sent to Congress proposed legislation to accomplish that purpose.

A bill to carry out the Administration's desires was introduced by Senator A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. Senator Robertson said prompt hearings would be held on it. None have been held and none are now scheduled.

President Kennedy in November took all the action he is permitted to take. He stopped the Treasury sale of free silver (free silver is the stocks of that metal in excess of that needed to back paper currency.)

He also decreed the replacing of $5 and $10 silver notes with Federal Reserve notes. All $1s and $2s, 25 percent of the $5s and less than 1 percent of the $10s are backed by silver, which is cached away at West Point, just as gold is at Fort Knox.

GLITTERING CARACAS

Squalor Mocks Wealthy City

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A belt of a squalor and misery mocks the modern glitter of this fantastically wealthy city, the capital of the world's biggest oil exporting nation.

More than 368,880 illiterates of mostly Indian blood—many half-starved and half-clothed—exist in battered shacks called ranchos.

Ranchos fester on surrounding hills like rubbish piles, in ravines which cross through the city, or in the most plush residential areas.

Some of the younger rancho children run naked in the dusty settlements. Older ones shine shoes or beg on the busy downtown boulevards.

Rancho dwellers make up a quarter of the Caracas population but most came from the interior region near the Andes Mountains.

City officials say thousands more come each year, seeking jobs or an easier way of life in the big city, despite admonitions of the government to stay where they are.

"But it's easy to build a rancho," said one official. "You can pick a scrap pile and get discarded corrugated metal sheets for the roof, blocks for furniture and box wood for walls."

Heating is no problem in tropical Caracas and rancho people keep the tin roofs intact, despite torrential rains, by piling rocks on the top.

Caracas city government to build 65,000 living quarters More than 8,000 are scheduled to be built during the first year along with sewage and other facilities.

Antonio Cruz Fernandez, director of the Municipal Office of Urban Planning, says it is not a complete solution, however.

"We're conscious of the errors committed in the past with emergency programs. The people must have jobs and pay for their homes if they are to mean anything. Paternalism will not work," he said.

Fernandez said national unemployment must be cured and that agrarian reform and industrialization programs must be the final answer.

More ingenious rancho veterans tap power lines to have free electric lighting.

A rancho mother of seven showed a reporter her one-room dirt-floor shack. She made coffee on an ancient but clean kerosene stove. Where was her husband?

"He left before Juan Jose there was born," she answered.

A priest who works in the barrios told a reporter that families, as they are known elsewhere, scarcely exist.

No Television Planned For South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Telstar satellite achievement has provoked new grumblings from press and public here that South Africa still has no television of any kind while far less developed African countries do.

The latest word from Communications Minister Dr. Albert Hertzog is that television is "too expensive" to be inaugurated here.

Dr. Hertzog told Parliament not long ago that he had a low opinion of the "blood and thunder entertainment that comes through that piece of glass" and that he feared the effects of such entertainment on South Africa's white youth—not to speak of the majority non-white population.

Typical of the new protests was an editorial in the English language Johannesburg Rand Daily Mail, which said:

"There is no doubt that the television beamed across the Atlantic by Telstar marks a new era in communications.

"And international television has arrived. How does South Africa stand in relation to such an achievement? Dr. Hertzog has stubbornly turned his back on the introduction of any form of television in this country. Perhaps that did not matter so much while it remained a domestic affair. But can South Africa afford to keep aloof when television becomes international? Can it afford further to emphasize its isolation by cutting itself off from what must become a world form of communication and culture? Or will the Dr. Herzogs of South Africa stick their heads in the sand and pretend there ain't no such thing?"

Economic Woes Face Sweden

By BRACK CURRY

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — High prosperity and full employment are what you find in Sweden today. But there is creeping inflation, too, and the nation is gripped by fear that the good time it has enjoyed since World War II may be replaced by a hard fight for economic survival.

For prosperous Sweden faces the prospect that it may be isolated from the booming European community developing from the Common Market. This could lead to a political and economic crisis here.

What will happen if this nation of 7½ million is excluded from the six-nation Common Market which may eventually embrace Britain and other countries?

Heartsearching questions and comments come from steel and farm workers and from bankers and industrialists reflecting the acute concern of Swedes over this prospect.

"Will there be a crisis and will I lose my job?"

"Many small industries will be killed off and the big industries will be hard hit."

"Sweden will be squeezed in the middle. Norway and Denmark will be trading with the West and Finland has heavy trade with the East. We'll be caught in the middle."

"Our living standard depends on our exports. Sweden will be weakened if it cannot play a part in the development of the continent."

"If Sweden is kept out of the Common Market, fruitful nordic cooperation, which has been developing since the end of World War II, might come to an abrupt end. We would face a lonely future."

Sweden, like neutral Austria and Switzerland, is seeking association with the Common Market. But there is opposition, because these countries are politically neutral. There is some concern in West Europe that any such association would dilute the political aspects of the Treaty of Rome, the charter of the Common Market.

Some West European leaders insist the neutrals cannot have it both ways: they cannot benefit from economic integration without accepting the drastic limitations accepted by the other Common Market partners to sovereignty in commerce.

So the outlook for the three neutrals to win associate membership in the Common Market is doubtful. Sweden thus faces the prospect of isolation from the economic community that may one day embrace close to 300 million persons.

A flourishing foreign trade is vital to Sweden. In proportion to population, Sweden's exchange of goods with other countries is among the world's highest. About a fifth of its total production is exported. This country's high degree of industrialization and steady economic progress make heavy imports essential. These can be maintained only by exports. Sweden must maintain or improve its competitive position in world trade—or face serious economic difficulties.

But if Sweden is left outside the Common Market, its industries will face higher tariffs on a large part of their exports. For example, about 40 per cent of Sweden's iron and steel exports go to Common Market nations. Establishment of common tariffs for the market countries means higher duties. Engineering products are a big Swedish export. If these are hampered by higher European tariffs, this will effect the demand for Swedish iron and steel.

Sweden's agriculture similarly would be hit. Nearly 80 per cent of Sweden's exports of agricultural products go to West Europe. The Common Market countries alone take 40 per cent. Within the Common Market, tariffs on agricultural products will be gradually abolished, giving the entire market area a uniform agricultural policy.

PURSUE QUEST

So Sweden will pursue the quest for associate membership in the growing West European trade bloc. But all political parties agree this country will not apply for full membership involving acceptance of political obligations.

Sweden, a neutral since 1815, considers its neutrality the bulwark of peace and political balance in the Nordic area. Premier Tage Erlander's government maintains that any change, however small, of Sweden's present foreign policy might lead to a change of the status quo in Scandinavia. In the government's view this neutrality helps Finland to maintain its delicate position between East and West.

There is no doubt that the Swedes, if they must choose between the Common Market and neutrality, will take neutrality and with it an economic isolation almost as acute as that of this country during World War II. If this happens, one astute observer predicts: "Sweden will become more and more leftist in its domestic policies if a hard fight for economic survival develops outside the Common Market. Big government will become bigger. Huge public works projects probably will become necessary to sustain employment.

"If we are blocked from Europe we'll have to do more business with the East, with Africa, China, South America and the underdeveloped countries. These countries would welcome our steel, our ball bearings and other industrial products. But much of this trade would be on a credit basis and would require government subsidies."

Sweden's cradle-to-the-grave welfare program could be jeopardized. Could the government continue to spend 35 per cent of its income on welfare? Almost everybody in this welfare state gets something. How would the people react to sharp cuts in benefits coupled with unemployment?

One observer says: "We don't know how Swedish youth especially would react to economic reverses and unemployment. Unlike the youth of some other countries, they've never known anything but prosperity. There are jobs now for all, young and old. But what would our youths do if this were no longer the case?"

Economic Pinch Hits Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — "I have never joined a strike in my life, but this time—" said resentful Juan Andres Correa, 24, a clerk in the Argentine law courts.

"This time" should be Aug. 1, when a nationwide 48-hour general strike has been decreed by restive leaders of the powerful General Confederation of Labor (CGT) to emphasize the growing discontent of economically pinched Argentines.

Correa is not a member of the CGT. But his salary has not been paid for more than two months, and his wife has just had a baby. His trouble is minor compared to that of a growing number of workers laid off by metallurgical and textile plants.

Most Argentines—and even seasoned professional politicians are now coming around to believe it—are not too worried about their country's political status, with a president, Jose Maria Guido, who is neither a dictator nor a constitutional ruler, with military leaders suspected of running the whole show.

But they are worried about their money and their salaries and the terrific cost of living by some estimates has rocketed 50 per cent in a year.

The CGT—the once mammoth labor organization of dictator Juan Peron, and which even now boasts three million members—has not been able to stage a truly paralyzing general strike in a year. But this time, the decision to strike at the start of the month seems unanimous.

Two railway unions which did not join past stoppages are ready for it now, and announced they will stage partial strikes next week. They complain, along with some 400,000 other state employees, that their salaries are not paid on time, and that old age pensions are in arrears.

They have paid scant attention to appeals by personable, straight talking Economy Minister Alvaro Alsogaray that a waiting period should be in order to permit Argentina to regain a sound financial position before pressing for salary increases.

Alsogaray is now after help from the United States, through the Alliance for Progress and other means, to bolster Argentine finances. But he has stated again and again that foreign cooperation should only be a supplement to Argentina's own sacrifices and efforts.

His friends say he is deeply worried that, if no foreign help is forthcoming, Argentina's economy and its whole way of living will be at stake.

Metal workers and textile hands, who over the past weeks have staged "symbolic" seizures of plants where some of them had been laid off, have threatened really to occupy factories and run them on their own.

The government responded with a warning that this would be dealt with ruthlessly as sabotage.

But fears persist that, after the Aug. 1 strike, some workers may take matters in their own hands.

Leftist and nationalist leaders—especially Peronist-inspired ones—say Argentina has been sold over to "foreign"—if not plain "Yankee"—imperialism, and to the policies of the International Monetary Fund.

The economic facts of life, mentioned by Alsogaray and other technicians, are that Argentina's production is now lower and more expensive than a decade ago, through mistaken economic policies, including the insistence fostered by ousted dictator Peron that the country should cease to be a farming nation and become an industrialized power.

As factories sprouted in and around Buenos Aires and near other big cities, farmhands abandoned grain-growing and cattle-breeding activities. This hurried the development, Alsogaray contends, was pushed to extremes during the last year that Arturo Frondizi was president, until ousted by a military coup March 29.

But cold economic facts and figures are not satisfying to increasingly restless Argentine workers.

Many in Buenos Aires keep an eye glued to the daily quotations of the dollar. They are dismayed to see it jump from 83 pesos in March to just over 117 this week—with a record 137.5 the week before.

Most do not want to buy dollars. But they do not fail to see that the price of the dollar against the peso closely follows the price of eggs or potatoes, or bus fares.

And they do not have much hope for the political future of the country. Guido's caretaker government has announced elections for some time in 1963. At the same time, it said, no "extremisms" will be tolerated, and this, for a great number of Argentines, means a total ban on Peronist candidates who were deprived of victory in the last partial elections last March.

The only current note is that it should rain and rain. A long dry spell was ended two weeks ago, but more rain in needed for Argentina to grow again bumper grain crops to be sold abroad for foreign currency. If that happened, next year the dollar might go down, and so would prices of foodstuffs.

This might placate the people, but Argentina's future remains bleak until the leaders can resolve the political and economic strife that is strangling one of the hemisphere's major nations.

Live Television Exchange Via Telstar Slated

LONDON (AP)—Europe and the United States will try on Monday to bounce the world's first formal exchange of live television shows off the orbitting satellite Telstar.

British television officials estimated 200 million persons on both sides of the Atlantic would watch the swap.

The European Broadcasting Union said in Geneva each of the east-west programs would last 15 minutes.

The transmission from the United States to Europe is scheduled between 2 and 2:30 p.m., EST. The second part of the program—from Europe to the United States—will follow at about 5 p.m. EST. All three U.S. networks are planning to carry both broadcasts live.

America will aim its program at Telstar on the satellite's 123rd orbit. Europe will beam its contribution at the Telstar on its 124th orbit.

Europeans are expected to see part of President Kennedy's news conference and a concert by the 350-voice Morman Tabernacle choir on South Dakota's Mt. Rushmore.

The British Broadcasting Corporation's ace commentator, Richard Dimbleby, will be master of ceremonies for the European side.

SMOKE IS SYMBOLIC of the amount of work that is now in progress on the Aswan Dam in Egypt. When completed it will be the realization of a dream by an Egyptian Pharaoh, who sought ways of harnessing the mighty Nile river.

A PHARAOH'S DREAM

Work Progresses On Aswan Dam

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

ASWAN, U.A.R. (AP) — Four thousand years ago, a pharaoh named Amen Mem Hast dreamed of harnessing the mighty Nile River to bring prosperity to the peasants of Egypt.

Today, a swarm of 7,500 Egyptians and 570 sweating Russian technicians are blasting and digging their way through a forbidding desert of granite to realize that ancient dream.

This is the Aswan Dam, 16 times bigger than Egypt's Great Pyramid and the proud showpiece of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's socialist revolution, which celebrates its 10th anniversary Monday.

NO CONSTRUCTION

Up to now, 2½ years after Nasser set off the first dynamite blast, no construction blocks the sweeping current here, 450 miles south of Cairo. But nightly on the east bank, when the heat drops from its daytime temperature of 120 degrees, lights flare across the desert and growling Soviet power shovels chew 1,600 tons of rock from the granite cliffs.

The digging is for a mile-long bypass canal. When this is complete, with tunnels for 12 giant electric turbines, two cofferdams will be erected and work on the main dam begun. Target date for finishing this wall, rising 340 feet from the sandy riverbed, is 1968.

Cost of the project is $1,162,000,000. The Russians are putting up $324 million.

Most of the Russians come on at sundown and work through the night. The dayshifts do the dynamiting and overhaul machinery.

"Five months ago we were behind schedule because of faults in the equipment," said Ibrahim Zaki, American-trained engineer who is deputy director of the project.

"Now these problems are solved and we have caught up," said Zaki, a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Soviet boring rigs were designed specially for Aswan. But Egyptians say much of the equipment was cold weather machinery and that broke down in the heat, until alterations were made. One engineer called it "big and bulky, like everything Russian, but good."

Quietly, the Russians complain that untrained Egyptian workers slow up the job. The crew of about 150 Egyptian engineers however, is enthusiastic and capable.

The overwhelming size of the project can be seen from the 300-foot cliffs on the river bank. Against an endless desert of sand and granite, 25-ton trucks or electric shovels that bite off chunks the size of an American sedan look like toys.

The dam is to give Egypt an additional million acres of farmland and provide cheap electricity for industry. So great will be the results, the government claims, that the project will earn its cost in two years.

But experts question whether it will bring prosperity. They point out that Egypt's burgeoning population, unless checked, may eat up the dam's benefits, and more.

In Aswan itself, a dusty town where gull-like felucca boats glide past the eucalyptus trees and the Aga Khan's tomb, changes are already apparent. Population has almost doubled—to 50,000—in 10 years.

Many of the dam workers are living in new houses at the site—soon to have a swimming pool—and earning 70 cents a day, considered good wages here. Schools, clinics and a new mosque are going up. Shiny buses honk past scores of new three-story apartment blocks.

The new German-built Kima factory, producing a half-million tons a year, has made Egypt almost self-sufficient in chemical fertilizer. A Swiss-Swedish hydro plant feeds electricity to Kima and the dam site, four miles upriver.

These developments prompt the government to call Aswan "an Arab Pittsburgh," though much of the town is still mud brick hovels, lit by kerosene.

Millionaires who made Aswan a fashionable winter resort in the 19th century have given way to shirt-sleeved engineers and Russian women with string shopping bags on their arms.

"The Russians," said one dam official, "keep to themselves, and so do we. They are quiet people. They never talk politics—perhaps they've been ordered not to."

MAN'S $ VALUE SHOWS INCREASE

Occasionally in the life insurance business we hear one of our prospects make the ridiculous statement — "I'm worth more dead than alive." Although it is usually said in a joking manner, many people seem to have a very distorted idea as to how much their present life insurance would offset their potential earning power.

According to figures computed from Government data by the Institute of Life Insurance the indication is that the prospective lifetime income of the average American man just starting out on his career, based on current income and survival rates, is now a cool $200,000—half again as great as it was a decade ago.

Broken down according to the amount of formal education workers have had, lifetime income prospects vary considerably. According to the 1958 data, the latest available, the lifetime income prospect for the average man whose education ends in grade school is $178,000. The comparable figure was $116,000 in 1949.

Graduation from high school adds significantly to earning capacity. A high school diploma now brings with it a prospective lifetime income of $243,000, again based on 1958 statistics, compared to $165,000 for high school graduates in 1949.

When it comes to higher education, a college degree adds another $100,000 and more to the average American's prospective earning power in the course of his lifetime. During his career the man with four years or more of college can hope to earn $347,000, according to the 1958 figures. That compares with $268,000, computed from 1949 data.

If you think you're worth more dead than alive, take your annual income and multiply it by your life expectancy. Compare this result with the amount of life insurance you're carrying. It will shock you!

The overwhelming size of the project can be seen from the 300-foot cliffs on the river bank. Against an endless desert of sand and granite, 25-ton trucks or electric shovels that bite off chunks the size of an American sedan look like toys.

The dam is to give Egypt an additional million acres of farmland and provide cheap electricity for industry. So great will be the results, the government claims, that the project will earn its cost in two years.

But experts question whether it will bring prosperity. They point out that Egypt's burgeoning population, unless checked, may eat up the dam's benefits, and more.

In Aswan itself, a dusty town where gull-like felucca boats glide past the eucalyptus trees and the Aga Khan's tomb, changes are already apparent. Population has almost doubled—to 50,000—in 10 years.

Many of the dam workers are living in new houses at the site—soon to have a swimming pool—and earning 70 cents a day, considered good wages here. Schools, clinics and a new mosque are going up. Shiny buses honk past scores of new three-story apartment blocks.

The new German-built Kima factory, producing a half-million tons a year, has made Egypt almost self-sufficient in chemical fertilizer. A Swiss-Swedish hydro plant feeds electricity to Kima and the dam site, four miles up-river.

These developments prompt the government to call Aswan "an Arab Pittsburgh," though much of the town is still mud brick hovels, lit by kerosene.

Millionaires who made Aswan a fashionable winter resort in the 19th century have given way to shirt-sleeved engineers and Russian women with string shopping bags on their arms.

"The Russians," said one dam official, "keep to themselves, and so do we. They are quiet people. They never talk politics—perhaps they've been ordered not to.

MAN'S $ VALUE SHOWS INCREASE

Occasionally in the life insurance business we hear one of our prospects make the ridiculous statement — "I'm worth more dead than alive." Although it is usually said in a joking manner, many people seem to have a very distorted idea as to how much their present life insurance would offset their potential earning power.

According to figures computed from Government data by the Institute of Life Insurance the indication is that the prospective lifetime income of the average American man just starting out on his career, based on current income and survival rates, is now a cool $200,000—half again as great as it was a decade ago.

Broken down according to the amount of formal education workers have had, lifetime income prospects vary considerably. According to the 1958 data, the latest available, the lifetime income prospect for the average man whose education ends in grade school is $178,000. The comparable figure was $116,000 in 1949.

Graduation from high school adds significantly to earning capacity. A high school diploma now brings with it a prospective lifetime income of $243,000, again based on 1958 statistics, compared to $165,000 for high school graduates in 1949.

When it comes to higher education, a college degree adds another $100,000 and more to the average American's prospective earning power in the course of his lifetime. During his career the man with four years or more of college can hope to earn $347,000, according to the 1958 figures. That compares with $268,000, computed from 1949 data.

If you think you're worth more dead than alive, take your annual income and multiply it by your life expectancy. Compare this result with the amount of life insurance you're carrying. It will shock you!

GLITTERING CARACAS

Squalor Mocks Wealthy City

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A belt of a squalor and misery mocks the modern glitter of this fantastically wealthy city, the capital of the world's biggest oil exporting nation.

More than 368,880 illiterates of mostly Indian blood—many half-starved and half-clothed—exist in battered shacks called ranchos.

Ranchos fester on surrounding hills like rubbish piles, in ravines which cross through the city, or in the most plush residential areas.

Some of the younger rancho children run naked in the dusty settlements. Older ones shine shoes or beg on the busy downtown boulevards.

Rancho dwellers make up a quarter of the Caracas population but most came from the interior region near the Andes Mountains.

City officials say thousands more come each year, seeking jobs or an easier way of life in the big city, despite admonitions of the government to stay where they are.

"But it's easy to build a rancho," said one official. "You can pick a scrap pile and get discarded corrugated metal sheets for the roof, blocks for furniture and box wood for walls."

Heating is no problem in tropical Caracas and rancho people keep the tin roofs intact, despite torrential rains, by piling rocks on the top.

Caracas city government to build 65,000 living quarters. More than 8,000 are scheduled to be built during the first year along with sewage and other facilities.

Antonio Cruz Fernandez, director of the Municipal Office of Urban Planning, says it is not a complete solution, however.

"We're conscious of the errors committed in the past with emergency programs. The people must have jobs and pay for their homes if they are to mean anything. Paternalism will not work," he said.

Fernandez said national unemployment must be cured and that agrarian reform and industrialization programs must be the final answer.

More ingenious rancho veterans tap power lines to have free electric lighting.

A rancho mother of seven showed a reporter her one-room dirt-floor shack. She made coffee on an ancient but clean kerosene stove. Where was her husband?

"He left before Juan Jose there was born," she answered.

A priest who works in the barrios told a reporter that families, as they are known elsewhere, scarcely exist.

Recently an Alliance for Progress program was announced with the goal of eliminating the ranchos by 1975. More than $210 million will be spent through the

No Television Planned For South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Telstar satellite achievement has provoked new grumblings from press and public here that South Africa still has no television of any kind while far less developed African countries do.

The latest word from Communications Minister Dr. Albert Hertzog is that television is "too expensive" to be inaugurated here.

Dr. Hertzog told Parliament not long ago that he had a low opinion of the "blood and thunder entertainment that comes through that piece of glass" and that he feared the effects of such entertainment on South Africa's white youth—not to speak of the majority non-white population.

Typical of the new protests was an editorial in the English-language Johannesburg Rand Daily Mail, which said:

"There is no doubt that the television beamed across the Atlantic by Telstar marks a new era in communications.

"And international television has arrived. How does South Africa stand in relation to such an achievement? Dr. Hertzog has stubbornly turned his back on the introduction of any form of television in this country. Perhaps that did not matter so much while it remained a domestic affair. But can South Africa afford to keep aloof when television becomes international? Can it afford further to emphasize its isolation by cutting itself off from what must become a world form of communication and culture? Or will the Dr. Herzogs of South Africa stick their heads in the sand and pretend there ain't no such thing?"

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

New Work Said Very Exciting

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

"Window on the Square" is the title of an exciting new novel of suspense written by Phyllis A. Whitney. The time is New York in the 1870's and the setting is a gloomy house on Washington Square. This is the story of Megan Kincaid, a young governess and of the forces of evil with which she has to cope. It is a book which holds the readers interest from the beginning to the end and one that you will not want to miss. Ruth Moore has written a very fine novel with the setting in a Maine coastal town. In this book we get the picture of an entire community and of the people who live there. This is the story of Amos Wilkinson and his family who present a variety of characters and the Randall family. Amos Wilkinson wants to ruin the town and Randall wants to save it. Violence and hate, death and disaster are all here and combined with a realistic setting and interesting characters make a story that you will not soon forget.

Harry Golan has a large following of readers, although his third book "Enjoy, Enjoy" is not as good as the first ones "Only in America" and "For 2c Plain". His fourth book "You're Entitle" has just been received. It follows the same pattern as the others. His constant readers may want this and again they may be tired, however the library does have copies available if you are interested.

An interesting event from a literary standpoint is a new edition of the "Anglo - Saxon Chronicle" edited by Dorothy Whitelock. This is the first English history and a new edition has long been needed.

A very fine new autobiography is "Out of Step" by Frank Chodorov. The author describes himself as an individualist and he certainly seems to be one. A valuable book for students who are needing scholarships, fellowships or loans in order to complete their education will want to examine a new book which gives sources for these grants. It was written by Dr. S. Norman Feingold and is a very valuable addition to the reference collection.

A very fine new book of biographical sketches is "Gentlemen of Virginia" by Marshall W. Fishwick. This book contains chapters dealing with outstanding Virginians of all periods and is extremely well-written. Those interested in the space age will want to read "American on the Moon; The Enterprise of the Sixties" which gives a graphic and detailed account of how America plans to conquer the moon.

Do you want to keep abreast of what is going on in the world today? The American Library Association and the Carnegie Corporation are sponsoring a series of reading guides called "Reading For An Age of Change." This first one "Space Science" has just been released. Copies may be obtained at any branch of the library. This is a valuable little booklet and even if you do not want to follow the suggested reading list, you can learn a great deal from following the book. It is well worth the small fee which the library will have to charge for the booklet.

The month of June was the busiest one in the history of the library. July has shown no sign of slacking off. We are delighted that the people of the parish are using the library resources and if you are not using them we invite you to do so.

TRAVELING AROUND

Lots Of Kicks Along Route 66

United Press International

It would be hard to find another stretch of highway in the world so typical of a nation's tastes, quirks, amusements, scenery and heritage as U. S. Route 66.

Along this 2,200-mile great circle route from Chicago to Los Angeles you can see the world's largest hole in the ground — Grand Canyon in Arizona.

You can see the American buffalo on the hoof.

You can observe or take part in the gambling operations of Las Vegas, Nev.

And in Stanton, Mo., guided tours now take the visitor through desperado Jesse James' hideout deep in the Meramec Caverns.

The American penchant for reliving the past is manifest at Frontier City, near Oklahoma City, and a complete repository of the American imagination — past, present and future — has mushroomed from a movie cartoon factory into California's own Disneyland.

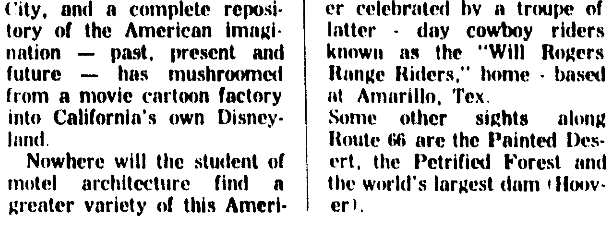
Nowhere will the student of motel architecture find a greater variety of this American contribution to inn-keeping than on U. S. 66.

You will see more (and better dressed) cowboys in Tulsa and Albuquerque than ever roamed the range in the Old West and many American Indians in New Mexico and Arizona. At Red Rock, near Gallup, N. M., is the site of a proposed memorial to the original Americans.

The Old West is further documented at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Oklahoma City. There are modern 'ghost towns" such as the "Gold Mine" ghost town at Buena Park, Calif., and "Calico," at Barstow, Calif.

A typical style of American humor receives its due in the Will Rogers Memorial at Claremore, Okla. The gum-chewing cowboy wit is further celebrated by a troupe of latter - day cowboy riders known as the "Will Rogers Range Riders," home - based at Amarillo, Tex.

Some other sights along Route 66 are the Painted Desert, the Petrified Forest and the world's largest dam (Hoover).



CONCERT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The beauties of Joan Sutherland's singing of the role of Gilda in Verdi's "Rigoletto" approach the incredible. Her vocal riches are reinforced by every technical strategem known to the prima donna yet the total effect is one of simple naturalness. You're made to believe it is in life for young women to express themselves in coloratura.

Miss Sutherland is the star of this new recording of "Rigoletto," of course, in view of her fresh fame. But it is an all-star cast actually, with Cornell MacNeil as the jester, Renato Cion as the Duke and Cesare Siepi as Sparafucile. Nino Sanzogno conducted this sensitive and telling performance with the orchestra and chorus of Saint Cecilia Academy of Rome (London-OSA1332.)

Another candidate for enthusiasm is a recording of Johann Strauss' "The Gypsy Baron" with Hilde Gueden, Karl Terkal, Erich Kunz and Anneliese Rithenberger in the principal roles and Heinrich Hollreiser conducting the Vienna Philharmonic and the choral resources of the Vienna State Opera (Angel-3612).

These are singers and players for whom the difficult and sometimes subtle nuances of the Viennese operetta are as natural as breathing.

The new conductor of the Boston Symphony, Erich Leinsdorf is displaying both his knowledge of orchestral dynamics and his keen sense of Wagnerian aesthetics in a recording of the "Prelude and Love Death" of "Tristan and Isolde" and Richard Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration." The recorded sounds are as gorgeous as the interpretations (Capitol-SP8580).

It is interesting to see what venerable Leopold Stokowski chose when he came to record music for chorus and orchestra under the title, "Inspiration." He chose Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling" and "Deep River." There also is the "Evening Prayer" from the opera "Hansel and Gretel" along with Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." There are other contrasts equally broad. Stokowski recorded them with high dramatic effectiveness, using an English chorus and orchestra (RCA Victor-LSC2593).

POPULAR

NEW YORK (UPI) — Boris Karloff has been a bogeyman so many years that it is difficult to hear him cast in a kind role.

Actually Karloff has an assuring and pleasant voice. A few years ago he made an excellent recording of "Peter and the Wolf." Now he may be heard in "The Cat That Walked by Herself" (Caedmon TC1139). This recording also includes "The Butterfly That Stamped" and "How the First Letter Was Written," all "Just So" stories by Rudyard Kipling.

The very small child may not grasp these stories but elementary and high school students will find this record a pleasant means of hearing good literature and grownups should enjoy it too.

Popularity of the spoken word record has made it possible for top authorities to bring valuable instruction into the home. For instance, "Lecture on 'Directing a Play' " by Tyrone Guthrie (Folkways FL 9840.)

Guthrie delivered this lecture at the West Side YMCA in New York. It was taped by a radio station and broadcast. Norman J. King of UPI, a research assistant, heard the tape and convinced Folkways this would make a valuable addition to its remarkable catalog of records.

Eli Wallach, one of Broadway's finest actors, narrates "Christ In Concrete" (Da Vinci D205) with unusual feeling in another fine spoken word record.

There are many voices on this reading from Pietro Di-Donato's novel and all of them are Wallach's. Harold Seletsky's musical background enables Wallach to achieve startling realism.

Selected Singles — "Boy Child" by Sonny Martin (Philips 40026), "The Call of Summer" by The Crosby Brothers (Dot 16370), "America" by the Arthur Lyman Group (HiFiRecord H-5057), "Tell Tale" by Anita and Th' So-and-So's (RCA Victor 47-8050), "It Scares Me" by Ferlin Husky (Capitol 4779), "One Little World Apart" by the J's with Jamie (Columbia 4-42488), "The Land of No Love" by Sheb Wooley (M-G-M K13079).

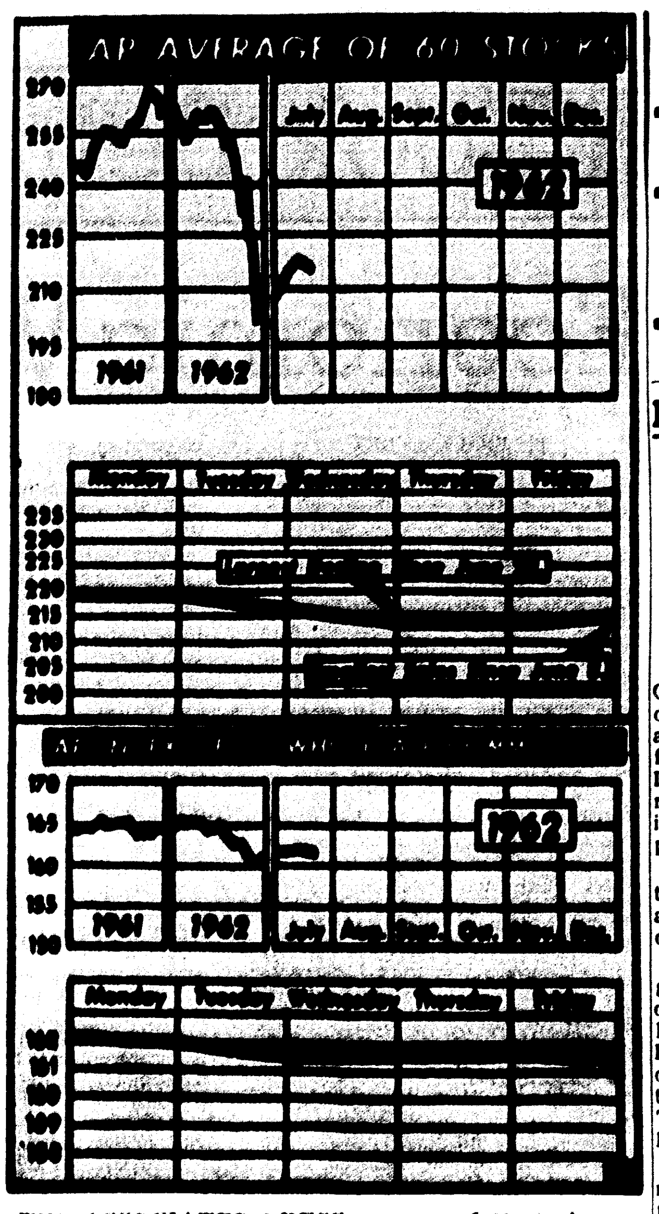
THE LANE of ETERNAL STABILITY, by K. C. Wu (Crown $4.95): A historical novel of China from the Boxer rebellion to the Communist take - over. Dr. Wu, former governor of Taiwan and ex mayor of Chung king and Shanghai traces the fortunes of the Lane of Eternal Stability in the mythical city of Yi — a few Chinese families and an American missionary. All were involved in the anti-foreigner uprising of 1900, the Sun Yat-sen revolution, the war with Japan and the rise of communism. It is a tale of endless intrigue and horror that drives home the stark reality of the era more effectively than mere recitation of the facts of modern Chinese history. Wu lived through most of it and is well qualified to tell the sordid story.

AUTHOR! AUTHOR!, by P. G. Wodehouse (Simon and Schuster $4.50):

Few 20th-century authors have been as prolific as British humorist Wodehouse (65 books, a number of screenplays and lyrics for numerous Broadway and London musicals), and few have been as successful in their chosen media. "Author! Author!" presents a new aspect of Wodehouse, and contains instructions that should enable any writer to equal his success — provided that is, he can equal his talent. This is a collection of letters written over 40 years to W. Townsend, also an author, whose acquaintance with Wodehouse dates to school days. Part autobiography, part literary lecture, this collection covers a lot of living and a variety of moods, but it rarely finds the writer really depressed or unable to laugh at himself

THE GOLDEN RENDEZVOUS, by Alistair MacLean (Doubleday $3.95). It was inevitable that the hijacking of the Portuguese liner Santa Maria should move someone to fiction, and fortunate that the man it moved was that old master, Alstair MacLean. He sticks fairly close to history in describing the seizure of a luxury liner by 40 - odd tommy - gunners. From there on, though, his imagination in his guide. Unlike the historic hijackers, MacLean's men are no crowd of foggily idealistic Latins who don't know what to do with the ship once they've got it they are ruthless killers and they have carefully laid plans pointing toward a $150 - million payoff. Unfortunately for their dedesigns, the chief officer of the hijacked liner Campari is John Carter, the kind of a good man you can't keep down even by pumping three tommygun slugs into his leg. It is MacLean's particular gift that he can put nerve-tearing obstacles in his hero's way without making his surmounting of them seem too incredible, and that his careful handling of subordinate detail makes his stories chillingly convincing.

A GUIDE TO STUDY ABROAD, by Dr. Walter Adams and Dr. John A. Garraty (Channel Press, Manhasset, N. Y.) There are many words of advice in this handbook for students and teachers who plan to study in Europe, Latin America, or the Near or Far East. But of all of them, the most heavily emphasized is that American students must do a great deal of "home work" before departure. "Everywhere abroad," the authors say, "American students report they are called upon to explain and defend American foreign policy and American institutions. Alas, far too often they are unable to do so."



THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks registered its first decline in a month when it closed Friday at 215.4 from 219.8 a week ago. Led by food, the commodity index declined for the first time in three weeks, closing today at 161.5 from 162.1 in the perceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

10-YEAR LOW FEARED

Domestic Drilling Lags For Oil, Gas

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Domestic oil and gas drilling operations are lagging again.

There is fear within the industry 1962 may drop below 1961 when the total wells drilled was the lowest since 1952.

Mid-year totals for 1962 were below the 1961 level, both for development wells and for the exploratory wells in unproven areas.

Domestic operators drilled 22,463 wells the first six months of the year, compared to 22,778 the same 1961 period. The operations included 4,348 wildcats, compared to 4,409 a year earlier.

The first two weeks on July indicated a July 14 total of 24,366 wells drilled, compared to 24,529 a year earlier.

Operators had cut the 1962 deficit into half in just two weeks.

A total of 46,725 wells were drilled in the United States last year, including 9,050 wildcats. For total wells, it was the poorest year since 45,895 were drilled in 1952. For wildcats, it was the lowest since 8,554 were drilled in 1950.

Domestic drilling operations climbed almost annually until they reached a record level in 1956 when 58,259 wells included 13,034 wildcats.

That was the year in which a Middle East emergency saw bombs close the Suez Canal. Domestic production jumped to an all-time high during the emergency but fell sharply after the Suez reopened.

Problems of oversupply have plagued the domestic industry ever since the rapid 1956-57 build up.

The downward trend in drilling operations has accompanied the problems of oversupply and resulting sluggish prices for both crude and petroleum products.

Most 1962 forecasts indicated about 750 more wells would be drilled this year than in 1961. The mid-year totals indicate this will be difficult to attain.

One of the brightest spots in the 1962 drilling operations is California, which recently was replaced by Louisiana as the second leading oil producing state.

California operators drilled 1,275 wells the first six months of the year compared to 811 the same 1961 period. Wildcats were down slightly, 133 to 135.

Louisiana drilled 2,090 new wells, compared to 1,871 a year earlier. A total of 332 wells had been drilled in the offshore area, compared to 289. Louisiana wildcats also were up, both inland and offshore.

Texas operators included 1,661 wildcats among the 7,453 wells they drilled the first half of the year. The comparative 1961 figures were 7,262 and 1,477.

Other states showing first half increases in total wells were Colorado, Illinois, Kentucky, Montana, Ohio, and Utah.

Apache Wildcat Extends Rodney Oil Field 1 Mile

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Apache Corp completed a Jefferson County wildcat last week, the Noble-Emanuel No. 1, sec. 18-10n-1w, as a mile extension to the Rodney Field.

The well tested 2,100,000 cubic feet of gas and 222 barrels of condensate a day from perforations in the lower Tuscaloosa formation at 9,505-21 feet.

Gravity of the condensate was 56 degrees with tubing pressure 2,875.

In Adams County, Calto-Gulmon were preparing to run production tests at a wildcat, the No. 3 Drane, sec. 58-5n-1w, located a mile south of the Deerfield Field. Operators set production casing to test in a Wilcox sand at 6,701-05 feet.

In Wayne County, Chismor Oil Co. near completion of a wildcat, the Wausau No. 1, sec. 28-8n-9w, as a dual completion. The new find was reported to have encountered over 150 feet of oil sand in several different zones.

Operators were completing it from a sand at 11,184-98 feet and it was testing 324 barrels of oil per day.

The second completion interval was at 10,908-30 feet which is reported to have tested over 300 barrels per day.

The new discovery is four miles northwest of the Thompson Creek oil field and about 13 miles southwest of Waynesboro.

In the Black Warrior basin area of Mississippi, Pure Oil Co. abandoned a Kenyer County wildcat, the Henry No. 1, sec. 15-12n-15e, after operators were unable to free stuck drill pipe.

In the Satartia area of Yazoo County, Larco Drilling Co. was below 3,800 feet in a wildcat, the Anderson No. 1, sec. 29-10n-4w, a scheduled 10,400 foot test.

Field drilling the past week brought four new oilers and one gas well.

Socony Mobil Oil Co. finaled the Drane No. 7, sec. 20-5n-1w, Deerfield Field of Adams County, which pumped 97 barrels of oil per day from a Wilcox sand at 6,713-16 feet.

At Dexter in Walthall County, Chesley Pruet completed the Bozeman No. 1, sec. 3-1n-12e, which flowed 110 barrels per day from a sand in the Tuscaloosa formation at 9,662-77 feet.

In the Yellow Creek field in Wayne County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. completed the mineral fee No. 1, sec. 18-9n-7w, as a triple completion. A sand at 7,464-80 feet flowed 180 barrels per day and a sand at 11,020-37 feet flowed 264 barrels daily. The third zone at 11,870-90 feet flowed 288 barrels per day.

Humble completed the Farmer No. 2, sec. 3-9n-1w, in the Bentonia Field of Yazoo County from the Tuscaloosa zone at 7,059-64 feet, which flowed 86 barrels per day. A sand at 10,128-36 feet completed in the well last month flowed 282 barrels daily.

In the Okolona Field of Monroe County, Southern States Oil Co. completed the Okolona unit No. 29-7, sec. 29-12s-6c, which flowed 2,516,000 cubic feet of gas per day from a sand at 1,994-2,027 feet.

Grain Indicate Bearish Trend

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market was influenced largely last week by evening up of speculative positions in the expiring July contract which set a generally bearish trend.

At the end of the week, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to 1⅛ lower, July $2.12-13¼; corn ¼-1¼ lower, July $108.¾-09⅛; oats 2-4⅛ lower, July 63-61½, rye ⅞-7¾ lower, July $1.20½-18; soybeans 5½ higher to 1⅝ lower, July $2.57-55.

Only July soybeans finished with an advance. It was broad and ranged to 5½ cents a bushel on a late flurry of short covering which found offerings in the pit very scant.

Business Reports Are Uninspiring

IN MONROE DISTRICT

23 Area Oil Rigs Listed As Active

Drilling in the Monroe Oil & Gas District surged to new peaks during the week just passed, with a total of 10 producers finalled in five of the 14 parishes covered. It was the most active week in recent months and included staking of 21 new locations in seven parishes.

A total of 23 rigs, spotted throughout eight northeast Louisiana parishes, were listed actively drilling or testing at week's end.

District reports through Manager Duncan S. Cook showed a pair of gas completions in Ouachita Parish, both in the Monroe Field. Both were relatively shallow wells drilled by United Carbon Company to 2257 and 2400 feet respectively. They were the H. M. McGuire Nos. 3 and 4.

LaSalle Parish reported twice as many completions, at four, with three located in the Tullos - Urania Field, and two in the Monroe and one in the West Searcy. Tensas Parish had a pair in the Buckhorn Field and Catahoula and Concordia Parishes recorded finals in the Willow Lake and Roseland Fields, respectively, one each.

Ouachita was the pacesetter in new locations with an even half dozen, all in the Monroe Field for gas starts, followed closely by Catahoula Parish with five stakings. Other new activity was found in LaSalle Parish, four new locations, Tensas Parish, three, and Union, Winn and Concordia Parishes, with one new location each.

In active wells, Ouachita Parish had but one, D. J. Simmons' Union No. 26, drilling in the Monroe Field, while Tensas Parish led the field. Tensas reported nine wells drilling or testing, including five in the Buckhorn Field, three wildcats and a single site in the West Newlight Field. Other activity saw three wells working in Catahoula Parish, two in Concordia, five in LaSalle, and one each in Franklin, Union and Richland Parishes.

There was one re - completion, that in LaSalle Parish, the Nebo Hemphill Field, being the Placid Oil Company's J. B. Wright No. 1. It was at 4085 feet.

A dozen wells were plugged and abandoned over the week, forcing the figure on inactive sites upwards to 132, but locations dotting the area numbered 75.

A total of 35 rigs were drilling.

More completely, Cook's listing on completions, new locations and active rigs looked this way.

Income Tax Cut Remains Big Question

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Painted with generally uninspiring business reports, a spotty economic picture emerged during the week.

Comments about the outlook by two key government officials were cautious.

And above all hung the question of whether President Kennedy will ask Congress for an across-the-board income tax reduction to pump additional money into the economic stream.

A three-week advance by the stock market was interrupted, and some experts put part of the blame on the slowdown apparent in the new business statistics.

While personal income and industrial production advanced to record highs in June, the income gain was only half as big as in May and the output increase was slight.

The monthly report of the Federal Reserve Board showed these adverse developments:

An 8 per cent decrease in automobile production, mainly due to a strike at a Ford Motor Co. plant; an 8 per cent drop in iron and steel production; a decline of 2 per cent in retail sales; an increase of one-tenth of 1 per cent in unemployment.

The Commerce Department reported new factory orders for durable goods dropped in June for the fifth consecutive month, showing a 3.5 per cent decline from June.

New private housing starts in June were off 11 per cent from May.

Rosier developments included increases in production of television sets, furniture, some consumer staples, and commercial and farm machinery; generally stable commodity prices; a record annual level of $63 billion for residential, commercial and industrial construction.

Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told the House Banking Committee that perhaps the economy has reached a pause but there is no recession.

"There is a lot of pessimism in various quarters but that pessimism isn't warranted as yet by the figures," he said.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

New Work Said Very Exciting

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

"Window on the Square" is the title of an exciting new novel of suspense written by Phyllis A. Whitney. The time is New York in the 1870's and the setting is a gloomy house on Washington Square. This is the story of Megan Kincaid, a young governess and of the forces of evil with which she has to cope. It is a book which holds the readers interest from the beginning to the end and one that you will not want to miss. Ruth Moore has written a very fine novel with the setting in a Maine coastal town. In this book we get the picture of an entire community and of the people who live there. This is the story of Amos Wilkinson and his family who present a variety of characters and the Randall family. Amos Wilkinson wants to ruin the town and Randall wants to save it. Violence and hate, death and disaster are all here and combined with a realistic setting and interesting characters make a story that you will not soon forget.

Harry Golan has a large following of readers, although his third book "Enjoy, Enjoy" is not as good as the first ones "Only in America" and "For 2c Plain". His fourth book "You're Entitle" has just been received. It follows the same pattern as the others. His constant readers may want this and again they may be tired, however the library does have copies available if you are interested.

An interesting event from a literary standpoint is a new edition of the "Anglo - Saxon Chronicle" edited by Dorothy Whitelock. This is the first English history and a new edition has long been needed.

A very fine new autobiography is "Out of Step" by Frank Chodorov. The author describes himself as an individualist and he certainly seems to be one. A valuable book for students who are needing scholarships, fellowships or loans in order to complete their education will want to examine a new book which gives sources for these grants. It was written by Dr. S. Norman Feingold and is a very valuable addition to the reference collection.

A very fine new book of biographical sketches is "Gentlemen of Virginia" by Marshall W. Fishwick. This book contains chapters dealing with outstanding Virginians of all periods and is extremely well-written. Those interested in the space age will want to read "American on the Moon; The Enterprise of the Sixties" which gives a graphic and detailed account of how America plans to conquer the moon.

Do you want to keep abreast of what is going on in the world today? The American Library Association and the Carnegie Corporation are sponsoring a series of reading guides called "Reading For An Age of Change." This first one "Space Science" has just been released. Copies may be obtained at any branch of the library. This is a valuable little booklet and even if you do not want to follow the suggested reading list, you can learn a great deal from following the book. It is well worth the small fee which the library will have to charge for the booklet.

The month of June was the busiest one in the history of the library. July has shown no sign of slacking off. We are delighted that the people of the parish are using the library resources and if you are not using them we invite you to do so.

TRAVELING AROUND

Lots Of Kicks Along Route 66

United Press International

It would be hard to find another stretch of highway in the world so typical of a nation's tastes, quirks, amusements, scenery and heritage as U. S. Route 66.

Along this 2,200-mile great circle route from Chicago to Los Angeles you can see the world's largest hole in the ground — Grand Canyon in Arizona.

You can see the American buffalo on the hoof.

You can observe or take part in the gambling operations of Las Vegas, Nev.

And in Stanton, Mo., guided tours now take the visitor through desperado Jesse James' hideout deep in the Meramec Caverns.

The American penchant for reliving the past is manifest at Frontier City, near Oklahoma City, and a complete repository of the American imagination — past, present and future — has mushroomed from a movie cartoon factory into California's own Disneyland.

Nowhere will the student of motel architecture find a greater variety of this American contribution to inn-keeping than on U. S. 66.

You will see more (and better dressed) cowboys in Tulsa and Albuquerque than ever roamed the range in the Old West and many American Indians in New Mexico and Arizona. At Red Rock, near Gallup, N. M., is the site of a proposed memorial to the original Americans.

The Old West is further documented at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Oklahoma City. There are modern 'ghost towns" such as the "Gold Mine" ghost town at Buena Park, Calif., and "Calico," at Barstow, Calif.

A typical style of American humor receives its due in the Will Rogers Memorial at Claremore, Okla. The gum-chewing cowboy wit is further celebrated by a troupe of latter - day cowboy riders known as the "Will Rogers Range Riders," home - based at Amarillo, Tex.

Some other sights along Route 66 are the Painted Desert, the Petrified Forest and the world's largest dam (Hoover).

CONCERT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The beauties of Joan Sutherland's singing of the role of Gilda in Verdi's "Rigoletto" approach the incredible. Her vocal riches are reinforced by every technical strategem known to the prima donna yet the total effect is one of simple naturalness. You're made to believe it is in life for young women to express themselves in coloratura.

Miss Sutherland is the star of this new recording of "Rigoletto," of course, in view of her fresh fame. But it is an all-star cast actually, with Cornell MacNeil as the jester, Renato Cion as the Duke and Cesare Siepi as Sparafucile. Nino Sanzogno conducted this sensitive and telling performance with the orchestra and chorus of Saint Cecilia Academy of Rome (London-OSA1332.)

Another candidate for enthusiasm is a recording of Johann Strauss' "The Gypsy Baron" with Hilde Gueden, Karl Terkal, Erich Kunz and Anneliese Rithenberger in the principal roles and Heinrich Hollreiser conducting the Vienna Philharmonic and the choral resources of the Vienna State Opera (Angel-3612).

These are singers and players for whom the difficult and sometimes subtle nuances of the Viennese operetta are as natural as breathing.

The new conductor of the Boston Symphony, Erich Leinsdorf is displaying both his knowledge of orchestral dynamics and his keen sense of Wagnerian aesthetics in a recording of the "Prelude and Love Death" of "Tristan and Isolde" and Richard Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration." The recorded sounds are as gorgeous as the interpretations (Capitol-SP8580).

It is interesting to see what venerable Leopold Stokowski chose when he came to record music for chorus and orchestra under the title, "Inspiration." He chose Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling" and "Deep River." There also is the "Evening Prayer" from the opera "Hansel and Gretel" along with Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." There are other contrasts equally broad. Stokowski recorded them with high dramatic effectiveness, using an English chorus and orchestra (RCA Victor-LSC2593).

POPULAR

NEW YORK (UPI) — Boris Karloff has been a bogeyman so many years that it is difficult to hear him cast in a kind role.

Actually Karloff has an assuring and pleasant voice. A few years ago he made an excellent recording of "Peter and the Wolf." Now he may be heard in "The Cat That Walked by Herself" (Caedmon TC1139). This recording also includes "The Butterfly That Stamped" and "How the First Letter Was Written," all "Just So" stories by Rudyard Kipling.

The very small child may not grasp these stories but elementary and high school students will find this record a pleasant means of hearing good literature and grownups should enjoy it too.

Popularity of the spoken word record has made it possible for top authorities to bring valuable instruction into the home. For instance, "Lecture on 'Directing a Play' " by Tyrone Guthrie (Folkways FL 9840.)

Guthrie delivered this lecture at the West Side YMCA in New York. It was taped by a radio station and broadcast. Norman J. King of UPI, a research assistant, heard the tape and convinced Folkways this would make a valuable addition to its remarkable catalog of records.

Eli Wallach, one of Broadway's finest actors, narrates "Christ In Concrete" (Da Vinci D205) with unsual feeling in another fine spoken word record.

There are many voices on this reading from Pietro DiDonato's novel and all of them are Wallach's. Harold Seletsky's musical background enables Wallach to achieve startling realism.

Selected Singles — "Boy Child" by Sonny Martin (Philips 40026), "The Call of Summer" by The Crosby Brothers (Dot 16370), "America" by the Arthur Lyman Group (HiFiRecord H-5057), "Tell Tale" by Anita and Th' So-and-So's (RCA Victor 47-8050), "It Scares Me" by Ferlin Husky (Capitol 4779), "One Little World Apart" by the J's with Jamie (Columbia 4-42488), "The Land of No Love" by Sheb Wooley (M-G-M K13079).

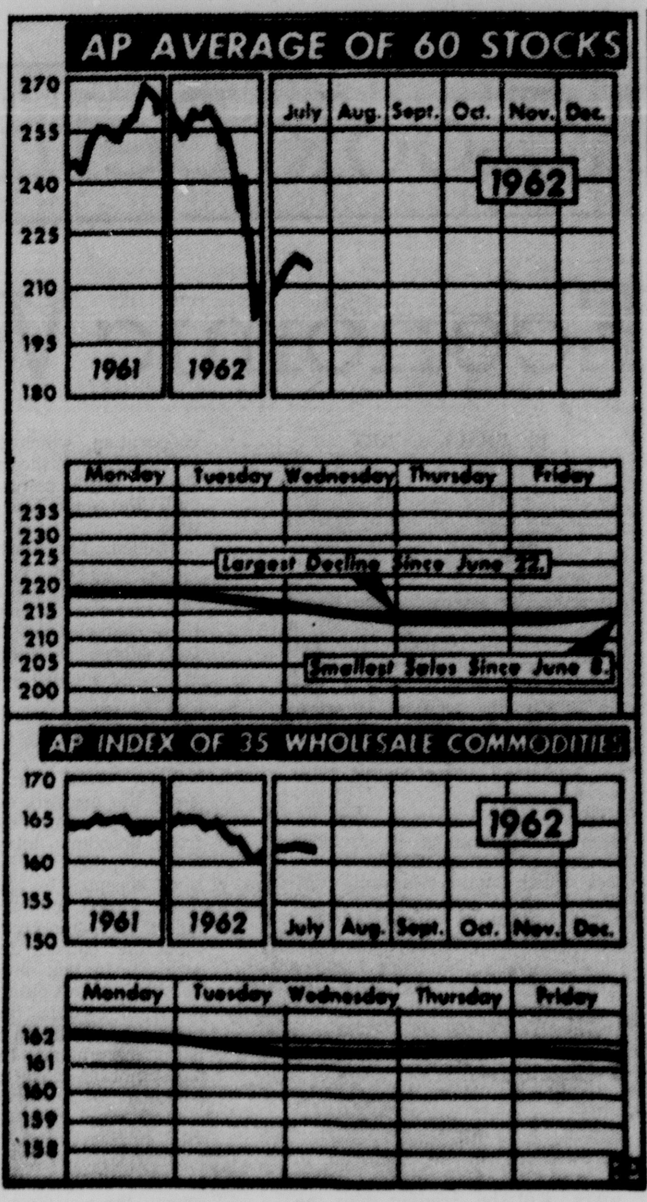
THE LANE of ETERNAL STABILITY, by K. C. Wu (Crown $4.95): A historical novel of China from the Boxer rebellion to the Communist take - over. Dr. Wu, former governor of Taiwan and ex mayor of Chung king and Shanghai traces the fortunes of the Lane of Eternal Stability in the mythical city of Yi — a few Chinese families and an American missionary. All were involved in the anti-foreigner uprising of 1900, the Sun Yat-sen revolution, the war with Japan and the rise of communism. It is a tale of endless intrigue and horror that drives home the stark reality of the era more effectively than mere recitation of the facts of modern Chinese history. Wu lived through most of it and is well qualified to tell the sordid story.

AUTHOR! AUTHOR!, by P. G. Wodehouse (Simon and Schuster $4.50):

Few 20th-century authors have been as prolific as British humorist Wodehouse (65 books, a number of screenplays and lyrics for numerous Broadway and London musicals), and few have been as successful in their chosen media. "Author! Author!" presents a new aspect of Wodehouse, and contains instructions that should enable any writer to equal his success — provided that is, he can equal his talent. This is a collection of letters written over 40 years to W. Townsend, also an author, whose acquaintance with Wodehouse dates to school days. Part autobiography, part literary lecture, this collection covers a lot of living and a variety of moods, but it rarely finds the writer really depressed or unable to laugh at himself.

THE GOLDEN RENDEZVOUS, by Alistair MacLean (Doubleday $3.95). It was inevitable that the hijacking of the Portuguese liner Santa Maria should move someone to fiction, and fortunate that the man it moved was that old master, Alstair MacLean. He sticks fairly close to history in describing the seizure of a luxury liner by 40 - odd tommy - gunners. From there on, though, his imagination in his guide. Unlike the historic hijackers, MacLean's men are no crowd of foggily idealistic Latins who don't know what to do with the ship once they've got it they are ruthless killers and they have carefully laid plans pointing toward a $150 - million payoff. Unfortunately for their dedesigns, the chief officer of the hijacked liner Campari is John Carter, the kind of a good man you can't keep down even by pumping three tommygun slugs into his leg. It is MacLean's particular gift that he can put nerve-tearing obstacles in his hero's way without making his surmounting of them seem too incredible, and that his careful handling of subordinate detail makes his stories chillingly convincing.

A GUIDE TO STUDY ABROAD, by Dr. Walter Adams and Dr. John A. Garraty (Channel Press, Manhasset, N. Y.): There are many words of advice in this handbook for students and teachers who plan to study in Europe, Latin America, or the Near or Far East. But of all of them, the most heavily emphasized is that American students must do a great deal of "home work" before departure. "Everywhere abroad," the authors say, "American students report they are called upon to explain and defend American foreign policy and American institutions. Alas, far too often they are unable to do so."



THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks registered its first decline in a month when it closed Friday at 215.4 from 219.8 a week ago. Led by food, the commodity index declined for the first time in three weeks, closing today at 161.5 from 162.1 in the perceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

10-YEAR LOW FEARED

Domestic Drilling Lags For Oil, Gas

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Domestic oil and gas drilling operations are lagging again.

There is fear within the industry 1962 may drop below 1961 when the total wells drilled was the lowest since 1952.

Mid-year totals for 1962 were below the 1961 level, both for development wells and for the exploratory wells in unproven areas.

Domestic operators drilled 22,463 wells the first six months of the year, compared to 22,778 the same 1961 period. The operations included 4,348 wildcats, compared to 4,409 a year earlier.

The first two weeks on July indicated a July 14 total of 24,366 wells drilled, compared to 24,529 a year earlier.

Operators had cut the 1962 deficit into half in just two weeks.

A total of 46,725 wells were drilled in the United States last year, including 9,050 wildcats. For total wells, it was the poorest year since 45,895 were drilled in 1952. For wildcats, it was the lowest since 8,554 were drilled in 1950.

Domestic drilling operations climbed almost annually until they reached a record level in 1956 when 58,259 wells included 13,034 wildcats.

That was the year in which a Middle East emergency saw bombs close the Suez Canal. Domestic production jumped to an all-time high during the emergency but fell sharply after the Suez reopened.

Problems of oversupply have plagued the domestic industry ever since the rapid 1956-57 build up.

The downward trend in drilling operations has accompanied the problems of oversupply and resulting sluggish prices for both crude and petroleum products.

Most 1962 forecasts indicated about 750 more wells would be drilled this year than in 1961. The mid-year totals indicate this will be difficult to attain.

One of the brightest spots in the 1962 drilling operations is California, which recently was replaced by Louisiana as the second leading oil producing state.

California operators drilled 1,275 wells the first six months of the year compared to 811 the same 1961 period. Wildcats were down slightly, 133 to 135.

Louisiana drilled 2,090 new wells, compared to 1,871 a year earlier. A total of 332 wells had been drilled in the offshore area, compared to 289. Louisiana wildcats also were up, both inland and offshore.

Texas operators included 1,661 wildcats among the 7,453 wells they drilled the first half of the year. The comparative 1961 figures were 7,262 and 1,477.

Other states showing first half increases in total wells were Colorado, Illinois, Kentucky, Montana, Ohio, and Utah.

Apache Wildcat Extends Rodney Oil Field 1 Mile

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Apache Corp. completed a Jefferson County wildcat last week, the Noble-Emanuel No. 1, sec. 18-10n-1w, as a mile extension to the Rodney Field.

The well tested 2,100,000 cubic feet of gas and 222 barrels of condensate a day from perforations in the lower Tuscaloosa formation at 9,505-21 feet.

Gravity of the condensate was 56 degrees with tubing pressure 2,875.

In Adams County, Calto-Gulmon were preparing to run production tests at a wildcat, the No. 3 Drane, sec. 58-5n-1w, located a mile south of the Deerfield Field. Operators set production casing to test in a Wilcox sand at 6,701-05 feet.

In Wayne County, Chismor Oil Co. near completion of a wildcat, the Wausau No. 1, sec. 28-8n-9w, as a dual completion. The new find was reported to have encountered over 150 feet of oil sand in several different zones.

Operators were completing it from a sand at 11,184-98 feet and it was testing 324 barrels of oil per day.

The second completion interval was at 10,908-30 feet which is reported to have tested over 300 barrels per day.

The new discovery is four miles northwest of the Thompson Creek oil field and about 13 miles southwest of Waynesboro.

In the Black Warrior basin area of Mississippi, Pure Oil Co. abandoned a Kenyer County wildcat, the Henry No. 1, sec. 15-12n-15e, after operators were unable to free stuck drill pipe.

In the Satartia area of Yazoo County, Larco Drilling Co. was below 3,800 feet in a wildcat, the Anderson No. 1, sec. 29-10n-4w, a scheduled 10,400 foot test.

Field drilling the past week brought four new oilers and one gas well.

Socony Mobil Oil Co. finaled the Drane No. 7, sec. 20-5n-1w, Deerfield Field of Adams County, which pumped 97 barrels of oil per day from a Wilcox sand at 6,713-16 feet.

At Dexter in Walthall County, Chesley Pruet completed the Bozeman No. 1, sec. 3-1n-12e, which flowed 110 barrels per day from a sand in the Tuscaloosa formation at 9,662-77 feet.

In the Yellow Creek field in Wayne County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. completed the mineral fee No. 1, sec. 18-9n-7w, as a triple completion. A sand at 7,464-80 feet flowed 180 barrels per day and a sand at 11,020-37 feet flowed 264 barrels daily. The third zone at 11,870-90 feet flowed 288 barrels per day.

Humble completed the Farmer No. 2, sec. 3-9n-1w, in the Bentonia Field of Yazoo County from the Tuscaloosa zone at 7,059-64 feet, which flowed 86 barrels per day. A sand at 10,128-36 feet completed in the well last month flowed 282 barrels daily.

In the Okolona Field of Monroe County, Southern States Oil Co. completed the Okolona unit No. 29-7, sec. 29-12s-6e, which flowed 2,516,000 cubic feet of gas per day from a sand at 1,994-2,027 feet.

Grain Indicate Bearish Trend

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market was influenced largely last week by evening up of speculative positions in the expiring July contract which set a generally bearish trend.

At the end of the week, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel higher to 1⅞ lower, July $2.12-13¼; corn ¼-1¼ lower, July $108.¾-09⅛; oats 2-4⅛ lower, July 63-61½, rye ⅞-7¾ lower, July $1.20½-18; soybeans 5½ higher to 1⅝ lower, July $2.57-55.

Only July soybeans finished with an advance. It was broad and ranged to 5½ cents a bushel on a late flurry of short covering which found offerings in the pit very scant.

IN MONROE DISTRICT

23 Area Oil Rigs Listed As Active

Drilling in the Monroe Oil & Gas District surged to new peaks during the week just passed, with a total of 10 producers finalled in five of the 14 parishes covered. It was the most active week in recent months and included staking of 21 new locations in seven parishes.

A total of 23 rigs, spotted throughout eight northeast Louisiana parishes, were listed actively drilling or testing at week's end.

District reports through Manager Duncan S. Cook showed a pair of gas completions in Ouachita Parish, both in the Monroe Field. Both were relatively shallow wells drilled by United Carbon Company to 2257 and 2400 feet respectively. They were the H. M. McGuire Nos. 3 and 4.

LaSalle Parish reported twice as many completions, at four, with three located in the Tullos - Urania Field, and two in the Monroe and one in the West Searcy. Tensas Parish had a pair in the Buckhorn Field and Catahoula and Concordia Parishes recorded finals in the Willow Lake and Roseland Fields, respectively, one each.

Ouachita was the pacesetter in new locations with an even half dozen, all in the Monroe Field for gas starts, followed closely by Catahoula Parish with five stakings. Other new activity was found in LaSalle Parish, four new locations, Tensas Parish, three, and Union, Winn and Concordia Parishes, with one new location each.

In active wells, Ouachita Parish had but one, D. J. Simmons' Union No. 26, drilling in the Monroe Field, while Tensas Parish led the field. Tensas reported nine wells drilling or testing, including five in the Buckhorn Field, three wildcats and a single site in the West Newlight Field. Other activity saw three wells working in Catahoula Parish, two in Concordia, five in LaSalle, and one each in Franklin, Union and Richland Parishes.

There was one re - completion, that in LaSalle Parish, the Nebo Hemphill Field, being the Placid Oil Company's J. B. Wright No. 1. It was at 4085 feet.

A dozen wells were plugged and abandoned over the week, forcing the figure on inactive sites upwards to 132, but locations dotting the area numbered 75.

A total of 35 rigs were drilling.

More completely, Cook's listing on completions, new locations and active rigs looked this way:

Income Tax Cut Remains Big Question

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Painted with generally uninspiring business reports, a spotty economic picture emerged during the week.

Comments about the outlook by two key government officials were cautious.

And above all hung the question of whether President Kennedy will ask Congress for an across-the-board income tax reduction to pump additional money into the economic stream.

A three-week advance by the stock market was interrupted, and some experts put part of the blame on the slowdown apparent in the new business statistics.

While personal income and industrial production advanced to record highs in June, the income gain was only half as big as in May and the output increase was slight.

The monthly report of the Federal Reserve Board showed these adverse developments:

An 8 per cent decrease in automobile production, mainly due to a strike at a Ford Motor Co, plant; an 8 per cent drop in iron and steel production; a decline of 2 per cent in retail sales; an increase of one-tenth of 1 per cent in unemployment.

The Commerce Department reported new factory orders for durable goods dropped in June for the fifth consecutive month, showing a 3.5 per cent decline from June.

New private housing starts in June were off 11 per cent from May.

Rosier developments included increases in production of television sets, furniture, some consumer staples, and commercial and farm machinery; generally stable commodity prices; a record annual level of $63 billion for residential, commercial and industrial construction.

Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told the House Banking Committee that perhaps the economy has reached a pause but there is no recession.

"There is a lot of pessimism in various quarters but that pessimism isn't warranted as yet by the figures," he said.

SABIN VACCINE

Texas Anti-Polio Campaign Begins

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A massive campaign to immunize more than a third of Texas residents against polio begins here Sunday. The drive started after an upsurge in the disease—113 cases this year compared to 30 last year at this time.

The vaccine will be the Sabin form, taken by mouth in sugar cubes.

Doctors say Sabin vaccine protects the individual and keeps him from infecting others. The famous Salk vaccine, taken by hypodermic needle, does not prevent an individual from transmitting the disease to others.

Massive immunization using 720,000 does took place earlier to stop local outbreaks in four Texas cities and towns. Available information shows no cases have occurred in those places after the Sabin vaccine had time to be effective.

The Harris County Medical Society is underwriting the $1 million campaign. The county has noted 15 polio cases so far this year compared with seven all last year.

The Harris County project kicks off a drive in which doctors in at least 25 of the state's 254 counties hope to immunize three and a quarter million persons—more than a third of the state's population—by Aug. 12.

The medical society mobilized 800 doctors and up to 6,000 helpers to help immunize 1.3 million persons at 200 clinics in Harris County.

Three other nearby counties hope to immunize another 125,000 on Sunday. Other counties start their projects later.

The society selected Dr. Jack Hild, a man tragically familiar with the effects of polio, as campaign director. Two of Hild's three children were crippled permanently by polio 14 years ago.

When embarking on a special cleaning project, place a piece of plastic under pails or furniture polish to prevent damages from accidental spills and drippings.

Baby-Sitting Service Fails To Get Okay

HOHOKUS, N.J. (AP) — Two teen-age girls who wanted to run a backyard baby-sitting service in a residential area were turned down Saturday by the zoning board.

"I'm very disappointed," said one of the girls, Betsy Beers, 16, "but I'm glad it's all over." It was at Betsy's home that she and a girl friend, Elizabeth Fouts, 17, wanted to operate the service.

They had been running it for about a dozen youngsters, aged 2 to 5, when Albert F. Goll, next door neighbor to the Beers and chairman of the zoning board, told them it was illegal.

The girls filed an application in the name of Betsy's father, R. F. Beers, for a variance of an ordinance that prohibits the operation of a business in a residential zone.

About a dozen persons spoke in favor of the variance at a packed board meeting last week to consider the matter. The board reserved decision at that time.

EX-GENERAL

Lemnitzer, Taylor To Back Disarmament Says Walker

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker Saturday said President Kennedy's two top choices for military posts will both go along with what the general called plans for U.S. disarmament.

Walker, who resigned from the Army and later testified in a congressional hearing probing alleged military "muzzling," called Gen. Taylor a new frontiersman.

He (Taylor) no doubt has interposed no serious objection to disarming of the U.S. military forces and to placing all our men and weapons under the United Nations. Gen. Walker said in a statement he telephoned from Dallas, Tex., to the Shreveport Times.

Walker's statement [illegible] his reference [illegible]

North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe.

Gen. Norstad was no longer "the pleasant, approachable commander that he had been," said Walker, but had become "pessimistic, vindictive and unapproachable."

No doubt Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, who would have to be in the know regarding the plan for disarmament, can allay the utter confusion and contradiction between the NATO strength objectives and propaganda in the state department's grand program for disarming our armed forces, which are the cause for distrust in allied forces and diplomatic realignment from Berlin to South Viet Nam, Walker said.

Walker and Taylor has been [illegible] for the [illegible] He said [illegible] Gen. Van Fleet [illegible] conference [illegible]

Walker long has claimed that the United States is moving toward placing its military power under United Nations control. Apparently his reference to disarmament was to U.N. control.

Walker was relieved of command of the 24th division in Germany in 1961 and later resigned. His critics said he sought to control votes of his troops and was accused of describing as "definitely pink" such Americans as former President Harry S. Truman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Walker's statement did not detail his reference to disarmament.

Gen. Taylor was named Friday to succeed Gen. Lemnitzer as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Gen. Llemnitzer will become the new U.S. commander in chief in Europe.

Gen. Lemnitzer's appointment was regarded as putting him in line to succeed Gen. Lauris Norstad as supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe.

Gen. Norstad was no longer "the pleasant, approachable commander that he had been," said Walker, but had become "pessimistic, vindictive and unapproachable."

"No doubt, Gen. Lyman L. Walker said Taylor has been known in the service for his "Harvard-type" intellect. He said Taylor replaced Gen. Van Fleet in Korea during the "sell out" at the Pan Panmunjon conference table.

"The choice of a man called back from retirement and groomed by the New Frontier has no doubt caused consternation and questions regarding rank, procedure and purge of the military viewpoint throughout echelon, army, navy and air, to include the junior officers."

Walker long has claimed that the United States is moving toward placing its military power under United Nations control. Apparently, his reference to disarmament was to U.N. control.

Walker was relieved of command of the 24th division in Germany in 1961 and later resigned. Stories On Ness Still Numerous

By ROBERT STACK

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —A question I'm frequently asked is "How many untold Eliot Ness stories are left?"

Actually, the potential of "Untouchables" yarns has scarcely been tapped. The era is so colorful that writers with imagination can, through researching newspaper files, come up with enough material to last us 20 years.

For example, late in the current season John Mantley, one of our writers, came upon the information that a police permit was needed to buy a single shot revolver in Chicago in 1929, but anyone could buy the most lethal hand weapon ever conceived by man a "tommy gun" at any hardware or sporting goods store by merely forking over the price.

This loophole was sealed, fortunately, before any of the top mobsters could stock up on machine guns. But Mantley got to thinking about what MIGHT have happened if Frank Nitti had been able to take advantage of the situation.

The result was Mantley's teleplay "The Arsenal," which gave us one of our most interesting and exciting shows.

In addition to the color of the period, "The Untouchables" has another good thing going for it. Being able to attract top talent in both the writing and acting fields. Actors and writers value a credit on our show as high as a graduate degree rates with a scientist or engineer.

Therefore, Leonard Freeman, our new executive producer, is having no trouble interesting the cream of the Hollywood writing corps in working on scripts for us, and is in a position to balance off veterans with young writers to give us a variety of ideas.

Some time during the season, Ness will be hospitalized because of wounds incurred in a battle with the underworld. This is as logical as Freeman's decision to have Eliot check in with Mrs. Ness from time to time, probably on occasions when he has been exposed to the wiles of some of the beauties the underworld provided to influence police officers.

Second Film Workout For Stage Group

NEW YORK (AP) — Performers with the Living Theater stage company are getting their second film workout.

Marilyn Chris and Jamil Zakahi have been named to lead roles in "Strange Silhouettes," an experimental movie about Manhattan's tenements being made by Ted Harris.

Members of the avant-garde troupe previously took part in the screen version of Living Theatre's international drama success "The Connection."

Actor Expands Talent Range

NEW YORK (AP) — Playing an old comedy in stock turned actor Leonard Drum into a writer-composer-lyricist.

The subject of Drum's labors is George Kelly's "The Show Off," in which he performed in 1956. The new adaptation, entitled "The Kid from Philly," is to be produced on Broadway by Michael Dewell, a co-sponsor of the National Repertory Theater.

'Advise And Consent' Now At Paramount

Seldom have political and personal struggle for power been depicted with such compelling honesty, according to Hollywood reports, as it is in Otto Preminger's "Advise and Consent" today at the Paramount Theatre.

"Advise and Consent" stars Henry Fonda, Charles Laughton, Don Murray, Walter Pidgeon, Peter Lawford, Gene Tierney, Franchot Tone, Lew Ayres, Burgess Meredith, Eddie Hodges, Paul Ford, George Grizzard and Inga Sewnson.

Based on Allen Drury's Pulitzer Prize best-seller, the film deals with the conflicts set in motion when the United States Senate is called on to confirm a president's controversial nomination for secretary of state.

Fonda plays the president's controversial nominee for Secretary of State, and Eddie Hodges is his teenage son. British-born Academy Award winner Charles Laughton appears as a southern senator implacably opposed to the nominee.

Don Murray protrays the young chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations sub-committee; his refusal to withhold sensational information about the nominee leads to action that ends in his personal tragedy. Veteran star Walter Pidgeon is the Senate majority leader and Peter Lawford a debonair bachelor Senator.

For a glamorous Washington hostess, Preminger recalled lovely Gene Tierney to Hollywood and the strong-willed president of "Advise and Consent" is played by Franchot Tone. Lew Ayres, returning to the screen after a lengthy absence, protrays a vice president who is frightened at the thought of succeeding to the Presidency. Burgess Meredith is seen as a key witness at the Senate hearing while Paul Ford is the Senate's majority whip. George Grizzard plays an ambitious young senator who doesn't hesitate to try blackmail, and Inga Swenson makes her screen debut as Murray's wife.

The music is by Jerry Fielding. "Advise and Consent" was photographed in Panavision by Sam Leavitt and the entire production was designed by Lyle Wheeler.

It was filmed in the actual locale. Wendell Mayes penned the screenplay from Drury's novel. It was produced and directed by Preminger.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robert Ryan is making his musical comedy debut this fall as the star of "Mr. President."

"It's the story of an average family in the White House—a president, first lady and two children.

"No, it's not the Kennedys."

The musical is Irving Berlin's first in 12 years.

"I'm no singer," says Ryan, "but out of the blue one day came this call to come to New York for an audition for the role.

"Someone must have decided that I looked the part. At the audition, Berlin asked if I had ever sung."

Stories On Ness Still Numerous

By ROBERT STACK

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —A question I'm frequently asked is: "How many untold Eliot Ness stories are left?"

Actually, the potential of "Untouchables" yarns has scarcely been tapped. The era is so colorful that writers with imagination can, through researching newspaper files, come up with enough material to last us 20 years.

For example, late in the current season, John Mantley, one of our writers, came upon the information that a police permit was needed to buy a single shot revolver in Chicago in 1929, but anyone could buy the most lethal hand weapon ever conceived by man—a "tommy gun"—at any hardware or sporting goods store by merely forking over the price.

This loophole was sealed, fortunately, before any of the top mobsters could stock up on machine guns. But Mantley got to thinking about what MIGHT have happened if Frank Nitti had been able to take advantage of the situation.

The result was Mantley's teleplay "The Arsenal," which gave us one of our most interesting and exciting shows.

In addition to the color of the period, "The Untouchables" has another good thing going for it: Being able to attract top talent in both the writing and acting fields. Actors and writers value a credit on our show as high as a graduate degree rates with a scientist or engineer.

Therefore, Leonard Freeman, our new executive producer, is having no trouble interesting the cream of the Hollywood writing corps in working on scripts for us, and is in a position to balance off veterans with young writers to give us a variety of ideas.

Some time during the season, Ness will be hospitalized because of wounds incurred in a battle with the underworld. This is as logical as Freeman's decision to have Eliot check in with Mrs. Ness from time to time, probably on occasions when he has been exposed to the wiles of some of the beauties the underworld provided to influence police officers.

Pirates Nip Giants, 7-6, On Jim Marshall's Eleventh Inning Single

Surging Bucs Narrow Gap On 2nd Place

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pinch hitter Jim Marshall singled to left field in a strategy - filled 11th inning Saturday, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-6 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The loss dropped the second-place Giants two games behind Los Angeles, which defeated Chicago 3-1, and brings the third-place Pirates within 1½ games of the Giants.

Marshall's hit came with the bases loaded against Bob Bolin, the Giants' fifth pitcher, and scored Howie Goss with the run that ended the see-saw game highlighted by several superb relief performances.

The Giants' Don Larsen walked Goss with one out. Billy Pierce relieved Larsen and gave a single to Smoky Burgess. Pierce then walked Bill Mazeroski intentionally, filling the bases.

The Pirates' relief corps, paced by the remarkable Diomedes Olivo, battled throughout most of the game with San Francisco's Stu Miller.

Miller, in his 36th game, halted the Pirates for seven innings after he rescued starter Billy O'Dell in the third. The right-hander allowed only three singles, walked one and struck out six.

Olivo, the National League's elderly rookie at age 42, was superb in relief through 3 1-3 innings. He entered in the sixth for his 41st appearance of the season with runners at first and third and two out. He proceeded to retire all 10 batters who faced him, striking out four of them.

Both starting pitchers were knocked from the mound in the third inning. The Giants rocked Al McBean, who had completed his last four starts, for five runs on six hits, including two home runs. O'Dell gave up six runs on seven hits.

Roy Face, the Pirates' fourth pitcher, won his eighth game against two defeats. Larsen is 4-2

Pirates' right fielder Roberto Clemente, hitting .347 going into the game, had a double and a single, giving him an 18 consecutive-game hitting streak.

He also sparkled in the field, throwing out Willie McCovey as he tried to score on Orlando Cepeda's single in the first. Clemente also fired out McCovey at the plate Friday night.

Don Hoak's bases-loaded triple and Goss' infield single in the first inning gave the Pirates 4-1 lead. However, the Giants battled back until Cepeda and Tom Haller hit back-to-back home runs in the third, giving the Giants a 6-5 margin.

CLIPS OWN TRACK RECORD

Aqueduct Mark Smashed By Dreyfus' Beau Purple

NEW YORK (AP)-Beau Purple smashed the Aqueduct track record Saturday by leading all the way to capture the $109,600 Brooklyn Handicap as the heavily-favored Carry Back lacked his usual late rush and could do no better than fourth place.

The winner, from the Hobeau Farm of Jack Dreyfus Jr., stepped the 1¼ miles in 2 minutes flat, clipping three-fifths of a second from his own track mark set July 4 when he upset Kelso and Carry Back in the Suburban Handicap. Kelso did not start Saturday, after finishing second a week ago when Carry Back won the Monmouth Park Handicap and broke that track record

Beau Purple, ridden by Bill Boland, rolled home by 3½ lengths over Harbor View Farm's Garwol, who managed second by a nose over Mrs. Q. A. S. McKean's Polylad. Carry Back finished 1½ lengths behind Polylad.

There was one consolation for Carry Back's owner, Mrs. Katherine Price, and her husband Jack, the trainer. Carry Back needed only $400 to catch the great Citation, racing's first millionaire horse, and he collected $5,480. This made last year's champion 3-year-old the world's third leading money winner with $1,090,840 and dropped Citation to fourth with $1,085,760.

Beau Purple, who won the Suburban with 115 pounds, packed 116 this time while Carry Back had 127, which proved too much. Garwol got in with a feathery 106 while Polylad had 114. A week ago, with 124, Carry Back took the Monmouth Handicap with Kelso, Beau Purple, Polylad and Garwol trailing him in that order.

Beau Purple, the second choice of a crowd of 45,499 which turned out in hot, muggy weather, returned $10.20, $5.40 and $4.00. Garwol, ridden by Con Errico, paid $14.40 and $8.10 and Polylad, with Donald Pierce up, returned $5.40.

IN USA-USSR MEET

Connolly's Heave Breaks Own Mark

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Hal Connolly broke his own world record in the hammer throw Saturday as the United States took a decisive lead over Russia in the men's events of the first day of their dual track and field meet.

As a crowd of 72,500 roared approval, Connolly, on his next to last throw, let loose a toss of 231-feet-10 to better his own mark of 230-9 set in 1960.

Connolly's mighty toss topped another spectacular performance by Wilma Rudolph Ward, the Tennessee State ace who won two gold medals in the women's competition.

Mrs. Ward, a triple winner at the last Olympic Games, took the 100 meters in 11.5 seconds and then overhauled Galina Popova of Russia in the stretch to give America a victory in the women's 400-meter relay.

In the men's events the United States led 61-45 with eight firsts to two for Russia. The Russian women, however, took a 30-22 lead despite Wilma's efforts.

In all, five meet records were set by the men including Connolly's great world record toss, one was tied, and two were set by the women.

Meet record set by the men in addition to Connolly's mark:

110 meter hurdles—Jerry Tarr, USA, :13.4.

10,000 meter run—Pyotr Bolotnikov, USSR, 29:17.7.

Shot—Dallas Long, USA, 64-1.

Pole vault—Ron Morris, USA, 16-¾.

Bob Hayes, USA, tied the record of :10.2 in the 100 meters. Roger Sayers, USA, was second, also in record equalling time.

Women's meet records were:

Javelin—Elyvira Ozolina, USSR, 183-4½.

Discus—Tamara Press, USSR, 189-5.

It was a big day for the Connolly family.

Connolly, who failed to make the finals in the Rome Olympics, led all the way through, starting off with 227-10.. His pretty wife, Olga, who won the discus for Czechoslovakia in the 1956 Olympics, also regained her old-time form to take second to Miss Press with a creditable toss of 167-1½. She had been chosen by the American girls as their captain and led the team into the great stadium alongside Jim Beatty, the men's captain.

Other world records in addition to the hammer were in danager. Ron Morris won the pole vault for the United States at 16-¾ and tried valiantly to set a new mark of 16-3¼. Ralph Boston continued his mastery over Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, 26-9 to 26-2¾, in the broad jump.

The meets will be completed Sunday with men's competition in the high jump, discus, hop, step and jump, 800-meter, 1,500 meter, and 5,000-meter runs, 3,000 meter steeplechase, and 1600 meter relay; women's competition in the 200, 80-meter hurdles, 800-meter run, shot put and broad jump, and the last five events in the men's decathlon.

In one of the most thrilling races of the hot day, little Max Truex clung to the shoulder of Pyotr Bolotnikov, the world record holder and Olympic champion, for 22½ laps in the 10,000 meters only to fall back under a blistering sprint in the last half-mile and wind up third.

Tigers Hold Onto Early Lead With Relief Pitching

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A three-run homer by Dick McAuliffe in the seventh put the Detroit Tigers ahead of the Athletics and they held on to win 7-5, helped by the relief pitching of Phil Regan, Ron Nischwitz and Terry Fox.

The victory went to Regan, his fifth against seven losses. Young Dan Pfister, 18-8 going into the game, lost his ninth of the year after holding out until the sixth.

Norm Cash also homered for the Tigers with none on in the sixth.

The Athletics scored their four runs off starter Hank Aguirre. Pfister singled and scored on Bobby Del Greco's fourth homer of the year. Jerry Lumpe singled and scored ahead of Gino Cimoli when the latter hit his seventh roundtripper.

HALL OF FAME

Four Stars Will Receive Honors

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)— Bobby Feller, Jackie Robinson, Edd Roush and Bill McKechnie will be formally inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame Monday in this picture postcard community.

Feller, the onetime Iowa plough boy with the crackling fastball, and Robinson, the first Negro ever to play in the majors, were voted into the group by the members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Robinson becomes the first Negro in the Hall of Fame.

Roush, 68, and McKechnie, 74, were selected by the unanimous vote of the 12-man veterans' committee which considers only those who have been inactive for at least 30 years.

After the morning ceremonies on a platform in front of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum on the main street of this village, the New York Yankees will meet the Milwaukee Braves in the annual exhibition game at Doubleday Field, a few hundred feet down the street.

The 9,700-capacity of the tidy little park in midtown will be taxed by a crowd of fans anxious to see the four new hall of famers and the ball game.

Feller, of course, was one of the great pitchers of the modern era. Rapid Robert, winner of 266 games, including three no-hitters, and holder of many strikeouts records, now is a 43-year-old insurance executive.

From 1936 to 1956 with three years out for service in the navy, Feller was the big pitcher of the American League. He won 20 or more six times and hit a high of 27 victories in 1940. In 1946 he set a single season record by striking out 348 men. His single game strikeout mark of 18, set in 1938, has been tied but not beaten.

Robinson, a greying 42-year-old businessman who is vice president of a national restaurant and coffee manufacturing company, broke the baseball color line in 1947 when he came into the National League with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Branch Rickey had kept him in the wings at Montreal in 1946 after signing him.

Don Fullmer Holds On To Defeat Rivero

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Don Fullmer piled up a big lead over wild swinging Juan (Rocky) Rivero and then held on to gain a split decision over the Argentine fighter in a 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, weighed 160½, Rivero 160.

Rivero, a hard-hitting middleweight who had scored six straight knockouts and kayoed 35 of his 44 opponents, couldn't even hurt the tall, 23-year-old kid brother of NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer until the ninth round. It was too late then.

The crew cut Westerner dominated the first half of the fight by meeting Rivero's bull-like charges with snapping left jabs to the head and fast left and right combinations to the head and body.

This big advantage barely held up as the swarthy, handsome, 25-year-old Argentine rallied strongly in the second half of the fight. There were no knockdowns.

Referee Jimmy Devlin and Judge Joe Agnello each had Fullmer ahead, six rounds to four. Judge Al Berl gave each fighter five rounds, but had Rivero the winner on points 6-5. The point edge came in the ninth round when Devlin penalized Fullmer the round for holding. Rocky had won the round but he received an extra point. The Associated Press card had Fullmer ahead 6-4.

Fullmer suffered a possible fracture of a bone in his right hand. He said he hurt it first in the fifth round and again in the eighth.

Manager Marv Jenson said the hand would be X-rayed in Salt Lake City Sunday.

Los Angeles Angels Win Over Indians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Righthander Ken McBride ran his winning streak to 10 games and the Los Angeles Angels extended theirs to five Saturday night by defeating the floundering Cleveland Indians 4-0.

The Indians, in their worst slump in more than 15 years, also extended a streak. This was their ninth straight loss.

McBride (11-3), who hasn't been beaten since April 27, pitched his second consecutive shutout and ran his string of scoreless innings to 21. He allowed only four hits and struck out four without walking a man.

Leon Wagner, the American League home run leader, hit his 27th with the bases empty in the Angel fourth.

The Angels had picked up one run off loser Pete Ramos (4-7) in the first. Albie Pearson singled, stole second and scored after two walks on a sacrifice fly by Lee Thomas and Felix Torres and a sacrifice fly by Tom Burgess.

Palmer Now Eight Shots Out Of Lead

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP) — Gary Player, the little golfing gold prospector from Johannesburg, slammed into the third round lead of the PGA championship with a 1-under-par 69 for 208 Saturday but the comeback spark never caught fire for the amazing Arnold Palmer.

While his thousands of loyal followers who have become known as "Arnie's army" groaned and moaned, Palmer bulled around the Aronimink Golf Club course in 73 shots for a score of 216.

He was eight big strokes back of his South African rival going into Sunday's climactic 18-hole windup, but if the powerful pro from Latrobe, Pa., was discouraged he wouldn't admit it.

GOING TO SHOOT

"A score of 280 can win it," he told a small knot of friends afterward. "Sunday I'm going out and shoot that son-of-a gun in 62."

The famed comeback specialist never has rallied from this far back to win a major championship, although he overcame a nine-shot deficit in his spectacular U. S. Open triumph at Denver in 1960.

Third round scores Saturday in the PGA championship at the Aronomink Golf Club (scores of 222 or better qualify for final round Sunday) included:

Jay Hebert, Miami, Fla. 73-72-70—215
Johnny Pott, Ocean Springs, Miss. 71-77-71—219
Fred Haas, Metairie, La. 71-75-74—220
Gardner Dickinson, Jupiter, Fla. 73-74-75—222
Buck White, Greenwood, Miss. 74-70-86—230

Player, whipping a nightmarish putting slump with an old blade he bought a couple of years ago in Japan, took a 2-stroke lead over the massive George Bayer and the young "dark horse" from Claremont, Calif., Bob McCallister, who were tied for second at 210.

The 6-foot-5, 240-pound Bayer, a former University of Washington tackle who hits the ball a country mile, fired a third round 71 while McCallister, refusing to waver under the extreme pressure, had an even par 70 despite a double bogey on his card.

Bayer and McCallister were even par for the tournament, one stroke ahead of Doug Ford, the 39-year-old war horse from Yonkers, N. Y., who lost his halfway lead by shooting a 73 for 211.

POSSIBLE PLAYOFF

The field was so closely bunched at the top that observers saw the possibility of a fourth straight playoff in as many major championships in the United States in the last 12 months. These tournaments which ended in a tie included the 1961 PGA, won by Jerry Barber; the Masters, which went to Palmer, and the U. S. Open, won by Jack Nicklaus.

In fourth place was the long-hitting Bob Goalby, 71—212, followed by a quartet tied at 213. These included comebacker Cary Middlecoff, with a 74, Bobby Nichols, Dow Finsterwald, the graying ex - champion, 47-year-old Chick Harbert, Jack Fleck and Jack Burke.

Nicklaus, who made a bad showing last week in the British Open at Troon, leaped back into the picture with a 69 for 214, which tied him with Frank Stranahan.

FIRST FOREIGNER

Player, who became the first Foreigner ever to win the Masters and the first ever to lead the American tour in money winnings in 1961, is seeking to become the first outsider in 31 years to win this American professional championship.

Third round scores Saturday in the PGA championship at the Aronimink Golf Club in graded order: (60 scores of 222 or better qualify for final round Sunday).

Pirates Nip Giants, 7-6, On Jim Marshall's Eleventh Inning Single

Surging Bucs Narrow Gap On 2nd Place

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pinch hitter Jim Marshall singled to left field in a strategy-filled 11th inning Saturday, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-6 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The loss dropped the second-place Giants two games behind Los Angeles, which defeated Chicago 3-1, and brings the third-place Pirates within 1½ games of the Giants.

Marshall's hit came with the bases loaded against Bob Bolin, the Giants' fifth pitcher, and scored Howie Goss with the run that ended the see-saw game highlighted by several superb relief performances.

The Giants' Don Larsen walked Goss with one out. Billy Pierce relieved Larsen and gave a single to Smoky Burgess. Pierce then walked Bill Mazeroski intentionally, filling the bases.

The Pirates' relief corps, paced by the remarkable Diomedes Olivo, battled throughout most of the game with San Francisco's Stu Miller.

Miller, in his 36th game, halted the Pirates for seven innings after he rescued starter Billy O'Dell in the third. The right-hander allowed only three singles, walked one and struck out six.

Olivo, the National League's elderly rookie at age 42, was superb in relief through 3 1-3 innings. He entered in the sixth for his 41st appearance of the season with runners at first and third and two out. He proceeded to retire all 10 batters who faced him, striking out four of them.

Both starting pitchers were knocked from the mound in the third inning. The Giants rocked Al McBean, who had completed his last four starts, for five runs on six hits, including two home runs. O'Dell gave up six runs on seven hits.

Roy Face, the Pirates' fourth pitcher, won his eighth game against two defeats. Larsen is 4-2.

Pirates' right fielder Roberto Clemente, hitting .347 going into the game, had a double and a single, giving him an 18 consecutive-game hitting streak.

He also sparkled in the field, throwing out Willie McCovey as he tried to score on Orlando Cepeda's single in the first. Clemente also fired out McCovey at the plate Friday night.

Don Hoak's bases-loaded triple and Goss' infield single in the first inning gave the Pirates 4-1 lead. However, the Giants battled back until Cepeda and Tom Haller hit back-to-back home runs in the third, giving the Giants a 6-5 margin.

BEAU PURPLE, right, with William Boland up, thunders to the wire to win the 74th running of The Brooklyn, a $100,000-added feature race at Aqueduct race track in New York Saturday. The winner paid $10.20 and smashed the Aqueduct track record by stepping off the 1 1/4 mile in two minutes flat. Three-fifths of a second less than his own mark. Carwol, second from left, Con Errico up, finished second; Polylad, third from left, jockey Donald Pierce aboard, was third; Carry Back, left, John Rotz up was fourth in the field. CLIPS OWN TRACK RECORD

Aqueduct Mark Smashed By Dreyfus' Beau Purple

NEW YORK (AP)-Beau Purple smashed the Aqueduct track record Saturday by leading all the way to capture the $109,600 Brooklyn Handicap as the heavily-favored Carry Back lacked his usual late rush and could do no better than fourth place.

The winner, from the Hobeau Farm of Jack Dreyfus Jr., stepped the 1¼ miles in 2 minutes flat, clipping three-fifths of a second from his own track mark set July 4 when he upset Kelso and Carry Back in the Suburban Handicap. Kelso did not start Saturday, after finishing second a week ago when Carry Back won the Monmouth Park Handicap and broke that track record.

Beau Purple, ridden by Bill Boland, rolled home by 3½ lengths over Harbor View Farm's Garwol, who managed second by a nose over Mrs. Q. A. S. McKean's Polylad. Carry Back finished 1½ lengths behind Polylad.

There was one consolation for Carry Back's owner, Mrs. Katherine Price, and her husband Jack, the trainer. Carry Back needed only $400 to catch the great Citation, racing's first millionaire horse, and he collected $5,480. This made last year's champion 3-year-old the world's third leading money winner with $1,090,840 and dropped Citation to fourth with $1,085,760.

Beau Purple, who won the Suburban with 115 pounds, packed 116 this time while Carry Back had 127, which proved too much. Garwol got in with a feathery 106 while Polylad had 114. A week ago, with 124, Carry Back took the Monmouth Handicap with Kelso, Beau Purple, Polylad and Garwol trailing him in that order.

Beau Purple, the second choice of a crowd of 45,499 which turned out in hot, muggy weather, returned $10.20, $5.40 and $4.00. Garwol, ridden by Con Errico, paid $14.40 and $8.10 and Polylad, with Donald Pierce up, returned $5.40.

IN USA-USSR MEET

Connolly's Heave Breaks Own Mark

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Hal Connolly broke his own world record in the hammer throw Saturday as the United States took a decisive lead over Russia in the men's events of the first day of their dual track and field meet.

As a crowd of 72,500 roared approval, Connolly, on his next to last throw, let loose a toss of 231-feet-10 to better his own mark of 230-9 set in 1960.

Connolly's mighty toss topped another spectacular performance by Wilma Rudolph Ward, the Tennessee State ace who won two gold medals in the women's competition.

Mrs. Ward, a triple winner at the last Olympic Games, took the 100 meters in 11.5 seconds and then overhauled Galina Popova of Russia in the stretch to give America a victory in the women's 400-meter relay.

In the men's events the United States led 61-45 with eight firsts to two for Russia. The Russian women, however, took a 30-22 lead despite Wilma's efforts.

In all, five meet records were set by the men including Connolly's great world record toss, one was tied, and two were set by the women.

Meet record set by the men in addition to Connolly's mark:

110 meter hurdles—Jerry Tarr, USA, :13.4.

10,000 meter run—Pyotr Bolotnikov, USSR, 29:17.7.

Shot—Dallas Long, USA, 64-1.

Pole vault—Ron Morris, USA, 16-¾.

Bob Hayes, USA, tied the record of :10.2 in the 100 meters. Roger Sayers, USA, was second, also in record equalling time.

Women's meet records were:

Javelin—Elyvira Ozolina, USSR, 183-4½.

Discus—Tamara Press, USSR, 189-5.

It was a big day for the Connolly family.

Connolly, who failed to make the finals in the Rome Olympics, led all the way through, starting off with 227-10.. His pretty wife, Olga, who won the discus for Czechoslovakia in the 1956 Olympics, also regained her old-time form to take second to Miss Press with a creditable toss of 167-1½. She had been chosen by the American girls as their captain and led the team into the great stadium alongside Jim Beatty, the men's captain.

Other world records in addition to the hammer were in danager. Ron Morris won the pole vault for the United States at 16-¾ and tried valiantly to set a new mark of 16-3¼. Ralph Boston continued his mastery over Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, 26-9 to 26-2¾, in the broad jump.

The meets will be completed Sunday with men's competition in the high jump, discus, hop, step and jump, 800-meter, 1,500 meter, and 5,000-meter runs, 3,000 meter steeplechase, and 1600 meter relay; women's competition in the 200, 80-meter hurdles, 800-meter run, shot put and broad jump, and the last five events in the men's decathlon.

In one of the most thrilling races of the hot day, little Max Truex clung to the shoulder of Pyotr Bolotnikov, the world record holder and Olympic champion, for 22½ laps in the 10,000 meters only to fall back under a blistering sprint in the last half-mile and wind up third.

The All-Star game will be scheduled at this meeting.

Today's schedule:

Lake Providence Wins Northern Division Crown

TALLULAH (Special) — Lake Providence came from behind in the last inning to nip Delhi 3-2 here Saturday and win the Northern Division of the Fifth District Little Boys Baseball race.

Lake Providence will now meet Mangham for the district championship.

Trailing 2-1 in the bottom of the sixth, Lake Providence capitalized on a two-run error to score the win.

Lake Providence had come from the tournament losers' bracket to take the title, defeating Delhi twice in a row.

The winner of the Mangham-Lake Providence series will represent the district in the State tournament at Ferriday.

GARY PLAYER, South African golfer, tips his hat and waves his scorecard at Aronimink Golf Club in Newton Square, Pa., Saturday after carding a third round score of 69 to take the lead of the 44th PGA tournament with a total 208. The final 18-holes will be played today. (AP Wirephoto)

HALL OF FAME

Four Stars Will Receive Honors

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Bobby Feller, Jackie Robinson, Edd Roush and Bill McKechnie will be formally inducted into Baseball's Hall of Fame Monday in this picture postcard community.

Feller, the onetime Iowa plough boy with the crackling fastball, and Robinson, the first Negro ever to play in the majors, were voted into the group by the members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Robinson becomes the first Negro in the Hall of Fame.

Roush, 68, and McKechnie, 74, were selected by the unanimous vote of the 12-man veterans' committee which considers only those who have been inactive for at least 30 years.

After the morning ceremonies on a platform in front of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum on the main street of this village, the New York Yankees will meet the Milwaukee Braves in the annual exhibition game at Doubleday Field, a few hundred feet down the street.

The 9,700-capacity of the tidy little park in midtown will be taxed by a crowd of fans anxious to see the four new hall of famers and the ball game.

Feller, of course, was one of the great pitchers of the modern era. Rapid Robert, winner of 266 games, including three no-hitters, and holder of many strikeouts records, now is a 43-year-old insurance executive.

From 1936 to 1956 with three years out for service in the navy, Feller was the big pitcher of the American League. He won 20 or more six times and hit a high of 27 victories in 1940. In 1946 he set a single season record by striking out 348 men. His single game strikeout mark of 18, set in 1938, has been tied but not beaten.

Robinson, a greying 42-year-old businessman who is vice president of a national restaurant and coffee manufacturing company, broke the baseball color line in 1947 when he came into the National League with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Branch Rickey had kept him in the wings at Montreal in 1946 after signing him.

Don Fullmer Holds On To Defeat Rivero

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Don Fullmer piled up a big lead over wild swinging Juan (Rocky) Rivero and then held on to gain a split decision over the Argentine fighter in a 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, weighed 160½, Rivero 160.

Rivero, a hard-hitting middleweight who had scored six straight knockouts and kayoed 35 of his 44 opponents, couldn't even hurt the tall, 23-year-old kid brother of NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer until the ninth round. It was too late then.

The crew cut Westerner dominated the first half of the fight by meeting Rivero's bull-like charges with snapping left jabs to the head and fast left and right combinations to the head and body.

This big advantage barely held up as the swarthy, handsome, 25-year-old Argentine rallied strongly in the second half of the fight. There were no knockdowns.

Referee Jimmy Devlin and judge Joe Agnello each had Fullmer ahead, six rounds to four. Judge Al Berl gave each fighter five rounds, but had Rivero the winner on points 6-5. The point edge came in the ninth round when Devlin penalized Fullmer the round for holding. Rocky had won the round but he received an extra point. The Associated Press card had Fullmer ahead 6-4.

Fullmer suffered a possible fracture of a bone in his right hand. He said he hurt it first in the fifth round and again in the eighth.

Manager Marv Jenson said the hand would be X-rayed in Salt Lake City Sunday.

Los Angeles Angels Win Over Indians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Right-hander Ken McBride ran his winning streak to 10 games and the Los Angeles Angels extended theirs to five Saturday night by defeating the floundering Cleveland Indians 4-0.

The Indians, in their worst slump in more than 15 years, also extended a streak. This was their ninth straight loss.

McBride (11-3), who hasn't been beaten since April 27, pitched his second consecutive shutout and ran his string of scoreless innings to 21. He allowed only four hits and struck out four without walking a man.

Leon Wagner, the American League home run leader, hit his 27th with the bases empty in the Angel fourth.

The Angels had picked up one run off loser Pete Ramos (4-7) in the first. Albie Pearson singled, stole second and scored after two walks on a sacrifice fly by Lee Thomas and Felix Torres and a sacrifice fly by Tom Burgess.

Palmer Now Eight Shots Out Of Lead

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP) — Gary Player, the little golfing gold prospector from Johannesburg, slammed into the third round lead of the PGA championship with a 1-under-par 69 for 208 Saturday but the comeback spark never caught fire for the amazing Arnold Palmer.

While his thousands of loyal followers who have become known as "Arnie's army" groaned and moaned, Palmer bulled around the Aronimink Golf Club course in 73 shots for a score of 216.

He was eight big strokes back of his South African rival going into Sunday's climactic 18-hole windup, but if the powerful pro from Latrobe, Pa., was discouraged he wouldn't admit it.

GOING TO SHOOT

"A score of 280 can win it," he told a small knot of friends afterward. "Sunday I'm going out and shoot that son-of-a gun in 62."

The famed comeback specialist never has rallied from this far back to win a major championship, although he overcame a nine-shot deficit in his spectacular U. S. Open triumph at Denver in 1960.

Third round scores Saturday in the PGA championship at the Aronomink Golf Club (scores of 222 or better qualify for final round Sunday) included:

Jay Hebert, Miami, Fla. 73-72-70—215
Johnny Pott, Ocean Springs, Miss. 71-77-71—219
Fred Haas, Metairie, La. 71-75-74—220
Gardner Dickinson, Jupiter, Fla. 73-74-75—222
Buck White, Greenwood, Miss. 74-70-86—230

Player, whipping a nightmarish putting slump with an old blade he bought a couple of years ago in Japan, took a 2-stroke lead over the massive George Bayer and the young "dark horse" from Claremont, Calif., Bob McCallister, who were tied for second at 210.

The 6-foot-5, 240-pound Bayer, a former University of Washington tackle who hits the ball a country mile, fired a third round 71 while McCallister, refusing to waver under the extreme pressure, had an even par 70 despite a double bogey on his card.

Bayer and McCallister were even par for the tournament, one stroke ahead of Doug Ford, the 39-year-old war horse from Yonkers, N. Y., who lost his halfway lead by shooting a 73 for 211.

POSSIBLE PLAYOFF

The field was so closely bunched at the top that observers saw the possibility of a fourth straight playoff in as many major championships in the United States in the last 12 months. These tournaments which ended in a tie included the 1961 PGA, won by Jerry Barber; the Masters, which went to Palmer, and the U. S. Open, won by Jack Nicklaus.

In fourth place was the long-hitting Bob Goalby, 71—212, followed by a quartet tied at 213. These included comebacker Cary Middlecoff, with a 74, Bobby Nichols, Dow Finsterwald, the graying ex-champion, 47-year-old Chick Harbert, Jack Fleck and Jack Burke.

Nicklaus, who made a bad showing last week in the British Open at Troon, leaped back into the picture with a 69 for 214, which tied him with Frank Stranahan.

FIRST FOREIGNER

Player, who became the first Foreigner ever to win the Masters and the first ever to lead the American tour in money winnings in 1961, is seeking to become the first outsider in 31 years to win this American professional championship.

Third round scores Saturday in the PGA championship at the Aronimink Golf Club in graded order: (60 scores of 222 or better qualify for final round Sunday).

Senators Fall To Bombers By 4-3 Count

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris drove in three runs with a home run and Mickey Mantle knocked in the other with a single as the New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators 4-3 Saturday for their ninth straight victory.

Ralph Terry registered his 13th triumph of the season with help from reliever Bud Daley. The left-hander struck out pinch hitter Don Lock with two out and the potential tying run on base in the eighth and snuffed out another Washington threat in the ninth after Bob Schmidt had singled and advanced to second on Jimmy Piersall's sacrifice.

Don Rudolph, the Senators' starter and loser, gave up all the Yankees' runs and eight of their nine hits in the six innings he worked. The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the first on Tommy Tresh's single, a sacrifice and Mantle's hitting streak to 15 straight games.

The Senators tied the score on second-inning doubles by Chuck Hinton and Jim King, but the Yankees went ahead to stay in the fifth. A fumble by shortstop Ken Hamlin and Bobby Richardson's infield single set the stage for Maris' 24th home run of the season, his ninth off a left-hander.

Hector Lopez doubled in that inning but was picked off base by Rudolph. It was the second time in the game that the outfielder has been picked off base. Lopez had opened the Yankee third with a triple only to be picked off by catcher Ken Retzer's throw to Bob Johnson.

COLTS WIN NIGHTCAP

Houston, St. Louis Split Doubleheader

HOUSTON (AP) — Hal Smith drove in four runs with a double and a single Saturday night, leading Houston to a 7-3 victory over St. Louis and giving the Colts a split in the day-night doubleheader. The Cards won the first 7-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Larry Jackson.

Smith doubled in two runs in the second inning as the Colts wiped out a 1-0 St. Louis lead. His bases-loaded single in the sixth featured a three-run uprising that gave the Colts a 7-3 lead.

The Cards opened the scoring when Stan Musial singled in a run in the first, putting Musial within one of Mel Ott's National League record of 1860 runs batted in.

Smith's double gave the Colts a brief 2-1 lead in the second, but the Cards tied it on a walk and Curt Flood's single in the fifth.

Jim Pendleton singled for two runs in the Colt fifth, putting Houston ahead to stay.

Ken Boyer hit a solo homer in each game for the Cards, his 17th and 18th of the season.

Jackson walked only one, allowed only one base-runner to reach second, drove in one run and scored another in leading the Cardinals to their first game victory. He retired 14 men in order over one stretch.

He got the backing of a 16-hit attack, which included homers by Boyer and Carl Sawatski. Russ Kemmerer, first of three Colt pitchers, took the loss.

The day game was a replay of a 17-inning 5-5 tie April 25.

SIXTH STRAIGHT WIN

Minnesota Twins Clip Orioles, 7-6

MINNEAPOLIS-St. PAUL (AP)—Lusty hitting by Rich Rollins and Bernie Allen and a clutch throw by center fielder Bill Tuttle carried the surging Minnesota Twins to a 7-6 victory over Baltimore Saturday.

Rollins and Allen each banged three hits in leading the Twins to their sixth straight victory, but the big play came in the eighth inning when Baltimore scored twice.

With one run in and the bases loaded, Lee Stange came on to pitch for the Twins. Jerry Adair lined his first pitch to center field to score one run, but Tuttle's perfect peg to catcher Earl Battey cut down pinch runner Chuck Estrada. A force-out ended the rally.

The Twins bunched all their scoring in two innings, batting around each time. With two out in the third, Rollins lined a single to left to start things. Four singles and three errors later, the Twins had taken a 4-1 lead.

After Jackie Brandt's two-run homer tied the score in the fifth, the Twins went to town in the bottom of that frame. Three runs crossed and the bases were loaded before reliever Dick Hall struck out Harmon Killebrew to end the inning.

Bill Pleis, second of three Twins pitchers, got credit for his second victory without a loss, while the loss went to starter Jack Fisher (2-4).

ChiSox Pizzaro Blanks Red Sox On 2-Hitter, 5-0

BOSTON (AP)—Chicago's Juan Pizzaro continued his sensational July pitching by blanking Boston 5-0 on two hits Saturday.

The trigger-quick southpaw struck out 12 and walked only three while recording his fifth triumph in six decisions this month. His season record is 9-8.

Charlie Maxwell provided the biggest boost for Pizzaro as he singled twice, hit a sacrifice fly, drove in two runs and extended his hitting streak to eight games.

Joe Cunningham belted a two-run homer off reliever Chet Nichols in the ninth.

Singles by Floyd Robinson and Maxwell capped a two-run outburst off loser Gene Conley in the third inning.

Spahn Gets 318th Win On 3-Hitter; Beat Phils, 8-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Warren Spahn pitched a neat three-hitter Saturday night as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 8-1.

Joe Adcock powered a pair of homers for the Braves.

Spahn struck out five batters and gave up no bases on balls in winning his ninth game against 11 losses this season. The victory was the 318th of his career.

The only Phils to touch the determined southpaw were Billy Klaus, who socked a double in the third, Tony Gonzalez, who hit a solo homer in the fourth, and Johnny Callison, who beat out a bunt in the ninth.

The Braves scored four runs in the first on two walks, a double and Adcock's first homer. The Braves picked up three more in the third with a double, a single and Adcock's second homer. The round trippers were his 14th and 15th of the year.

Del Crandall also homered for the Braves in the sixth.

Jack Hamilton, the victim of the first and third inning uprisings, was the loser. His record is now 6-8. Jim Owens relieved in the fourth.

Maris, Mantle Drive In Yanks' Four Runs

Senators Fall To Bombers By 4-3 Count

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris drove in three runs with a home run and Mickey Mantle knocked in the other with a single as the New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators 4-3 Saturday for their ninth straight victory.

Ralph Terry registered his 13th triumph of the season with help from reliever Bud Daley. The left-hander struck out pinch hitter Don Lock with two out and the potential tying run on base in the eighth and snuffed out another Washington threat in the ninth after Bob Schmidt had singled and advanced to second on Jimmy Piersall's sacrifice.

Don Rudolph, the Senators' starter and loser, gave up all the Yankees' runs and eight of their nine hits in the six innings he worked. The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the first on Tommy Tresh's single, a sacrifice and Mantle's hitting streak to 15 straight games.

The Senators tied the score on second-inning doubles by Chuck Hinton and Jim King, but the Yankees went ahead to stay in the fifth. A fumble by shortstop Ken Hamlin and Bobby Richardson's infield single set the stage for Maris' 24th home run of the season, his ninth off a left-hander.

Hector Lopez doubled in that inning but was picked off base by Rudolph. It was the second time in the game that the outfielder has been picked off base. Lopez had opened the Yankee third with a triple only to be picked off by catcher Ken Retzer's throw to Bob Johnson.

Pinson Hits 18th Homer To Boost Reds Over Mets

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vada Pinson hit his 18th homer with a mate aboard Saturday to boost the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-3 come-from-behind victory over the New York Mets.

The Mets have yet to beat Cincinnati.

Mets starter Craig Anderson (3-10) put both the Reds' first-inning runs on base on walks. They scored on a sacrifice fly and the first of Jerry Lynch's three singles.

The Mets tied the score on Frank Thomas' 17th homer in the second and Marv Throneberry's fifth four-bagger in the fourth. Then they went ahead by a run in the fifth on three singles and a sacrifice fly.

Spahn Gets 318th Win On 3-Hitter; Beat Phils, 8-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Warren Spahn pitched a neat three-hitter Saturday night as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 8-1.

Joe Adcock powered a pair of homers for the Braves.

Spahn struck out five batters and gave up no bases on balls in winning his ninth game against 11 losses this season. The victory was the 318th of his career.

The only Phils to touch the determined southpaw were Billy Klaus, who socked a double in the third, Tony Gonzalez, who hit a solo homer in the fourth, and Johnny Callison, who beat out a bunt in the ninth.

The Braves scored four runs in the first on two walks, a double and Adcock's first homer. The Braves picked up three more in the third with a double, a single and Adcock's second homer. The round trippers were his 14th and 15th of the year.

Del Crandall also homered for the Braves in the sixth.

Jack Hamilton, the victim of the first and third inning uprisings, was the loser. His record is now 6-8. Jim Owens relieved in the fourth.

COLTS WIN NIGHTCAP

Houston, St. Louis Split Doubleheader

HOUSTON (AP) — Hal Smith drove in four runs with a double and a single Saturday night, leading Houston to a 7-3 victory over St. Louis and giving the Colts a split in the day-night doubleheader. The Cards won the first 7-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Larry Jackson.

Smith doubled in two runs in the second inning as the Colts wiped out a 1-0 St. Louis lead. His bases-loaded single in the sixth featured a three-run uprising that gave the Colts a 7-3 lead.

The Cards opened the scoring when Stan Musial singled in a run in the first, putting Musial within one of Mel Ott's National League record of 1860 runs batted in.

Smith's double gave the Colts a brief 2-1 lead in the second, but the Cards tied it on a walk and Curt Flood's single in the fifth.

Jim Pendleton singled for two runs in the Colt fifth, putting Houston ahead to stay.

Ken Boyer hit a solo homer in each game for the Cards, his 17th and 18th of the season.

Jackson walked only one, allowed only one base-runner to reach second, drove in one run and scored another in leading the Cardinals to their first game victory. He retired 14 men in order over one stretch.

He got the backing of a 16-hit attack, which included homers by Boyer and Carl Sawatski. Russ Kemmerer, first of three Colt pitchers, took the loss.

The day game was a replay of a 17-inning 5-5 tie April 25.

SIXTH STRAIGHT WIN

Minnesota Twins Clip Orioles, 7-6

MINNEAPOLIS-St. PAUL (AP) —Lusty hitting by Rich Rollins and Bernie Allen and a clutch throw by center fielder Bill Tuttle carried the surging Minnesota Twins to a 7-6 victory over Baltimore Saturday.

Rollins and Allen each banged three hits in leading the Twins to their sixth straight victory, but the big play came in the eighth inning when Baltimore scored twice.

With one run in and the bases loaded, Lee Stange came on to pitch for the Twins. Jerry Adair lined his first pitch to center field to score one run, but Tuttle's perfect peg to catcher Earl Battey cut down pinch runner Chuck Estrada. A force-out ended the rally.

The Twins bunched all their scoring in two innings, batting around each time. With two out in the third, Rollins lined a single to left to start things. Four singles and three errors later, the Twins had taken a 4-1 lead.

After Jackie Brandt's two-run homer tied the score in the fifth, the Twins went to town in the bottom of that frame. Three runs crossed and the bases were loaded before reliever Dick Hall struck out Harmon Killebrew to end the inning.

Bill Pleis, second of three Twins pitchers, got credit for his second victory without a loss, while the loss went to starter Jack Fisher (2-4).

ChiSox Pizzaro Blanks Red Sox On 2-Hitter, 5-0

BOSTON (AP)—Chicago's Juan Pizzaro continued his sensational July pitching by blanking Boston 5-0 on two hits Saturday.

The trigger-quick southpaw struck out 12 and walked only three while recording his fifth triumph in six decisions this month. His season record is 9-8.

Charlie Maxwell provided the biggest boost for Pizzaro as he singled twice, hit a sacrifice fly, drove in two runs and extended his hitting streak to eight games.

Joe Cunningham belted a two-run homer off reliever Chet Nichols in the ninth.

Singles by Floyd Robinson and Maxwell capped a two-run outburst off loser Gene Conley in the third inning.

230-POUND TACKLE

Bulldogs Get First Of 2nd Generation

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Head Coach Joe Aillet, dean of Louisiana college grid mentors and now in his 23rd year at the helm of the Bulldogs, is beginning to reap the benefits of the second generation.

Among candidates for the Tech team this fall will be Walter Ford Jr., a 230-pound tackle from Hammond, Ind. His father played under Aillet when he took over the Tech post in 1940.

Aillet's teams at Tech have won 127, lost 65 and tied eight in 21 seasons. Tech did not field a team in 1943 during World War II.

In 21 campaigns, Aillet-coached machines have won or tied for conference titles 12 times, finished second six times, third twice and fourth once. Aillet has changed systems when he deemed it necessary, going from the Notre Dame box to the T-formation to the Wing-T now in use.

Ford is the first son of a former player under Aillet to join the Bulldogs, but there is apt to be a steady stream of them in the future.

Walter Ford Sr., the father, said he benefitted so much from his scholastic and athletic training and the environment at Tech that he wants his son to get the same benefits.

And what does Aillet think of coaching father and son?

"Now that I am over that first obstacle," he quipped, "I will be looking forward to the arrival of their grandsons at Tech."

West's Likely Advantage Is At Fullback

BATON ROUGE (Special) — If the West has an advantage over the East at any position in the Louisiana High School all-star football game here August 2, it is likely to be at fullback.

West coaches Racer Holstead of Tallulah, Jack Doland of Sulphur and Mike Lyle of Oberlin can point with pride to four talented fullbacks on their all-star roster — Bobby Laird of Woodlawn in Shreveport, Mike Vincent of Sulphur, Larry Fambrough of Springhill, and Henry Granger of Oberlin.

[illegible]

Granger [illegible] as a high school athlete at Oberlin, yet very real to the young men who tried to tackle him. He earned four varsity letters in football, basketball and track and two letters in baseball. The [illegible] 200-pounder was an all-district back for three years in high school and [illegible] state recognition for the past [illegible] year [illegible] All-American [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] track and field track.

[illegible] at Oberlin, Granger rushed for 1,445 yards in regular season play and scored 200 points for a team that compiled [illegible] record.

Laird, the [illegible] selection from Woodlawn in Shreveport, is capable of playing at any position in the backfield and adjusting to any formation the West coaches may come up with. A Woodlawn [illegible] all-district and second team all-state choice, [illegible] quite a passer. He threw for 177 yards in one game and 1,108 yards last season.

Fambrough, the bruising rammer from Springhill, rushed for [illegible] yards in eight games last year, including one game when he rambled for 148 yards. Larry was selected to the all-district AA team for two years and was an honorable mention all-state last year. He's equipped for the rugged assignments of a fullback, a sturdy 6-2, 190-pounder.

Vincent, a three-sport letterman while maintaining an A average at Sulphur High, is another top fullback, equally effective on offense or defense. In one game last year he rushed for 15? yards. Mike earned all-district, all-state and honorable mention All-America laurels as a high school performer.

It's obvious that the West all-stars are not lacking at fullback.

Northeast Louisiana Wildlife

By DICK WALL
Wildlife Instructor
Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Comm.

Now that dry weather is here activities of District II of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission are really in full swing.

Jim Davis, Biologist in charge of fisheries reports that considerable work has already been done this summer on fish population studies.

Briefly here's the picture on some local water as Jim sees it:

BAYOU DeSIARD — Crappie and bream populations are good; lots of bass but hard to find; shad population on the increase as expected following the rotenoning of the bayou in 1959.

BAYOU BARTHOLOMEW — Real good bass and bream populations; crappie just average.

BUSSEY BRAKE — Excellent in all respects, it continues to be the best fishing hole around these parts. An excellent example of what good management can produce. Jim also reports that most bass are being taken in deep water on blue worms, however, the "fisherman's fisherman" Mr. Russell White is hauling them in on a pink worm.

Cliff Williams, District II Supervisor, reports that work on the new Russell Sage Game Management Area is now moving along at a good pace. Boundary marking is well under way and should be completed before the hunting season. Hunter access roads are being built and should be in by season opening. Piling has been driven for the new headquarters building and actual construction will begin this month.

Work on a new waterfowl impoundment north of Highway 80 should begin this month. This entire 15,000 acre area should furnish some excellent hunting by fall when it will be opened for public use.

The black francolin, an imported game bird from Pakistan which has been released in the vicinity of Oak Ridge for the last two years appears to be adapting very well to the area.

Cliff says that it's still too early to predict the future of the birds as far as hunting is concerned but results so far have been very encouraging. He had nothing but praise for the people around Oak Ridge and the excellent cooperation they have given him in protecting these birds.

The overall prospects for hunting this year look very good at the present time. Deer are in excellent shape with lots of browse to feed on. Lots of new territory is expected to be opened to the deer hunter this year and the kill on old areas should be just as high or higher than last year.

The local hatch of doves and quail has been good and with the new federal regulations allowing a three-way split season on doves we should have some excellent shooting.

Remember, these predictions are for our entire area in general. As always, some spots will be good and others, well not so good. Here's hoping you find the good ones.

Miss Wright Is Disqualified

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — First-round leader Mickey Wright was disqualified from the $10,000 Women's Eastern Open Golf Tournament Saturday when she signed her card showing a wrong score.

Visibly upset over a series of casualties during her wobbly round, Miss Wright attested a card showing her score to be 79. Actually, it should have been 81.

The LPGA rules committee immediately disqualified her, the first such action since Jackie Pung lost the women's U.S. Open championship four years ago at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Shirley Englehorn, whose even par 74 trailed Miss Wright by three strokes entering the second round of the 54-hole test, took over the lead with a 77 for a 151 total.

Miss Wright readily acknowledged her mistake and accepted the disqualification without a protest.

The tall San Diego blonde, now [illegible] out of Dallas, had signed her card showing a 4 on No. 16 and a 4 on 17. These figures should have been 5 and 5 for the respective holes.

Miss Wright, the LPGA's leading money winner, had engaged in a [illegible] discussion with another of the professional stars at the scorer's table prior to signing her card. This involved a rules interpretation which came up early in her round, and she was obviously thus distracted and upset when she signed the erroneous card.

Leading scores after two rounds in the 54-hole $10,000 Women's Eastern Golf Tournament (par 37-37—74):

230-POUND TACKLE

Bulldogs Get First Of 2nd Generation

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Head Coach Joe Aillet, dean of Louisiana college grid mentors and now in his 23rd year at the helm of the Bulldogs, is beginning to reap the benefits of the second generation.

Among candidates for the Tech team this fall will be Walter Ford Jr., a 230-pound tackle from Hammond, Ind. His father played under Aillet when he took over the Tech post in 1940.

Aillet's teams at Tech have won 127, lost 65 and tied eight in 21 seasons. Tech did not field a team in 1943 during World War II.

In 21 campaigns, Aillet - coached machines have won or tied for conference titles 12 times, finished second six times, third twice, and fourth once. Aillet has changed systems when he deemed it necessary, going from the Notre Dame box to the T-formation to the Winged-T now in use.

Ford is the first son of a former player under Aillet to join the Bulldogs, but there is apt to be a steady stream of them in the future.

Walter Ford Sr., the father, said he benefitted so much from his scholastic and athletic training and the environment at Tech that he wants his son to get the same benefits.

And what does Aillet think of coaching fathers and sons?

"Now that I am over that first obstacle," he quipped. "I will be looking forward to the arrival of their grandsons at Tech."

West's Likely Advantage Is At Fullback

BATON ROUGE (Special) — If the West has an advantage over the East at any position in the Louisiana High School all - star football game here August 2, it is likely to be at fullback.

West coaches Racer Holstead of Tallulah, Jack Doland of Sulphur and Mike Lyle of Oberlin can point with pride to four talented fullbacks on their all - star roster — Billy Laird of Woodlawn in Shreveport, Mike Vincent of Sulphur, Larry Fambrough of Springhill and Hoyle Granger of Oberlin.

All of them were prolific ground gainers in high school, and capable of stout defensive play as well.

Granger was something of a legend as a high school athlete at Oberlin, yet very real to the young men who tried to tackle him. He earned four varsity letters in football, basketball and track, and two letters in baseball. The 6-0, 208-pounder was an all - district back for three years in high school, all - state election for the past two years, and was chosen to the All - America team last season. A versatile athlete, Granger made the all - district basketball team for two seasons, and won the shot put in the class B state track and field meet.

As a senior at Oberlin, Granger rushed for 1,435 yards in regular season play and scored 200 points for a team that compiled a 15-0 record.

Laird, the 5-11, 175-pound selection from Woodlawn in Shreveport, is capable of playing any position in the backfield, and adjusting to any formation the West coaches may come up with. At Woodlawn, this all - city, all-district, and second team all - state choice was quite a passer. He threw for 177 yards in one game, and 1,948 yards last season.

Fambrough, the bruising ramrod from Springhill, rushed for 788 yards in eight games last year, including one game when he rambled for 148 yards. Larry was selected to the all - district 1-AA team for two years, and was an honorable mention all - stater last year. He's equipped for the rugged assignments of a fullback, a sturdy 6-2, 190-pounder.

Vincent, a three - sport letterman while maintaining an A average at Sulphur High, is another top fullback, equally effective on offense or defense. In one game last year he rushed for 151 yards. Mike earned all - district, all-state and honorable mention All - America laurels as a high school performer.

It's obvious that the West all-stars are not lacking at fullback.

Northeast Louisiana Wildlife

By DICK WALL
Wildlife Instructor
Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Comm.

Now that dry weather is here activities of District II of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission are really in full swing.

Jim Davis, Biologist in charge of fisheries reports that considerable work has already been done this summer on fish population studies.

Briefly here's the picture on some local water as Jim sees it:

BAYOU DeSIARD — Crappie and bream populations are good; lots of bass but hard to find; shad population on the increase as expected following the rotenoning of the bayou in 1959.

BAYOU BARTHOLOMEW — Real good bass and bream populations; crappie just average.

BUSSEY BRAKE — Excellent in all respects, it continues to be the best fishing hole around these parts. An excellent example of what good management can produce. Jim also reports that most bass are being taken in deep water on blue worms, however, the "fisherman's fisherman" Mr. Russell White is hauling them in on a pink worm.

Cliff Williams, District II Supervisor, reports that work on the new Russell Sage Game Management Area is now moving along at a good pace. Boundary marking is well under way and should be completed before the hunting season. Hunter access roads are being built and should be in by season opening. Piling has been driven for the new headquarters building and actual construction will begin this month.

Work on a new waterfowl impoundment north of Highway 80 should begin this month. This entire 15,000 acre area should furnish some excellent hunting by fall when it will be opened for public use.

The black francolin, an imported game bird from Pakistan, which has been released in the vicinity of Oak Ridge for the last two years appears to be adapting very well to the area.

Cliff says that it's still too early to predict the future of the birds as far as hunting is concerned but results so far have been very encouraging. He had nothing but praise for the people around Oak Ridge and the excellent cooperation they have given him in protecting these birds.

The overall prospects for hunting this year look very good at the present time. Deer are in excellent shape with lots of browse to feed on. Lots of new territory is expected to be opened to the deer hunter this year and the kill on old areas should be just as high or higher than last year.

The local hatch of doves and quail has been good and with the new federal regulations allowing a three-way split season on doves we should have some excellent shooting.

Remember, these predictions are for our entire area in general. As always, some spots will be good and others, well, not so good. Here's hoping you find the good ones.

Miss Wright Is Disqualified

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — First round leader Mickey Wright was disqualified from the $10,000 Women's Eastern Open Golf Tournament Saturday when she signed her card showing a wrong score.

Visibly upset over a series of mishaps during her wobbly round, Miss Wright attested a card showing her score to be 79. Actually, it should have been 81.

The LPGA rules committee immediately disqualified her, the first such action since Jackie Pung lost the women's U.S. Open championship four years ago at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Shirley Englehorn, whose even par 74 trailed Miss Wright by three strokes entering the second round of the 54-hole test, took over the lead with a 77 for a 151 total.

Miss Wright readily acknowledged her mistake and accepted the disqualification without a protest.

The tall, long-hitting blonde, now playing out of Dallas, had signed her card showing a 3 on No. 16 and a 4 on 17. These figures should have been 4 and 5 for the respective holes.

Miss Wright, the LPGA's leading money winner, had engaged in a lively discussion with another of the professional stars at the scorer's table prior to signing her card. This involved a rules interpretation which came up early in her round, and she was obviously thus distracted and upset when she signed the erroneous card.

Leading scores after two rounds in the 54-hole, $10,000 Women's Eastern Golf Tournament (par 37-37—74).

DISCRIMINATION?

Veterans' Burial Causes Problems

WASHINGTON — The Kennedy administration has given up the fight in at least one instance in its all-out campaign to ban discriminatory practices where federal contracts are involved, it has just been learned.

At issue is the highly delicate question of a Negro funeral home's right to handle burial services for deceased white veterans.

But the matter is well in the way to being solved by a high-level administrative directive barring the likelihood of any further disputes over Negroes' rights to bid on federal burial contracts.

As far as can be determined, this is the first time in which the President's Equal Employment Opportunities commission has been unable to impose the weight of the federal government to give Negores an equal break on government contracts.

Vice President Lyndon Johnson is chairman of the commission.

The Veterans Administration is quietly and effectively solving this knotty problem by removing it from under the aegis of the commission.

Now funeral homes are still permitted to bid on these burial contracts but the next of kin of deceased veterans can choose their own funeral homes.

Here is what has happened.

For years VA hospitals around the country entered into contracts with near by funeral homes which agreed to handle all burial arrangements for or below the $250 to which every deceased veteran is entitled.

This was done principally for indigent veterans whose families were not able to finance the cost of burial and depended entirely on the $250 put up by the government.

Traffic Mishaps, Probe Of Theft Highlight Day

A flurry of minor automobile accidents and a theft investigation kept police departments in the Twin Cities busy Saturday.

A five - car collision on Louisville Avenue shortly after 3 p.m. Saturday resulted in 32 year old O. C. Hancock, of 412 Melvyn Dr., being charged with following too close in traffic.

Monroe officers were also investigating the theft of a money bag containing $32 from the Seven - Eleven Store on Lee Avenue sometime Friday evening. An employee of the store, Floyd Jeffreys of 1005 South Ninth St., reported the theft to police late Friday.

Early Saturday morning, Monroe officers booked a Negro woman, Minnie Lee Lawrence, of 3813 Dunlap St., on two liquor violations. She was held under a $250 bond on counts of staying open after hours and serving alcoholic beverages after hours at her business — Lawrence's Cafe, at 3813 Dunlap St.

The Negro woman was apprehended in the cafe around 2 a.m. Saturday.

Monroe officers also booked an 18 year-old youth, John I. Covington of 712 Hudson Ln., for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, no driver's license and reckless driving. He was booked at 1:21 a.m. after being taken into custody in the 1000 block of Jackson. Bond was set at $165.

In West Monroe, Ted Smith of 204 S. 4th St., reported losing a 22 caliber pistol sometime Friday. He said he laid the gun on the trunk of his car and forgot it. Smith believes the gun fell off the rear while he was driving down Coleman Street. Anyone finding a gun in a holster is requested to take it to the police department.

HILLYER S. PARKER for DISTRICT JUDGE

The Judicial ermine should be as pure as the quality of justice itself.

It should typify the mind, the spirit, the character and the life of the judge who wears it.

Its protecting mantel should shield from every influence save that of truth, justice and equity.

Consecration to what it symbolizes makes the upright judge.

In statuary, justice is represented with unseeing eyes, holding scales in perfect balance.

So it should be with a judge.

He should not see the suitor before him — that they are great or small, rich or poor, powerful or weak, friend or foe.

The balances should weigh nothing but the merits of the cause.

No judge ever measures up to such an ideal.

Many judges, in their aspirations, have striven to attain it.

It will be my goal.

HILLYER S. PARKER for DISTRICT JUDGE

The Judicial ermine should be as pure as the quality of justice itself.

It should typify the mind, the spirit, the character and the life of the judge who wears it.

Its protecting mantel should shield from every influence save that of truth, justice and equity.

Consecration to what it symbolizes makes the upright judge.

In statuary, justice is represented with unseeing eyes, holding scales in perfect balance.

So it should be with a judge.

He should not see the suitor before him — that they are great or small, rich or poor, powerful or weak, friend or foe.

The balances should weigh nothing but the merits of the cause.

No judge ever measures up to such an ideal.

Many judges, in their aspirations, have striven to attain it.

It will be my goal.

Lowly T-Shirt, Dungarees Now Haute Couture

NEW YORK (AP) — Goodness knows how the brawny cowboy, truck driver, lumberjack or gob will react when he discovers his wardrobe is very chic—in fact, haute couture.

But it is. And so is the peasant's scarf, the governess' uniform, the coachman's jacket, the reporter's trench coat, grandpa's night shirt, and even the patches off the poor man's breeches.

Fashion writers here for the New York Couture Group's semi-annual press week will see for themselves as they preview fall and winter styles: American couturiers are enjoying a wave of plebianism.

There is much to be said for the working man's garb, they've decided. There's much to be borrowed, recreated in expensive fabric, and repriced out of the common man's reach.

Wispy, owl-eyed Yves Saint-Laurent, former designer for Christian Dior, started the garment district designers here to thinking in terms of fashion democracy.

Seeing no reason why the poor little rich girl should be deprived of a sailor's pea coat simply because she could afford something better, he made pea jackets at prices that even the admiral's wife couldn't meet.

He also saw no reason why cowboy scarves, ten-gallon hats, and even lowly dungarees couldn't be made to cost a lot more and therefore enjoy the prestige of being a status symbol.

Taking up Saint-Laurent's lead, New York designers have peppered the market with pea jackets and dude clothes. In various interpretations they'll be prominent in the all day style shows throughout this week.

Donald Brooks of Townley did his part by adding the governess' dress to his fall collection.

Bill Blass, for Maurice Rentner, makes much of the coachman's coat. He also does more for the truck driver's T-shirt than Marlon Brando ever did.

The bell type skirt of organza, richly appliqued with satin, fell in graceful fullness and a wide satin fold at bottom of hemline extended into a chapel train. Her wrist length veil of French illusion, drifted from a pill box of appliqued organza and satin. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses and stephanotis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Allen was attired in a sheath model of soft rose lace over matching taffeta with chiffon cummerbund forming a side drape. The bodice was embroidered with pearls at the waistline. She wore a small chiffon hat in same shade, studded with pearls and white accessories. Mrs. Darnell, mother of the bridegroom wore ashes of roses marquisette with lace applique over taffeta, with matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Allen were hosts at a reception in the Blue Room of the church. Baskets of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums were placed at vantage points throughout the room. Receiving with the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Darnell, the bridal couple and the bride's attendants.

Mrs. Robert Rogers of Bastrop invited the guests to register in the bride's book at a small table, adorned by a memory candle, surrounded by pink roses and English ivy.

The bride's table, covered with a beautiful organdy and satin floor length cloth over pink, was enhanced by a centerpiece of white carnations and Fujii chrysanthemums, arranged in a silver epergne, flanked on either side by glowing white tapers in silver candelabra. The tiered white bridal cake, decorated with pink roses, was served by Mrs. Fred Roninson of New Orleans.

Alternating at the crystal punch service were Miss Judy Haile of Haile and Miss Jamie Parker of Sterlington. Tea girls were Misses Sandra, Sue and Sherry Parker of Sterlington, cousins of the bride and Misses Colleen Carpenter and Angela Caskey, all attired in lovely sheer pastel party frocks and wearing white carnation corsages.

Noted on the piano was an arrangement of Majestic daisies in a footed silver bowl. Mrs. Hardy Palmer, Jr., of Saint Joseph, furnished soft music at the piano during the reception.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to points in Kentucky, the bride was wearing a two piece suit of teal blue silk, with close fitting hat in matching shade and white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Darnell will reside at Cleveland, Mississippi, where they will teach at Cleveland Junior High School.

John Guerriero Jr. Claims Bride Saturday

Miss Marcia Louise Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Franklin Davis, of Jackson, Miss., became the bride of John Joseph Guerriero, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Guerriero, Saturday morning, July 21. St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Monroe, was the setting for the nuptial mass and double ring ceremony with the Rev. Father Warren T. Sarroque officiating.

Altar boys were Michael Davis, brother of the bride, and Jim Ussery, nephew of the groom.

Banks of greenery and arrangements of gladioli formed the background at the altar. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Della Williamson, organist, and Mrs. Waymon Etier, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of silk peau-de-soie. The bodice, having a scooped neck line and short sleeves, was ornated with sprays of alencon lace, re-embroidered with pearls. The skirt was accented with sprays of lace from the waist to the hemline on the front. The bride's triple tiered veil of French illusion fell from a queen's crown of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanoti and white orchids.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Bobby Ray Hipps of Greenville, Mississippi. Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Jo Ussery, niece of the groom, Miss Lucille Cernigliaro and Miss Adeline Elias, all of Monroe. Junior bridesmaids were Katherine Cecile Davis, sister of the bride, and Jill Ann Ussery, niece of the groom.

Joseph D. Guerriero of Monroe, cousin of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Abdalla Elias and Robert Carter of Monroe and John Thomas Davis of Jackson, Mississippi, brother of the bride. Ushers were Sam Tornatore, Jack Fontana and Jim Dimos.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids wore identical dresses of sky blue silk organza over blue taffeta. Their head-dresses were single silk organza roses in blue to match their dresses. They carried bouquets of roses. The junior bridesmaids wore identical blue silk organza dresses with head bands made of roses to match their old fashioned bouquets.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis wore a powder pink embroidered sheath with matching hat and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Guerriero chose a cornflower blue silk with matching hat of silk organza and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. T. C. Decareaux, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a dress of aqua pure silk and a glamellia corsage. Mrs. Florence Davis, paternal grandmother, chose a navy blue silk shantung and wore a glamellia corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Paragon Club. Serving the bride's cake were Miss Armandine Renaud and Mrs. George Guerriero. The champagne punch was served by Mrs. Lenny Fant and Mrs. Bobby Webb. Mrs. A. M. Guerriero kept the bride's register.

Before leaving on an extended wedding trip the bride changed to a hedge green pure silk suit. She wore matching accessories and hat of green tulle with an orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will reside at 304 Downey Lane, Monroe.

Lowly T-Shirt, Dungarees Now Haute Couture

NEW YORK (AP) — Goodness knows how the brawny cowboy, truck driver, lumberjack or gob will react when he discovers his wardrobe is very chic—in fact, haute couture.

But it is. And so is the peasant's scarf, the governess' uniform, the coachman's jacket, the reporter's trench coat, grandpa's night shirt, and even the patches off the poor man's breeches.

Fashion writers here for the New York Couture Group's semi-annual press week will see for themselves as they preview fall and winter styles: American couturiers are enjoying a wave of plebianism.

There is much to be said for the working man's garb, they've decided. There's much to be borrowed, recreated in expensive fabric, and repriced out of the common man's reach.

Wispy, owl-eyed Yves Saint-Laurent, former designer for Christian Dior, started the garment district designers here to thinking in terms of fashion democracy.

Seeing no reason why the poor little rich girl should be deprived of a sailor's pea coat simply because she could afford something better, he made pea jackets at prices that even the admiral's wife couldn't meet.

He also saw no reason why cowboy scarves, ten-gallon hats, and even lowly dungarees couldn't be made to cost a lot more and therefore enjoy the prestige of being a status symbol.

Taking up Saint-Laurent's lead, New York designers have peppered the market with pea jackets and dude clothes. In various interpretations they'll be prominent in the all day style shows throughout this week.

Donald Brooks of Townley did his part by adding the governess' dress to his fall collection.

Bill Blass, for Maurice Rentner, makes much of the coachman's coat. He also does more for the truck driver's T-shirt than Marlon Brando ever did.

Schwendimann-Reichelt Vows Heard In Longview

The marriage vows of Miss Carol Ann Reichelt and Frederick William Schwendimann were heard Saturday evening at 8 in the sanctuary of Wesley Methodist church, Longview, Texas. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Reichelt of Longview, while the groom's parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Fred W. Schwendimann of Winnsboro.

Tall tapers in spiral Swedish iron candelabra lighted the altar area, where the Rev. Mr. Schwendimann officiated at the double ring ceremony. White gladioli and beauty asters in white urns on matching pedestals flanked the communion table.

A program of pre-nuptial music was given by W. C. Hall, organist, and Marcia Stewart, soloist, both of Beaumont.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of silk organza with beaded applique and chapel length train of peau de soie. A crown of orange blossoms held her veil of silk illusion.

The bride's attendants included Miss Kay Cooper of Sulphur, maid of honor; Miss Nancy Lecky of El Dorado, Ark.; Miss Charlott Stodghill of Rayville; and Miss Sallie Clingman of Shreveport. They wore identical dresses of Copen blue silk organza, with hats of matching flowers and leaves. Their nosegays of butterfly roses, blue tulle and ivy were arranged in scalloped holders.

Newcomer GAY TARVER, who recently came to Monroe from Shreveport, was named guest of honor when JEAN HUENEFELD was hostess for luncheon at noon on Thursday. Ten guests gathered at the Huenefeld home on Pargoud boulevard to meet Gay.

Pink roses were used with tube roses and ivy in the dining room centerpiece. Jean served a summery meal consisting of a fresh fruit plate with home made ice cream and pound cake for dessert.

Prior to her departure Monday after a month's visit, SATCHIE NOLAN entertained at luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club last Friday. Satchie, who now lives in Eagle Pass, Texas, emphasized a Southwestern theme in table appointments. Majestic daisies and green ivy in a Mexican straw basket centered the table on the Club porch. Tequila daisy cocktails were served to begin the party. Shrimp salad and assorted desserts completed the menu prepared for twenty guests.

Honoring Satchie and her husband, BUZZ NOLAN, JOYCE and DICK KELLOGG invited nine for dinner at the Embers last Friday night. Marconi daisies, white stock and coral gladioli in a silver bowl, echoing the decor of the private dining room, centered the table. White tapers burned in silver candelabra at each side. Steak with all the trimmings comprised the dinner menu. Satchie, Buzz and the children left Monday to return home to Eagle Pass.

Off to Mexico are LORA and BOB CARSON, who left on Friday in a party with the R. L. BAILEYS, JR. of Tallulah, and the BUDDY MARTINS of Greenwood, Miss. The men will take part in a golf tournament at Monterey Country club. The group plans to be away about ten days.

Thursday at noon, JEANNETTE RODDEY and her daughter, MARTHA HEUER, entertained at a mother-daughter luncheon honoring several visitors. The guests included ETHEL BOARDMAN and her daughter, JOAN PECK, here from Washington, D. C.; FRANCES M'HENRY and her daughters, CORNELIA GRANT, of Louisville, Ky., and MARY McHENRY, MARY HAZEL MEEK and MIMI MELVEY from Ottowa, Canada, and SHELBY GLADNEY of Vidalia. On the table, palest pink crepe myrtle matched pink carnations in the centerpiece. The menu included chicken mousse, marinated beans, tomato halves with spinach, blueberry muffins and mint tea. For dessert, Bourbon peaches with ice cream and cherries, and coffee, of course.

Two more performances of "The Clown and His Circus" are to be presented at Strauss Playhouse, a matinee at 2:30 this afternoon, and an evening presentation at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Today's hostesses at the pink lemonade stand will be ALICE ALLEMAN, BETTY MABBAY, and JEAN DIXON.

ALICE CARBREY carried out a mid-summer theme for her bridge luncheon Friday honoring Joan Peck. Flowers were gladioli in shades of peach and yellow used with bananas, peaches, and aspidistra foliage. Alice served crab custard in scallop shells, tomato aspic, and broccoli with Hollandaise. Dessert was orange sherbet with homemade petit fours. Three tables of players took part in bridge games after lunch. Garden gloves and a needlepoint flower holder in a clay pot was given as high prize, low was a small watermelon.

This week wewereprivilegedto

This week we were privileged to visit the new French country home of the JACK INABNETS on Deborah Drive. Construction is of antique brick, with center entrance and high pitched roof. In the entrance hall one first finds the broken quarry tile floor, which continues through the family room ahead and then to the right through kitchen to the rear door. Walls in the entry are covered with a textured white on white wallpaper above white wainscoting. An antique love seat upholstered in blue velvet stands opposite the double folding doors into the living room on the right.

Living room and dining room beyond are painted white, with carpet and draperies of martini. Folded louvered doors are used between entrance and living room and between living and dining rooms. Those opening into the den are white faced with charter oak.

Family room and the informal dining room and kitchen beyond are panelled in charter oak. The open fireplace in the den is made of the same antique brick used in outside construction. Draperies of natural linen in an open weave pull across the glass wall which overlooks the patio with its fountain and shade trees. Furnishings in the family room are in brown and beige shades with blue accents, and the wrought iron patio furniture is blue.

In the family dining room furniture is of rubbed pine, most effective with the panelled walls. Brown fixtures are used in the kitchen, seen through the pass-through with its shutters. At the windows are draperies in a provincial print of blues, greens, and brown.

Bedrooms are to the left as one enters the house. First is daughter LEE's room, with blue walls and blue shutters at the windows. White draperies are printed with blue flowers and birds on a green branch. Folding louvered doors cover the closet. JAY's bedroom, with driftwood white walls, has white spool beds covered with blue corduroy spreads. Draperies are white linen printed with blue and green Japanese lanterns.

In HUGH's room, natural linen draperies are striped in blues and greens, with blue walls and blue spreads picking up the color.

On the bedroom hall are a hunt closet for Jack's guns and equipment, and a cedar closet for out of season storage. The children's bath is panelled in oak, with granite colored tile.

Gold is the dominant note in the master bedroom, with gold carpeting underfoot, gold striped draperies over the window overlooking the patio, and gold and white draperies and wallpaper in the bath. Furniture is of pecan with a gold bedspread.

Our poem today is "The World We Made" by Elizabeth Landeweer:

Before we met, my world was incomplete.
And I could find no way to make it whole.
It needed spice, or something tart or sweet
I could not name to save my troubled soul.
And then you came, and what a world we made,
And gazed upon with our believing eyes!
A world we savored, glad and unafraid,
And found so full of stars and lullabies
That even now we speak of it in tones
Of two young dreamers, and it fires old bones.

A NEWCOMER TO MONROE, Mrs. Jimmy Wright Tarver, is pictured with her hostess, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Jr., at a luncheon in the Huenefeld home on Pargoud Boulevard on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Tarver, who recently moved to this city from Shreveport, are being welcomed at a series of informal parties.

AN AUGUST WEDDING is planned by Miss Dorothy Jeanne Quigley of Hattiesburg, Miss., and Larry Truett Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Brooks of West Monroe. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. John N. Quigley, Jr., of Hattiesburg and the late Mr. Quigley. The ceremony is planned for 2 p.m., Sunday, August 26, at Sacred Heart Catholic church, with a reception to follow at Hattiesburg Country Club.

Off to Mexico are LORA and BOB CARSON, who left on Friday in a party with the R. L. BAILEYS, JR., of Tallulah; and the BUDDY MARTINS of Greenwood, Miss. The men will take part in a golf tournament at Monterey Country club. The group plans to be away about ten days.

Thursday at noon, JEANNETTE RODDEY and her daughter, MARTHA HEUER, entertained at a mother - daughter luncheon honoring several visitors. The guests included ETHEL BOARDMAN and her daughter, JOAN PECK, here from Washington, D. C.; FRANCES M'HENRY and her daughters, CORNELIA GRANT, of Louisville, Ky., and MARY McHENRY; MARY HAZEL MEEK and MIMI MELVEY from Ottowa, Canada, and SHELBY GLADNEY of Vidalia . . . On the table, palest pink crepe myrtle matched pink carnations in the centerpiece. The menu included chicken mousse, marinated beans, tomato halves with spinach, blueberry muffins and mint tea. For dessert, Bourbon peaches with ice cream and cherries, and coffee, of course.

Two more performances of "The Clown and His Circus" are to be presented at Strauss Playhouse: a matinee at 2:30 this afternoon, and an evening presentation at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Today's hostesses at the pink lemonade stand will be ALICE ALLEMAN, BETTY MABBAY, and JEAN DIXON.

ALICE CARBREY carried out a mid-summer theme for her bridge luncheon Friday honoring Joan Peck. Flowers were gladioli in shades of peach and yellow used with bananas, peaches, and aspidistra foliage. Alice served crab custard in scallop shells, tomato aspic, and broccoli with Hollandaise. Dessert was orange sherbet with homemade petit fours . . . Three tables of players took part in bridge games after lunch. Garden gloves and a needlepoint flower holder in a clay pot was given as high prize; low was a small watermelon.

This week wewereprivilegedto

This week we were privileged to visit the new French country home of the JACK INABNETS on Deborah Drive. Construction is of antique brick, with center entrance and high pitched roof. In the entrance hall, one first finds the broken quarry tile floor, which continues through the family room ahead and then to the right through kitchen to the rear door. Walls in the entry are covered with a textured white on white wallpaper above white wainscoting. An antique love seat upholstered in blue velvet stands opposite the double folding doors into the living room on the right.

Living room and dining room beyond are painted white, with carpet and draperies of martini. Folded louvered doors are used between entrance and living room and between living and dining rooms. Those opening into the den are white faced with charter oak.

Family room and the informal dining room and kitchen beyond are panelled in charter oak. The open fireplace in the den is made of the same antique brick used in outside construction. Draperies of natural linen in an open weave pull across the glass wall which overlooks the patio with its fountain and shade trees. Furnishings in the family room are in brown and beige shades with blue accents, and the wrought iron patio furniture is blue.

In the family dining room, furniture is of rubbed pine, most effective with the panelled walls. Brown fixtures are used in the kitchen, seen through the pass - through with its shutters. At the windows are draperies in a provincial print of blues, greens, and brown.

Bedrooms are to the left as one enters the house. First is daughter LEE's room, with blue walls and blue shutters at the windows. White draperies are printed with blue flowers and birds on a green branch. Folding louvered doors cover the closet. . . . JAY's bedroom, with driftwood white walls, has white spool beds covered with blue corduroy spreads. Draperies are white linen printed with blue and green Japanese lanterns . . . In HUGH's room, natural linen draperies are striped in blues and greens, with blue walls and blue spreads picking up the color.

On the bedroom hall are a hunt closet for Jack's guns and equipment, and a cedar closet for out of season storage. The children's bath is panelled in oak, with granite colored tile.

Gold is the dominant note in the master bedroom, with gold carpeting underfoot, gold striped draperies over the window overlooking the patio, and gold and white draperies and wallpaper in the bath. Furniture is of pecan, with a gold bedspread.

Our poem today is "The World We Made" by Elizabeth Landeweer?

Before we met, my world was incomplete,
And I could find no way to make it whole.
It needed spice, or something tart or sweet
I could not name to save my troubled soul.
And then you came, and what a world we made,
And gazed upon with our believing eyes!
A world we savored, glad and unafraid,
And found so full of stars and lullabies
That even now we speak of it in tones
Of two young dreamers, and it fires old bones.

ONION SPARKS OMELET

Make Sunday brunch a meal to look forward to all week! Drain 1 can (1 lb.) stewed tomatoes) stir in 2 tablespoons instant minced onion and a small can of drained sliced mushrooms. Simmer until well-heated and use as a filling for an omelet.

STUFFED DATE SNACK

Have a quick snack ready ahead of time for hungry youngsters. Stuff pitted fresh California dates with a mixture of softened cream cheese, chopped nuts and a "hint" of grated orange rind. Serve with platter of assorted fresh fruits for dessert, too!

VEGETABLES TWIST

Stumped when it comes to giving a tasty twist to vegetables? Blend ¼ cup butter or margarine with 1 tablespoon instant minced onion. Stir into drained, cooked vegetables just before serving.

LELAND LANGRIDGE JR.

Pastor Starts Assignment At Fair Park

The Rev. Leland A. Langridge Jr., newly appointed pastor of Fair Park Baptist Church on White's Ferry Road in West Monroe, will preside at morning service today.

A native of New Orleans, he came to the Fair Park post from a pastorate at Lake Charles. He formerly served in pulpits at Iowa and Lockport, La.

Rev. Langridge is a graduate of Byrd High School, Shreveport; Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, and New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

He is married to the former Jeanette Dowden of Natchitoches, and has a son and two daughters.

Trend Idea On Religion Challenged

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

To comprehend the problems which now face America's churches, we must stop romanticizing history.

So says a leading church historian, Prof Franklin Hamlin Littell of Southern Methodist University.

Prof Littell debunks the popular notion that America began as a highly religious nation, but has slipped into a "post-Christian era."

Just the opposite is true, he maintains in a new book entitled "From State Church to Pluralism" (Doubleday Anchor Original)

"The time of the Founding Fathers was not an age of Christian virtue," he says, spiking one of the favorite themes of Fourth of July orators "Actually, America was a heathen nation at the beginning of the Republic."

FOUND STATE CHURCHES

Most of the colonies, following the European model, had established state churches. And these state churches suffered in America, as in Europe, from widespread public apathy. At the time of the Revolution, no more than 5 per cent of the American people were church members.

The proportion of the U.S. population affiliated with churches has climbed steadily since 1776, and now stands near 70 per cent. This vast expansion of membership, resulting from mass evangelism in successive waves of religious revival, "is the most important single fact in American church history," says Prof. Littell.

It means that America's churches have absorbed, within a relatively short period of time, the greatest influx of converts in the whole history of Christianity.

"Most American church members are first-generation, or at best second-generation Christians," he says. "The problems which confront churches today—and they are many — are parallel to those which are found in all periods and places in church history where large masses of new converts affiliate with a religion whose implications they but vaguely grasp."

What are the problems that face America's churches as a result of "the most successful missionary effort in the world?"

One, says Prof. Littell, is widespread religious illiteracy among church members. "Only once before in church history, when masses of Germanic tribesmen embraced the official religion of the Roman Empire, have such serious problems of education confronted the church."

A related problem is the weakening, to the point of virtual disappearance in some large Protestant bodies, of church discipline. Churches which once had distinctive tenets now find their most basic teachings flouted by members who apparently feel under no obligation either to live by the rules or get out.

Prof. Littell believes that "the scandal of indiscipline" in major Protestant bodies reflects a widespread misunderstanding of what religious freedom means. To him, it means that a person is free to choose whether or not he will join and support a particular church. It does not mean that one who has voluntarily identified himself with a religious community is free thereafter to spurn its moral disciplines and make a mockery of its teachings.

Perhaps the most basic of all problems confronting churches, in Prof. Littell's view, is the fact that millions of their members have taken on the name, but not the yoke, of Christ.

"Inadequately trained for membership, without the proper instruments of voluntary discipline, many members never have had the discontinuity between life in Christ and life in the world brought home to them," he says.

As the Germanic tribesmen of the 9th Century brought polygamy, blood vendettas, torture of prisoners and other barbaric customs with them into the church, so the "new Christians" of 20th century America come into the church clinging to the sexual mores, business ethics and racial prejudices of an "unbaptized society."

Prof. Littell is not disposed to blame the "new Christians" for this state of affairs.

"The ordinary members," he says, "are less at fault than the leadership of the churches which neglect catechetical instruction and concentrate solely on the accumulation of more new members at any price."

MISSIONARIES TAKEN

Raid Falls Short Of Intended Goal

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Communist guerrillas who recently kidnaped three American missionaries in South Viet Nam must feel a little like the hunter who aimed for the ducks but hit the decoys.

"They may have been fooled," said Olive Kingsbury, a blonde, blue-eyed nurse who was present at the time of the foray.

Miss Kingsbury, of Cavendish, Vt., just returned on home leave from the jungles of the Southeast Asian country, gave additional details of the raid on the American-run leprosy hospital.

SURPRISED

We weren't particularly afraid," she said. "We were just surprised. They had come, and that was that."

However, she cited indications that the raiders—a band of the Viet Cong—erroneously believed they were abducting three doctors but a coincidence of timing, only got one of them.

Shortly before the incursion, she said, a planned 10-day seminar for doctors had started at the hospital, and word of it apparently had reached the Communist forces, which had suffered recent extensive casualties.

"They needed doctors," Miss Kingsbury said.

However, because of bridge burnings and road destruction in the area, the seminar had closed in only three days, and by the time the guerrilla band appeared, only the staff physician, Dr. Eleanor A. Vietti, remained there.

As it turned out, instead of getting three doctors, the invaders made off with a minister—the the Rev. Archie Mitchell, 44, of Ellensburg, Wash., an orderly—Daniel Gerber, 21, of Dalton, Ohio, and Dr. Vietti, of Houston, Tex.

TREAT WOUNDED

They've been in Communist hands ever since the raid May 30, and reportedly are being used to treat the wounded and train the guerrillas in medical aid.

The 35-year-old Miss Kingsbury, a spirited, cheerful New Englander who has spent nine years in Viet Nam as a nurse for the Christian Missionary Alliance, said the hospital staff was gathering for a sunset prayer meeting when the raiders came.

She and two other nurses, Dawn Deets of Dixon, Ill., and Maxine Craig of Unity Saskatchewan, Canada, were walking across the yard. Three or four of the armed Viet Cong band confronted them.

"Where are the men?" one demanded in Roday, a tribal dialect.

"We don't know," said Miss Kingsbury, who speaks the language.

"Why don't you know?" the soldier retorted roughly, ordering the three nurses to stand at one side of the yard. Another nurse, Ruth Wilting of Cleveland, was later placed with them, all under guard.

SEIZED, BOUND

Meanwhile, on a road, about a dozen other guerrillas had seized and bound the Rev. Mr. Mitchell and Gerber. Others had taken Dr. Vietti. All the Americans were then herded together, and lectured on "American imperialism" by the guerrilla leader.

In taking the two men and Dr. Vietti, and leaving the others, the leader said: "We take your three heads. We understand the rest of you are just the feet and the hands, and are not wholly responsible. So we let you go."

They missed getting—by hours—the two male missionary doctors whom they apparently thought they had, Dr. Richard S. Buker of Vestal, N.Y. and Dr. Herbert Billman of Philadelphia, who had returned to other posts.

Miss Kigsbury, after her year's leave which she'll spend with her mother, Mrs. Ellen Kingsbury of Cavendish, intends to go back to the isolated Viet Nam hospital, which has about 250 leprosy patients.

"There is so much that can be done for them," she said.

Council Names Protestant To Chaplin Post

The National Council of Churches has appointed the first Protestant chaplain to American residents in Moscow, Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the Council, announced.

The Rev Donald V. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Tonawanda, N. Y., has been named to the new interdenominational post, which Dr. Ross described as one of "important ecumenical significance."

As the only American Protestant pastor in Moscow, Rev. Roberts will minister chiefly to U. S. diplomatic and press personnel and their families now resident in the Russian capital. The American colony is now estimated to total some 280, of whom 235 are attached to the U. S. Embassy.

Area Pastor, Wife Named Missionaries

An area pastor and his wife this month were appointed as missionaries to south Brazil by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board at a meeting in Richmond, Va.

They are the Rev. and Mrs. Paul W. Noland. He is pastor of Clayton Baptist Church, and she has been a teacher in Clayton schools.

FROM RAYVILLE

She is the former Betty Branch, daughter of Mr and Mrs. J. R. Branch of Rayville. He is a native of Baton Rouge. Both are graduates of Acadia Baptist Academy, Eunice, and Louisiana College, Pineville. He received a bachelor of divinity degree from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

Before coming to the Clayton pastorate he served in pulpits in Grayson, Colfax, Georgetown and Rhinehart, and was a teacher at Union Baptist Theological Seminary, New Orleans. Mrs. Noland was a teacher at Jena, and a social worker in Jena and New Orleans for the State Welfare Department. They have a small son.

Special Services Scheduled At Alabama Church

A week of special evangelistic services featuring the Rev. Carl O Eaton of Austin, Texas, will open Monday at Alabama Presbyterian Church north of Choudrant.

Rev. Eaton is pastor of Covenant Presbyterian Church in Austin.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Do you believe that when Christ was on the cross that God's suffering was equal to that of a soul in hell? And if so, is that not a good argument against the bitterness that some have that God was willing to suffer so much?
F. T.

ANSWER: There is no way for a man to understand how much Christ suffered on the cross. It is true from Scripture that Christ who was also God possessed all of our attributes infinitely. Where we have knowledge, Christ was omniscient. Where we have some strength, Christ was omnipotent. Where we can love with certain limitations, Christ loved infinitely. Being thus capable of experiencing to infinite, it is also most likely true that the degree of suffering He experienced was so much greater than we could conceivably experience that almost no comparison can ever be made.

The Rev. Leland A. Langridge Jr., newly appointed pastor of Fair Park Baptist Church on White's Ferry Road in West Monroe, will preside at morning service today.

A native of New Orleans, he came to the Fair Park post from a pastorate at Lake Charles. He formerly served in pulpits at Iowa and Lockport, La.

He is married to the former Jeanette Dowden of Natchitoches, and has a son and two daughters.

Trend Idea On Religion Challenged

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

To comprehend the problems which now face America's churches, we must stop romanticizing history.

So says a leading church historian, Prof. Franklin Hamlin Littell of Southern Methodist University.

Prof. Littell debunks the popular notion that America began as a highly religious nation, but has slipped into a "post-Christian era."

Just the opposite is true, he maintains in a new book entitled "From State Church to Pluralism" (Doubleday Anchor Original).

"The time of the Founding Fathers was not an age of Christian virtue," he says, spiking one of the favorite themes of Fourth of July orators. "Actually, America was a heathen nation at the beginning of the Republic."

FOUND STATE CHURCHES

Most of the colonies, following the European model, had established state churches. And these state churches suffered in America, as in Europe, from widespread public apathy. At the time of the Revolution, no more than 5 per cent of the American people were church members.

The proportion of the U.S. population affiliated with churches has climbed steadily since 1776, and now stands near 70 per cent. This vast expansion of membership, resulting from mass evangelism in successive waves of religious revival, "is the most important single fact in American church history," says Prof. Littell.

It means that America's churches have absorbed, within a relatively short period of time, the greatest influx of converts in the whole history of Christianity.

"Most American church members are first-generation, or at best second-generation Christians," he says. "The problems which confront churches today—and they are many — are parallel to those which are found in all periods and places in church history where large masses of new converts affiliate with a religion whose implications they but vaguely grasp."

What are the problems that face America's churches as a result of "the most successful missionary effort in the world?"

One, says Prof. Littell, is widespread religious illiteracy among church members. "Only once before in church history, when masses of Germanic tribesmen embraced the official religion of the Roman Empire, have such serious problems of education confronted the church."

A related problem is the weakening, to the point of virtual disappearance in some large Protestant bodies, of church discipline. Churches which once had distinctive tenets now find their most basic teachings flouted by members who apparently feel under no obligation either to live by the rules or get out.

Prof. Littell believes that "the scandal of indiscipline" in major Protestant bodies reflects a widespread misunderstanding of what religious freedom means. To him, it means that a person is free to choose whether or not he will join and support a particular church. It does not mean that one who has voluntarily identified himself with a religious community is free thereafter to spurn its moral disciplines and make a mockery of its teachings.

Perhaps the most basic of all problems confronting churches, in Prof. Littell's view, is the fact that millions of their members have taken on the name, but not the yoke, of Christ.

"Inadequately trained for membership, without the proper instruments of voluntary discipline, many members never have had the discontinuity between life in Christ and life in the world brought home to them," he says.

As the Germanic tribesmen of the 9th Century brought polygamy, blood vendettas, torture of prisoners and other barbaric customs with them into the church, so the "new Christians" of 20th century America come into the church clinging to the sexual mores, business ethics and racial prejudices of an "unbaptized society."

Prof. Littell is not disposed to blame the "new Christians" for this state of affairs.

"The ordinary members," he says, "are less at fault than the leadership of the churches who neglect catechetical instruction and concentrate solely on the acquisition of more new members at any price."

MISSIONARIES TAKEN

Raid Falls Short Of Intended Goal

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Communist guerrillas who recently kidnaped three American missionaries in South Viet Nam must feel a little like the hunter who aimed for the ducks but hit the decoys.

"They may have been fooled," said Olive Kingsbury, a blonde, blue-eyed nurse who was present at the time of the foray.

Miss Kingsbury, of Cavendish, Vt., just returned on home leave from the jungles of the Southeast Asian country, gave additional details of the raid on the American-run leprosy hospital.

SURPRISED

We weren't particularly afraid," she said. "We were just surprised. They had come, and that was that."

However, she cited indications that the raiders—a band of the Viet Cong—erroneously believed they were abducting three doctors but a coincidence of timing, only got one of them.

Shortly before the incursion, she said, a planned 10-day seminar for doctors had started at the hospital, and word of it apparently had reached the Communist forces, which had suffered recent extensive casualties.

"They needed doctors," Miss Kingsbury said.

However, because of bridge burnings and road destruction in the area, the seminar had closed in only three days, and by the time the guerrilla band appeared, only the staff physician, Dr. Eleanor A. Vietti, remained there.

As it turned out, instead of getting three doctors, the invaders made off with a minister—the the Rev. Archie Mitchell, 44, of Ellensburg, Wash., an orderly—Daniel Gerber, 21, of Dalton, Ohio, and Dr. Vietti, of Houston, Tex.

TREAT WOUNDED

They've been in Communist hands ever since the raid May 30, and reportedly are being used to treat the wounded and train the guerrillas in medical aid.

The 35-year-old Miss Kingsbury, a spirited, cheerful New Englander who has spent nine years in Viet Nam as a nurse for the Christian Missionary Alliance, said the hospital staff was gathering for a sunset prayer meeting when the raiders came.

She and two other nurses, Dawn Deets of Dixon, Ill., and Maxine Craig of Unity Saskatchewan, Canada, were walking across the yard. Three or four of the armed Viet Cong band confronted them.

"Where are the men?" one demanded in Roday, a tribal dialect.

"We don't know," said Miss Kingsbury, who speaks the language.

"Why don't you know?" the soldier retorted roughly, ordering the three nurses to stand at one side of the yard. Another nurse, Ruth Wilting of Cleveland, was later placed with them, all under guard.

SEIZED, BOUND

Meanwhile, on a road, about a dozen other guerrillas had seized and bound the Rev. Mr. Mitchell and Gerber. Others had taken Dr. Vietti. All the Americans were then herded together, and lectured on "American imperialism" by the guerrilla leader.

In taking the two men and Dr. Vietti, and leaving the others, the leader said: "We take your three heads. We understand the rest of you are just the feet and the hands, and are not wholly responsible. So we let you go."

They missed getting—by hours—the two male missionary doctors whom they apparently thought they had, Dr. Richard S. Buker of Vestal, N.Y. and Dr. Herbert Billman of Philadelphia, who had returned to other posts.

Miss Kigsbury, after her year's leave which she'll spend with her mother, Mrs. Ellen Kingsbury of Cavendish, intends to go back to the isolated Viet Nam hospital, which has about 250 leprosy patients.

"There is so much that can be done for them," she said.

Council Names Protestant To Chaplin Post

The National Council of Churches has appointed the first Protestant chaplain to American residents in Moscow, Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the Council, announced.

The Rev. Donald V. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Tonawanda, N. Y., has been named to the new interdenominational post, which Dr. Ross described as one of "important ecumenical significance."

As the only American Protestant pastor in Moscow, Rev. Roberts will minister chiefly to U. S. diplomatic and press personnel and their families now resident in the Russian capital. The American colony is now estimated to total some 280, of whom 235 are attached to the U. S. Embassy.

Area Pastor, Wife Named Missionaries

An area pastor and his wife this month were appointed as missionaries to south Brazil by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board at a meeting in Richmond, Va.

They are the Rev. and Mrs. Paul W. Noland. He is pastor of Clayton Baptist Church, and she has been a teacher in Clayton schools.

FROM RAYVILLE

She is the former Betty Branch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Branch of Rayville. He is a native of Baton Rouge. Both are graduates of Acadia Baptist Academy, Eunice, and Louisiana College, Pineville. He received a bachelor of divinity degree from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

Before coming to the Clayton pastorate he served in pulpits in Grayson, Colfax, Georgetown and Rhinehart, and was a teacher at Union Baptist Theological Seminary, New Orleans. Mrs. Noland was a teacher at Jena, and a social worker in Jena and New Orleans for the State Welfare Department. They have a small son.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Do you believe that when Christ was on the cross that God's suffering was equal to that of a soul in hell? And if so, is that not a good argument against the bitterness that some have that God was willing to suffer so much?
F. T.

ANSWER: There is no way for a man to understand how much Christ suffered on the cross.

It is true from Scripture that Christ who was also God possessed all of our attributes infinitely. Where we have knowledge, Christ was omniscient. Where we may have some strength, Christ was omnipotent. Where we can love with certain limitations, Christ loved infinitely. Being thus capable of experiencing all that we experience to infinitude, it is also most likely true that the degree of suffering He experienced was so much greater than any that we could conceivably experience that almost no comparison can ever be made.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Hybridizing Is Explained

By [illegible] JOHN TOLAR

Mrs. J. A. [illegible]patrick, president of the Dixie[illegible] Daylily Society, and a daylily enthusiast in every way, presented an excellent program on that type of flowers last Wednesday for the Garden Center and T. V. show. Hybridizing and obtaining new lilies is her hobby. Some of the seedlings that she grew were displayed on the show.

To begin the program Mrs. Kilpatrick showed one of the lovely specimens and told about each part of the blossom. These were the petals consisting of the outer and inner segments; the stamen, the pistol, the throat and midrib, and, the stem or scape which sometimes consists of an extra growth of leaves which, Mrs. Kilpatrick explained was the proliferation.

Her reason for explaining the parts of the lily was to make it easier to show how to cross pollinate. This she did for the viewers. The stamen consists of the anther and the filament. There are six of these stamens and one longer pistil. The pollen clings [illegible] the anthers.

CROSSING

By removing one of the anthers from one lily and dusting the pollen on the pistil of another we cross pollinate the two lilies, thus getting a cross of the two—or a new lily. Mrs. Kilpatrick said that it is much better to cross similar colors to get a more pleasing and true color in the new lily.

Another way to get new plants was demonstrated by her. She showed how to cut the proliferation from one of the scapes (old branch) and planted it in a prepared bed. She explained that when this is done the bed should be carefully made by using mulch with the soil and keeping the small plant watered often. This will give them a good start, and often they will bloom the following season. Some daylilies are more prolific than others. This is quite noticeable, Mrs Kilpatrick explained, especially the finer ones seem to have less proliferations.

In describing the daylilies we so often hear the terms "bicolor" and "self-colored" used. If the outer and inner segments are of nearly different colors, the term "bicolor" is used. If all the segments are of one color the flower is called "self-colored." Daylilies have different forms, also. We are told by experts that some are so beautiful and different in form that one might have some trouble at first classifying them as daylilies. The Hemerocallis Journal gives reports from some of these experts. James F. Miles writes an interesting report on "double" daylilies. He says that blossoms having more than six, but fewer than 12 petaloids may be classified as a semi-double. A daylily that produces double blossoms (12) consistently is classed as a "double." Much effort is still needed in hybridizing in order to produce 100 per cent double blossoms.

SLOW DOUBLES

Some doubles produce "double" blossoms only on the rebloom or second crop of scapes. It will actually take years, Miles explained, for doubles to reach comparable consistency with single daylilies.

Mrs. Kilpatrick divided a clump of daylilies to show just how to do this properly. She explained that it can be done now—or as soon as the lily begins to die down. As late as November we can do this. She carefully pulled the fleshy roots apart, thus dividing the new plants. The tops were cut off to about six or eight inches from the roots. Next she planted the divided lilies in a prepared bed, one that had been fertilized and well mulched.

We are prone to neglect daylilies since they require so little attention. By neglect I mean we fail to divide them properly or feed them at intervals. We should water the new plants. They should be planted where they receive at least four hours of sun daily. It is best to plant colors together. They make excellent border plants. They give sunshine to any garden or yard.

Thanks, Mrs. Kilpatrick, for your wonderful program. You are an inspiration to all who love flowers, especially our "perennial supreme," the daylily.

Our next program will be presented by Mrs. Marcus Mapp, an accomplished flower arranger and lecturer. She is a member of the Bayou DeSiard Garden Club.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Plant Beauty Of The Night

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The lily - shaped crinums are the flowers of the night supreme. As the daytime heat and light wane, crinum buds open. Most of them must be fertilized by night flying - insects at home in South Africa and India, for they open wide at night and remain open through the next day.

As cut flowers for evening decorations, crinums are the most spectacular flowers which grow here in the south.

Make a flower arrangement of crinums just at dusk, and put a light on the flowers for the fullest enjoyment of their beauty. The big scapes (stems) are something of a problem because of their size, but you can put them into something very large and stand them on the floor. For table decoration, the scapes can be cut off to a suitable size or single flowers can be used effectively on a dinner table in still smaller arrangement.

DISTINCTIVE

Each crinum has its own distinctive odor. Crinum amiable, with milk - and - wine blossoms of pink with red - purple stripes, is very sweet and slightly spicy. Some old gardens have the white crinum virgineum, just now finished flowering on its first round of bloom. This one smells delightfully of anise and spice. The named hybrid "Cecil Houdyshel" has plenty of rich fragrance, but it does not send its odor to any distance; you have to smell the blossoms.

Crinums respond wonderfully to air - conditioned houses. The low temperature makes each blossom keep for three instead of two days. Since many crinums have 10 to 12 buds on each scape, you will have a wonderful show of blossoms for several days from the same arrangement. Of course, after the third day, you will have to snip off the closed blossoms, though some kinds fold up so gracefully in bud that even this is not necessary.

NOT MANY

We do not have many true lilies in the south in summer, but crinums can take their place at evening weddings and other functions either in or out of air cooled buildings. Once you have enjoyed crinums at night in your own house, they invariably become something to look forward to in summer.

As the blue and orange or blue and yellow combination of vitex and daylilies goes out in summer gardens, that tough old perennial called echinops comes in to carry on the blue. It is very handsome planted near a clump of the orange tiger lilies that bloom at the same time.

We do not have enough white flowers in our gardens. With more white, all the colors blend better, and all colors are heightened. Patches of white summer phlox are eye catching when planted with the red form of bergamot to make a clean red and white scheme. White phlox is useful with almost everything because of its uniform height and solid mass. It adds coolness to the garden whereever it grows.

Wall Fashion Varies With Room Sizes

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you've the feeling your home needs something, but can't pinpoint just quite what it is, try taking a good look at your walls.

"You can't hide your walls or sweep them under a rug. They can't be ignored because they are the most prominent part of a room — But they are also the most neglected," according to Jerome Blonder, president of the Imperial Wallpaper Mill, Inc., in Cleveland.

Blonder, whose firm manufactures eight lines of wall coverings in 1,600 patterns and styles, says wall covering today ranks as a top fashion item in the decorating medium because of what it can do to alter size and appearance.

CALLS ATENTION

Color and pattern, for instance, can change the look, size and shape of a room. Pattern is a "focalizer" — an eye-catcher, calling attention to the good points of a room and covering up the bad points.

Wall covering can do much to "furnish" a room that is light on furniture and accessories. "Yet," Blonder said, "many homeowners who would not think twice about spending a large sum for a single piece of furniture would pause before investing far less in the appearance of the walls around them."

Imaginative use of wall paper can supply a new dimension, add texture, depth and individuality to your rooms and paper of one sort or another can be used in any room.

With wallpapers running the gamut in design and color — everything from simple solids with perhaps a texture to elaborate brocades and whimsical styles for hallway, bath, kitchen or children's or play rooms, any taste can be satisfied.

COORDINATE COLORS

Blonder suggested, however, that all rooms be color-coordinated, with patterns in adjoining areas falling within the same family hue or in complementary accent.

Small overall patterns are good for small rooms with architectural defects, covering walls, ceiling and jutting areas. Larger patterns will do the same for big rooms, and light, bright colors can do wonders for a dark room. High ceilings can be lowered visually with paper.

Men Neglect Hair, Claims Film Stylist

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "French poodles get much better treatment of their hair than do men," says movie hairstylist Jay Sebring.

Sebring is the young fellow who styles hair for Henry Fonda, Frank Sinatra, Marlon Brando and other stars.

He doesn't call himself a barber.

"Man's hair should not be cut," he says, "it should be styled to suit his face, his personality—the same as a woman. Once that is done properly, then it's just a matter of trimming to keep it looking right."

It takes a movie star to afford Sebring. First visit costs $25, subsequent trims $15. Sinatra pays $40.

"He has a barber chair built in his house and I go to him," he says.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

At every public event, with primary interest focused on the center stage spotlight, there may be pictorial drama or human interest on the sidelines or behind the scenes.

Amateur photographers are often in a better position to record these off scene sidelights than the press photographers who may be required to remain in a strategic spot.

It was almost by accident that I discovered that roaming with a camera may reap rewards. I was shooting the Music Man Marching Band parade in Mason City, Iowa, when I finished a roll of film. Breaking through the crowd that lined the street, I found a quiet shady spot to reload.

Before I could regain my place, I saw some interesting sights in the rear ranks. Two boys had climbed a police stanchion and hung on precariously while they had an elevated view of the proceedings.

Near them a row of ladders stretched across a street intersection providing individual balcony seats for a group. In addition, a plank was stretched between two of the ladders making private seats for a couple more.

This prompted the thought, "What a way to see a parade!" I started scouting for other angles from the rear.

In back of the grandstand, boys were climbing the timbers like a jungle gym. A cute four-year-old girl roosted in some cross-beams. Her view was in the opposite direction from the parade. A tiny tyke straddled the iron construction bars and all he could see were the feet of people sitting in the grandstand. But he was happy.

Further on I focused on a lad perched in a tree fork, high over the grandstand. Then I came across four teens atop a telephone booth. At another intersection, there was an auto with a wooden platform on top and it held two confortable easy chairs. One of the most elaborate prepared parade perches was in a "cherry picker" bucket swung out over the middle of the marching route by a truck parked at a side street.

Even when I got back in front of the grandstand I found offbeat spectators. Two youngsters crawled beneath the stand, pulled the bunting aside and made themselves front row center seats.

So the next time you're in the bleachers at a ball game or on the sidelines of a parade or public event, look around you at the spectators. They make pictures that can be just as interesting as the main event.

Stamp News

The republic of China (Formosa) has honored the 40th "International Cooperative Day" by issuing two new commemorative stamps, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. International Cooperative Day has been celebrated the first Saturday of each July since 1922 when initiated by the Alliance Cooperative Internationale.

The lower value stamp in this set depicts two hands clasped across a world globe. The words Republic of China appear in Chinese and English. The higher value stamp shows the emblem of the ACI and features a ring of bright rays and the flower of the plum, the national flower of the Republic of China.

The first United Nations memorial stamp honoring all those who have lost their lives in the service of the world organization will be issued on Sept. 17. The design of the stamp depicts the United Nations flag at half mast.

It is rather coincidental that on Sept. 17, 1948, Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden was killed while serving as United Nations mediator in Palestine. On September 18, 1961, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, together with 15 other persons, died in a United Nations plane crash in Northern Rhodesia.

Further details about the stamps and information regarding the first-day covers will appear in this column shortly.

Syria has issued two new stamps to commemorate Syrian Revolution Day. Both stamps are of the same design and illustrate the "Martyrs Memorial" in Swaida. The 12½ p is light and dark brown and the 35 p is light and dark green.

A report from Italy reveals that 30 Lare and 70 Lare stamps have been issued to honor the 50th anniversary of the death of scientist A. Pacinotti. The stamps have a symbolic design denoting the scientific works of Pacinotti.

Haiti has re-issued its United Nations Refugee Year set in exactly the same designs as originally, but in new colors and with the date 1962 inscribed. The outstretched palm tree symbol which appeared on most of the stamps issued by countries commemorating this occasion again is featured on the Haiti set.

FOOTNOTES

According to many fashion experts, shoes are one index to your taste and personality. Here are a few "footnotes" for you to remember. Pumps are universally the most flattering shoe style also the most universally accepted shoe style with most costumes.

Don't wear bright colored shoes or shoes with fancy trim unless your feet are pretty.

Patent leather shoes can be worn almost the year around, depending upon your costume, and they are perfectly correct for informal, after dark occasions.

White shoes belong with a white, or very light colored costume. They are never the correct groundwork for a dark costume.

Shoes covered to match a costume (print shoes for a print dress, for example) may be attractive. However, you should not repeat the print any other place.

A THOUGHT

Try to cultivate the habit of always looking on the bright side of every experience.

Hybridizing Is Explained

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Mrs. J. A. Kilpatrick, president of the Dixieland Daylily Society, and a daylily enthusiast in every way, presented an excellent program on that type of flowers last Wednesday for the Garden Center and T. V. show. Hybridizing and obtaining new lilies is her hobby. Some of the seedlings that she grew were displayed on the show.

To begin the program Mrs. Kilpatrick showed one of the lovely specimens and told about each part of the blossom. These were the petals consisting of the outer and inner segments; the stamen, the pistol, the throat and midrib, and, the stem or scape which sometimes consists of an extra growth of leaves which, Mrs. Kilpatrick explained was the proliferation.

Her reason for explaining the parts of the lily was to make it easier to show how to cross pollinate. This she did for the viewers. The stamen consists of the anther and the filament. There are six of these stamens and one longer pistil. The pollen clings to the anthers.

CROSSING

By removing one of the anthers from one lily and dusting the pollen on the pistil of another we cross pollinate the two lilies, thus getting a cross of the two—or a new lily. Mrs. Kilpatrick said that it is much better to cross similar colors to get a more pleasing and true color in the new lily.

Another way to get new plants was demonstrated by her. She showed how to cut the proliferation from one of the scapes (old branch) and planted it in a prepared bed. She explained that when this is done the bed should be carefully made by using mulch with the soil and keeping the small plant watered often. This will give them a good start, and often they will bloom the following season. Some daylilies are more prolific than others. This is quite noticeable, Mrs. Kilpatrick explained, especially the finer ones seem to have less proliferations.

In describing the daylilies we so often hear the terms "bicolor" and "self-colored" used. If the outer and inner segments are of clearly different colors, the term "bicolor" is used. If all the segments are of one color the flower is called "self-colored." Daylilies have different forms, also. We are told by experts that some are so beautiful and different in form that one might have some trouble at first classifying them as daylilies. The Hemerocallis Journal gives reports from some of these experts. James F. Miles writes an interesting report on "double" daylilies. He says that blossoms having more than six, but fewer than 12 petaloids may be classified as a semi-double. A daylily that produces double blossoms (12) consistently is classed as a "double." Much effort is still needed in hybridizing in order to produce 100 per cent double blossoms.

SLOW DOUBLES

Some doubles produce "double" blossoms only on the rebloom or second crop of scapes. It will actually take years, Miles explained, for doubles to reach comparable consistency with single daylilies.

Mrs. Kilpatrick divided a clump of daylilies to show just how to do this properly. She explained that it can be done now—or as soon as the lily begins to die down. As late as November we can do this. She carefully pulled the fleshy roots apart, thus dividing the new plants. The tops were cut off to about six or eight inches from the roots. Next she planted the divided lilies in a prepared bed, one that had been fertilized and well mulched.

We are prone to neglect daylilies since they require so little attention. By neglect I mean we fail to divide them properly or feed them at intervals. We should water the new plants. They should be planted where they receive at least four hours of sun daily. It is best to plant colors together. They make excellent border plants. They give sunshine to any garden or yard.

Thanks, Mrs. Kilpatrick, for your wonderful program. You are an inspiration to all who love flowers, especially our "perennial supreme," the daylily.

Our next program will be presented by Mrs. Marcus Mapp, an accomplished flower arranger and lecturer. She is a member of the Bayou DeSiard Garden Club.

Plant Beauty Of The Night

The first United Nations memorial stamp honoring all those who have lost their lives in the service of the world organization will be issued on Sept. 17. The design of the stamp depicts the United Nations flag at half mast.

It is rather coincidental that on Sept. 17, 1948, Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden was killed while serving as United Nations mediator in Palestine. On September 18, 1961, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, together with 15 other persons, died in a United Nations plane crash in Northern Rhodesia.

Further details about the stamps and information regarding the first-day covers will appear in this column shortly.

Syria has issued two new stamps to commemorate Syrian Revolution Day. Both stamps are of the same design and illustrate the "Martyrs Memorial" in Swaida. The 12-½ p. is light and dark brown and the 35 p. is light and dark green.

A report from Italy reveals that 30 Lire and 70 Lire stamps have been issued to honor the 50th anniversary of the death of scientist A. Pacinotti. The stamps have a symbolic design denoting the scientific works of Pacinotti.

Haiti has re-issued its United Nations Refugee Year set in exactly the same designs as originally, but in new colors and with the date 1962 inscribed. The outstretched palm tree symbol which appeared on most of the stamps issued by countries commemorating this occasion again is featured on the Haiti set.

Those who attend Home and Garden Week will be housed in the dormitories on the campus free of charge. So if you, Mr. or Mrs. Gardener, are interested in attending, and need further information, call our office at FA 3-2251.

OUT OF TOWN

Yours truly will be in Baton Rouge July 23-25 attending the State Farm Bureau meeting. Mrs. Beatrice Rhymes Earle, chairman of the Women Committee, is in charge of the luncheon on Tuesday. The theme of the luncheon will be "Cotton," and she has worked out each step from planting to finished product. The decorations for the tables will be miniature tractors, pickers, trailers loaded with bales of cotton and the finished product which she has arranged — a style revue of cotton garments. From all reports we can look forward to the luncheon as one of the big events for the women's activities during the convention.

COUNCIL MEETING

Council members, don't forget the important meeting Friday at 10 a.m. at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe. Mrs. Bower, your president, asked that you be present to help make some important plans for parish activities. Definite plans for attendance at Home and Garden Week to be held on the campus of LSU, August 20, will be made at this meeting.

FOOTNOTES

According to many fashion experts, shoes are one index to your taste and personality. Here are a few "footnotes" for you to remember. Pumps are universally the most flattering shoe style also the most universally accepted shoe style with most costumes.

Don't wear bright colored shoes or shoes with fancy trim unless your feet are pretty.

Patent leather shoes can be worn almost the year around, depending upon your costume, and they are perfectly correct for informal, after dark occasions.

White shoes belong with a white, or very light colored costume. They are never the correct groundwork for a dark costume.

Shoes covered to match a costume (print shoes for a print dress, for example) may be attractive. However, you should not repeat the print any other place.

A THOUGHT

Try to cultivate the habit of always looking on the bright side of every experience.

TEEN-AGE COSTAR

NEW YORK (AP)—A 16-year-old Canadian lad is to costar with Myrna Loy in the forthcoming Rialto production, "There Must Be a Pony!"

Peter Helm tackles the assignment after brief appearances here in "There Was a Little Girl" and "Comes A Day." The play, about a youth and his famous actress mother, is by James Kirkwood.

IS YOUR THINKING OUT OF DATE?

The Model A and older cars once were "the most" — but they've been discarded for years.

"REA" once was the "handle" for all efforts to get electric power into rural homes and farms—today "REA" is a commonly MISUSED term.

Why? Because the "REA"— Rural Electrification Administration — is a Federal government agency with only ONE PURPOSE: to LOAN money, at interest, to ANY private business or local organization qualified to build rural electric lines and maintain adequate service to rural folks . . . REA doesn't own a single foot of electric lines anywhere.

MARRIED LAST NIGHT in Dodson Methodist church were Miss Linda Broomfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Broomfield, and Jimmy Terral, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Terral, all of Dodson. The Rev. H. B. Crammer officiated at the ceremony at 7:30 p. m.

Smith-Eldred Vows Heard In Farmerville

Miss Sharron Eldred became the bride of Arnett Draughon Smith, Jr., Saturday evening, July 14 at half past seven o'clock in the Farmerville Church of Christ, which was decorated for the occasion with floor standards of white gladioli and Fuji chrysanthemums. Behind these rose pyramids of white cathedral tapers and emerald foliage.

Vows were exchanged beneath an arch covered with white pom pon mums and English ivy. Suspending from overhead were three frosted wedding bells tied with satin ribbon. On the walls on either side of the rostrum, tree candelabra and other white flowers completed the setting. Reverend Carrol F. Bailey officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. John Vanderpool of Memphis sang "No Other Love," "I'll Walk Beside You" and "The Wedding Prayer," accompanied by a choir composed of Miss Maralyn Citty, Miss Marsha Bailey, Mike Bailey, Stervle Watson and David Simpson.

Given in marriage by her father, Fred O. Eldred, the bride wore an original model of white silk organza over peau de soie, fashioned with Sabrina neckline outlined with clusters of seed pearls, appliques of Alencon lace, and a semi-belled skirt forming a chapel train. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion drifted from a Queen's crown of irridescent crystals and seed pearls. She carried a semi-crescent bouquet of speciman phalaenopsis orchids surrounded by fleur d' armour, pearls, satin leaves and sprays of miniature ivy.

Attending the bride as maid of honor, was her sister, Miss Maryanne Eldred, who wore a mint green street-length model of crystaline taffeta, featuring a bell skirt with sleeveless bodice and a short embroidered jacket of the same fabric.

There's no USO in Peoria

With good reason. Peorians in our Armed Forces are not staying in Peoria. They're wherever our frontiers of peace need protecting. And that's where the USO is. Serving those who are serving us.

Besides serving those in training areas here, the USO reaches GI's in potentially explosive trouble spots—Berlin to Okinawa—where USO's spiritual uplift and homey relaxation is more needed by our troops than it was in the hot, shooting war. For, as President Kennedy said, "Winning the Peace is a Lonely Battle." Of the 2,750,000 GI's, over half are under 25 . . . and away from home for the first time. For most GI's, their link with home is the nearest USO.

But more USO's are needed. That means more money. Not for Peoria. But for its son, guarding the city limits in far-off lands. Don't let him wonder—even for a minute . . .

TALKING BACK

Davis Seems To Be Tired Of Turning Other Cheek

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, softvoiced, affable, shy about speaking up on public controversies, seems to be tired of turning the other cheek when slapped hard.

While the tall, easy-smiling Davis and his administration leaders were outshouted in the 1962 legislature, he wasn't outvoted.

The governor worked his political gears as smoothly as a race car veteran.

Public silence has been the prevailing Davis attitude on the issues that bubbled over in the legislature—a code of ethics, listing of unclassified state workers as one way to expose any payroll deadheads, demands for sweeping investigations of his regime. All were knocked out.

After the first Davis administration in 1944-48, a Davis characteristic was an obvious desire not to make anyone angry.

No one knows more than a governor you can't keep everyone happy. That is one of the reasons the last two governors failed in attempts to handpick their successors.

Polite as he was, Davis didn't exactly tiptoe around in the 1962 legislature.

He's kindled some anger now, annoying such outspoken groups as the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation, which opens its annual convention here Sunday Davis has been invited to speak, and probably he will.

Davis squeezed through the 60-day legislature without a news conference to publicize his views on developing questions holding public interest.

It is possible he will get around to changing that policy soon.

Administration authorities said the governor may decide to turn to the television stage to get a few things off his chest.

More personal appearance throughout the state could be just ahead.

Davis is likely to wait until after the July 28 Congressional primaries before striding back into the public spotlight.

The governor did hit back at criticism of President L. L. Lovell of the Louisiana Farm Bureau, annoyed by Davis' veto of five farm bureau bills.

Davis offered a short but ready answer, through his press relations staff, when Congressional candidate Hugh Shearman of Lake Charles accused the governor of intervening in the seventh district campaign for incumbent Rep. T. A. Thompson.

Davis said he was just too busy for such as that.

The governor remained silent after protests by President M. Dan Hogan of Jefferson Parish that "political skullduggery" was behind the legislature's failure to limit state racing commission expenses at Jefferson Downs race track. One lawmaker had labeled the whole issue a question of payroll deadheads.

When Sen. George Tessier, a New Orleans independent, told New Orleans Rotarians he doubted Louisiana was mature enough to stand two terms of any state administration "I've seen for the past 20 years," Davis didn't choose to offer a comment.

All these developments were tied together by one factor—they rolled forth in the first week after the legislature went home to stay.

Should Davis move briskly back into public view, politics would more than likely represent one of the reasons.

The governor may want to take his legislative operations to the public, to give fully his view.

But Davis and his own leaders are the first to realize if the administration's viewpoint hasn't been fully pictures the way Davis would prefer, no one but the tightlipped governor is at fault.

After faithfully supporting Davis throughout the wrathful complaints of a minority, some of the administration lawmakers could use some Davis pep talks back home now.

Not too far ahead is the $60 million highway bond issue, to be voted on by the people in November. Before the legislature ended, Rep. Richard Bertrans of Lafayette predicted the people would reject the bond program 20-1.

According to close associates, Gov. Davis took often has felt the silent technique was all right because everything would work out for the best in the end.

The idea of a more aggressive public position just might be stirring in the governor, after the blows of hard punching foes.

The governor's health has never appeared to be better.

Davis hasn't forgotten his campaign words, now a part of Louisiana political history.

"I look behind this election. I look beyond all elections. I look to the time when they're going to take me, just like they're going to take you, to some silent city on a hill. And that's the last rite. We're not coming back.

"And when they take me there, I want people to say that I was decent and honorable and respectable, and I did the best I could to serve all the people. That's the only reward I want for being governor."

Grain Crisis In Satellites Is Reported

LONDON (UPI)—A grain crisis in Russia's eastern European satellite countries is causing new difficulties for their already hard pressed economies, according to reports reaching here.

Sources usually well-informed on Iron Curtain affairs said that poor harvests were general in most of the satellite countries because of the long winter and dry spring.

Russia itself has reported record crops, but has had trouble in harvesting it. Izvestia, the organ of the Russian government, has estimated Soviet crops at about 150 million tons, well above the 1958 record of 141 million tons, but admitted some grain might be lost because machinery was lacking to bring it in.

The sources said that Russia probably would be able to step up its exports on grain to the satellites to ease their crises, but that they would still need to buy grain from the WEST.

The trouble with the grain harvest follows earlier difficulties with meat and butter which have been in short supply in several of the satellite countries for several months.

It was understood here that the agricultural problems were an important factor behind the recent stepped up drive in the satellite countries against the European Common Market.

Well informed sources said the satellite countries badly need to increase trade with the West to earn currency to pay for food imports. They said the satellites fear the high tariffs of the Common Market might block their chances of selling to them.

It is estimated here that Western Europe accounts for 15-20 per cent of Eastern Europe's foreign trade, and offers the greatest scope for expansion if the Common Market does not stand in the way.

Russia itself depends far less on foreign trade than the satellites, but shares their concern about the future, the sources said, because it does not want their economic problems to bog down its progress.

Ceremonies Set At Morgan City

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP)Ceremonies will be held here Sunday dedicating the Morgan City ship channel which will give vessels a deepwater link from south Louisiana to the Gulf of Mexico.

The channel, an improvement to the Atchafalaya Bay ship channel, gives vessels of 16-foot draft direct access to the Gulf and is expected to give Morgan City an economic boost.

The channel will have a 200-foot bottom and a 300-foot top width for the entire run from Morgan City and Berwick to the 18-foot contour in the Gulf.

Special guests include Sen. Russell Long, D-La.; Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock; and State Public Works Director Claude Kirkpatrick.

While the tall, easy-smiling Davis and his administration leaders were outshouted in the 1962 legislature, he wasn't outvoted.

The governor worked his political gears as smoothly as a race car veteran.

Public silence has been the prevailing Davis attitude on the issues that bubbled over in the legislature—a code of ethics, listing of unclassified state workers as one way to expose any payroll deadheads, demands for sweeping investigations of his regime. All were knocked out.

After the first Davis administration in 1944-48, a Davis characteristic was an obvious desire not to make anyone angry.

No one knows more than a governor you can't keep everyone happy. That is one of the reasons the last two governors failed in attempts to handpick their successors.

Polite as he was, Davis didn't exactly tiptoe around in the 1962 legislature.

He's kindled some anger now, annoying such outspoken groups as the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation, which opens its annual convention here Sunday. Davis has been invited to speak, and probably he will.

Davis squeezed through the 60-day legislature without a news conference to publicize his views on developing questions holding public interest.

It is possible he will get around to changing that policy soon.

Administration authorities said the governor may decide to turn to the television stage to get a few things off his chest.

More personal appearance throughout the state could be just ahead.

Davis is likely to wait until after the July 28 Congressional primaries before striding back into the public spotlight.

The governor did hit back at criticism of President L. L. Lovell of the Louisiana Farm Bureau, annoyed by Davis' veto of five farm bureau bills.

Davis offered a short but ready answer, through his press relations staff, when Congressional candidate Hugh Shearman of Lake Charles accused the governor of intervening in the seventh district campaign for incumbent Rep. T. A. Thompson.

Davis said he was just too busy for such as that.

The governor remained silent after protests by President M. Dan Hogan of Jefferson Parish that "political skullduggery" was behind the legislature's failure to limit state racing commission expenses at Jefferson Downs race track. One lawmaker had labeled the whole issue a question of payroll deadheads.

When Sen. George Tessier, a New Orleans independent, told New Orleans Rotarians he doubted Louisiana was mature enough to stand two terms of any state administration "I've seen for the past 20 years," Davis didn't choose to offer a comment.

All these developments were tied together by one factor—they rolled forth in the first week after the legislature went home to stay.

Should Davis move briskly back into public view, politics would more than likely represent one of the reasons.

The governor may want to take his legislative operations to the public, to give fully his view.

But Davis and his own leaders are the first to realize if the administration's viewpoint hasn't been fully pictures the way Davis would prefer, no one but the tightlipped governor is at fault.

After faithfully supporting Davis throughout the wrathful complaints of a minority, some of the administration lawmakers could use some Davis pep talks back home now.

Not too far ahead is the $60 million highway bond issue, to be voted on by the people in November. Before the legislature ended, Rep. Richard Bertrans of Lafayette predicted the people would reject the bond program 20-1.

According to close associates, Gov. Davis took often has felt the silent technique was all right because everything would work out for the best in the end.

The idea of a more aggressive public position just might be stirring in the governor, after the blows of hard punching foes.

The governor's health has never appeared to be better.

Davis hasn't forgotten his campaign words, now a part of Louisiana political history:

"I look behind this election. I look beyond all elections. I look to the time when they're going to take me, just like they're going to take you, to some silent city on a hill. And that's the last rite. We're not coming back.

"And when they take me there, I want people to say that I was decent and honorable and respectable, and I did the best I could to serve all the people. That's the only reward I want for being governor."

Grain Crisis In Satellites Is Reported

LONDON (UPI)—A grain crisis in Russia's eastern European satellite countries is causing new difficulties for their already hard pressed economies, according to reports reaching here.

Sources usually well - informed on Iron Curtain affairs said that poor harvests were general in most of the satellite countries because of the long winter and dry spring.

Russia itself has reported record crops, but has had trouble in harvesting it. Izvestia, the organ of the Russian government, has estimated Soviet crops at about 150 million tons, well above the 1958 record of 141 million tons, but admitted some grain might be lost because machinery was lacking to bring it in.

The sources said that Russia probably would be able to step up its exports on grain to the satellites to ease their crises, but that they would still need to buy grain from the WEST.

The trouble with the grain harvest follows earlier difficulties with meat and butter which have been in short supply in several of the satellite countries for several months.

It was understood here that the agricultural problems were an important factor behind the recent stepped up drive in the satellite countries against the European Common Market.

Well informed sources said the satellite countries badly need to increase trade with the West to earn currency to pay for food imports. They said the satellites fear the high tariffs of the Common Market might block their chances of selling to them.

It is estimated here that Western Europe accounts for 15-20 per cent of Eastern Europe's foreign trade, and offers the greatest scope for expansion if the Common Market does not stand in the way.

Russia itself depends far less on foreign trade than the satellites, but shares their concern about the future, the sources said, because it does not want their economic problems to bog down its progress.

Ceremonies Set At Morgan City

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP)Ceremonies will be held here Sunday dedicating the Morgan City ship channel which will give vessels a deepwater link from south Louisiana to the Gulf of Mexico.

The channel, an improvement to the Atchafalaya Bay ship channel, gives vessels of 16-foot draft direct access to the Gulf and is expected to give Morgan City an economic boost.

The channel will have a 200-foot bottom and a 300-foot top width for the entire run from Morgan City and Berwick to the 18-foot contour in the Gulf.

Special guests include Sen. Russell Long, D-La.; Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock; and State Public Works Director Claude Kirkpatrick.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"When I make a dress with a gathered skirt, the waistline often stretches and becomes too loose. Is there any way I can avoid this?"

Mrs. E.H.

Dear Mrs. E. H:

The waistline of all dresses should be reinforced, especially those with pleated or gathered skirts. Immediately after you have joined the bodice and skirt, check your pattern instructions to see whether the waistline seams should be pressed UP (towards the bodice), or DOWN (towards the skirt).

Before pressing, baste the seams to your garment in the correct position. Now, from the inside of your dress, baste seam tape over the seam line. Lastly, machine stitch from the RIGHT side of your dress, about ⅛ of an inch from the seam line. This stitching will be made through all thicknesses of fabric, including the seam tape. This will hold the waistline seam firm and avoid stretching.

If you don't happen to have any seam tape, an excellent substitute is the selvage of your fabric. This is woven very firm and will not stretch.

NATURAL PLEAT

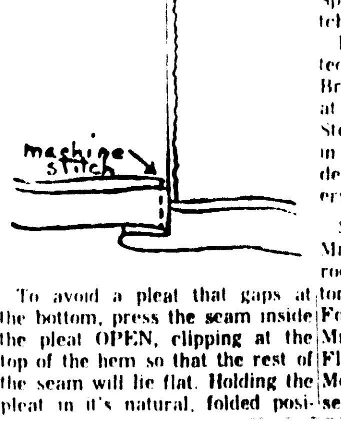
"Dear Eunice Farmer

"Please tell me why kick pleats or box pleats gap at the bottom after hemming and pressing? I have tried opening the seams, clipping, etc., without much luck."

Mrs. H. M.

Dear Mrs. H. M.

First. To insure an even pleat that will not be stretched out of shape, machine baste the pleat line (which is a continuation of your seam). This should be pressed before marking the hemline of your skirt.



To avoid a pleat that gaps at the bottom, press the seam inside the pleat OPEN, clipping at the top of the hem so that the rest of the seam will lie flat. Holding the pleat in it's natural, folded position, machine stitch the INSIDE fold of the hem (as shown) about ⅛-inch from the fold. This will keep the pleat nice and flat.

BACK CLOSING LAP

"Dear Eunice,

"Is there any set rule about the back closing of a dress? Should the right side lap over the left?"

Mrs. E. J. D.

Dear Mrs. E. J. D.:

Just pretend the back slide fastener that has been shifted into a new position. This is the easiest way to determine which direction it should be lapped. If there is a pleat in your skirt, it must be lapped over in the same direction as the fastener.

HOLDS PEDAL SWITCH

Here's a simple but valuable idea sent to you by Mrs. W. C. Jervis, Somerville, Mass. She says a piece of foam rubber about 12 inches square and ¼ inch thick placed under the foot control of your electric sewing machine will keep it from slipping on the waxed floor. Because I think it will save effort — and tempers — I'm sending her a Tailor Trix pressing board for the best suggestion of the week.

Please send your questions and tips to Eunice Farmer, in care of Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La.

POLITICS ON AGENDA

State Farm Group Opens Convention

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—The state's largest farmer's organization — Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation — today was set to begin its 40th annual convention here July 22-25.

Some 1,100 farmers were expected for the four-day event, climaxed Wednesday by adoption of the group's policies for next year.

Among issues under discussion at the convention:

—A follow-up to the stinging rebuff the federation's eighth congressional district leaders handed to Rep. Harold McSween during a special television program in Alexandria this week.

—Certain parish bureau resolutions urging the State Farm Bureau to endorse an anti-deadhead bill and code of ethics at the next session of the Louisiana legislature. Both these measures failed to gain enough momentum to make it through the 1962 legislative session and past the governor's desk.

—And a special freedom awards program Tuesday to recognize outstanding programs aimed at "fostering and preserving the ideals of a Christian America."

L. L. Lovell, head of the farm bureau, blasted Gov. Jimmie H. Davis for vetoing all five bills the farm bureau sponsored in the 1962 legislative session.

Davis, scheduled to address the convention, replied to Lovell's charge he "turned his back" on farmers by saying he believed he was acting in the interests of farmers and other citizens of the state by vetoing the bills.

The farm bureau contacted Davis, sources said, and reiterated the invitation to Davis to speak at the convention. Davis replied he would address the convention, despite the earlier exchange over the veto of the five bills.

A verbal slap at McSween, the convention's main speaker two years ago, apparently was a climax to friction which began between the congressman and the federation when McSween cast the key vote which reported the Kennedy administration's controversial farm bill out of the house agricultural committee.

The bill was later defeated on the House flooor.

Tax Conference Begins Today In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Registration today begins the 12th annual conference of the Southeastern Association of Tax Administrators. Expected are 400 delegates from 12 states.

Roland Cocreham, chairman of the three - day conference, said advance registrations were the largest in conference history. Cocreham is Louisiana's collector of revenue.

Regular sessions begin Monday with discussions of electronic data processing techniques on state and federal levels. Speakers will include Robert H. Terry, federal internal revenue service, W. A. Johnson, commissioner of revenue for North Carolina, Bernard Nossel deputy comptroller for Maryland and Paul A. Henschen of Price Waterhouse Co., Texas.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MAYOR HOWARD was notified today that he has been selected to participate in the opening ceremonies Sunday, July 22, of the "Home Center of the South", a research, develop and test center for low cost homes located in Mobile, Alabama. Officials of 25 representative cities in 13 central and southern states are expected to attend and personally inspect new techniques, designs and materials.

The Home Center of the South, built and conducted by Lee Quality Homes in cooperation with 23 national building material manufacturers, is intended to upgrade the quality of low cost homes while reducing the construction cost per square foot. At the same time, the Center will attempt to determine consumer acceptance of the manufacturer's new products — many of which will not be put into full scale production and distribution until after a period of evaluation at the Home Center of the South. SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"When I make a dress with a gathered skirt, the waistline often stretches and becomes too loose. Is there any way I can avoid this?"

Mrs. E.H.

Dear Mrs. E. H:

The waistline of all dresses should be reinforced, especially those with pleated or gathered skirts. Immediately after you have joined the bodice and skirt, check your pattern instructions to see whether the waistline seams should be pressed UP (towards the bodice), or DOWN (towards the skirt).

Before pressing, baste the seams to your garment in the correct position. Now, from the inside of your dress, baste seam tape over the seam line. Lastly, machine stitch from the RIGHT side of your dress, about ⅛ of an inch from the seam line. This stitching will be made through all thicknesses of fabric, including the seam tape. This will hold the waistline seam firm and avoid stretching.

If you don't happen to have any seam tape, an excellent substitute is the selvage of your fabric. This is woven very firm and will not stretch.

NATURAL PLEAT

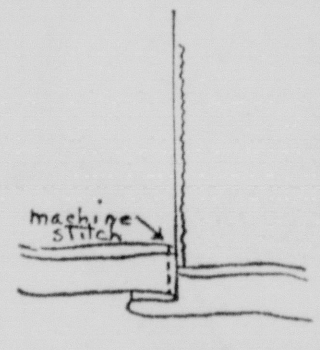
"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"Please tell me why kick pleats or box pleats gap at the bottom after hemming and pressing? I have tried opening the seams, clipping, etc., without much luck."

Mrs. H. M.

Dear Mrs. H. M:

First: To insure an even pleat that will not be stretched out of shape, machine baste the pleat line (which is a continuation of your seam). This should be pressed before marking the hemline of your skirt.



To avoid a pleat that gaps at the bottom, press the seam inside the pleat OPEN, clipping at the top of the hem so that the rest of the seam will lie flat. Holding the pleat in it's natural, folded position, machine stitch the INSIDE fold of the hem (as shown) about ⅛-inch from the fold. This will keep the pleat nice and flat.

BACK CLOSING LAP

"Dear Eunice,

"Is there any set rule about the back closing of a dress? Should the right side lap over the left?"

Mrs. E. J. D.

Dear Mrs. E. J. D.:

Just pretend the back slide fastener that has been shifted into a new position. This is the easiest way to determine which direction it should be lapped. If there is a pleat in your skirt, it must be lapped over in the same direction as the fastener.

HOLDS PEDAL SWITCH

Here's a simple but valuable idea sent to you by Mrs. W. C. Jervis, Somerville, Mass. She says a piece of foam rubber about 12 inches square and ¼ inch thick placed under the foot control of your electric sewing machine will keep it from slipping on the waxed floor. Because I think it will save effort — and tempers — I'm sending her a Tailor Trix pressing board for the best suggestion of the week.

Please send your questions and tips to Eunice Farmer, in care of Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La.

Loomas Evans, 69, Succumbs; Services Monday

POLITICS ON AGENDA

State Farm Group Opens Convention

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)— The state's largest farmer's organization — Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation — today was set to begin its 40th annual convention here July 22-25.

Some 1,100 farmers were expected for the four-day event, climaxed Wednesday by adoption of the group's policies for next year.

Among issues under discussion at the convention:

—A follow-up to the stinging rebuff the federation's eighth congressional district leaders handed to Rep. Harold McSween during a special television program in Alexandria this week.

—Certain parish bureau resolutions urging the State Farm Bureau to endorse an anti-deadhead bill and code of ethics at the next session of the Louisiana legislature. Both these measures failed to gain enough momentum to make it through the 1962 legislative session and past the governor's desk.

—And a special freedom awards program Tuesday to recognize outstanding programs aimed at "fostering and preserving the ideals of a Christian America."

L. L. Lovell, head of the farm bureau, blasted Gov. Jimmie H. Davis for vetoing all five bills the farm bureau sponsored in the 1962 legislative session.

Davis, scheduled to address the convention, replied to Lovell's charge he "turned his back" on farmers by saying he believed he was acting in the interests of farmers and other citizens of the state by vetoing the bills.

The farm bureau contacted Davis, sources said, and reiterated the invitation to Davis to speak at the convention. Davis replied he would address the convention, despite the earlier exchange over the veto of the five bills.

A verbal slap at McSween, the convention's main speaker two years ago, apparently was a climax to friction which began between the congressman and the federation when McSween cast the key vote which reported the Kennedy administration's controversial farm bill out of the house agricultural committee.

The bill was later defeated on the House flooor.

Tax Conference Begins Today In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Registration today begins the 12th annual conference of the Southeastern Association of Tax Administrators. Expected are 400 delegates from 12 states.

Roland Cocreham, chairman of the three - day conference, said advance registrations were the largest in conference history. Cocreham is Louisiana's collector of revenue.

Regular sessions begin Monday with discussions of electronic data processing techniques on state and federal levels. Speakers will include Robert H. Terry, federal internal revenue service, W. A. Johnson, commissioner of revenue for North Carolina, Bernard Nossel, deputy comptroller for Maryland and Paul A. Henschen of Price Waterhouse Co., Texas.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MAYOR HOWARD was notified today that he has been selected to participate in the opening ceremonies Sunday, July 22, of the "Home Center of the South", a research, develop and test center for low cost homes located in Mobile, Alabama. Officials of 25 representative cities in 13 central and southern states are expected to attend and personally inspect new techniques, designs and materials.

The Home Center of the South, built and conducted by Lee Quality Homes in cooperation with 23 national building material manufacturers, is intended to upgrade the quality of low cost homes while reducing the construction cost per square foot. At the same time, the Center will attempt to determine consumer acceptance of the manufacturer's new products — many of which will not be put into full scale production and distribution until after a period of evaluation at the Home Center of the South. Want Ad Reunites Mother And Daughter Mrs. Lois Goodlake, a waitress in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, with two small children, put a want ad in the newspaper for a baby-sitter. The ad was answered by a daughter she hadn't seen for 14 years. The daughter, Tara Lea Brynman, 15, lives with her grand-parents, in Minneapolis, Minn. Mrs. Goodlake was divorced from her second husband. Her first husband lived in Fort Lauderdale, too. Tara was visiting her father during the summer. She saw the ad for a baby-sitter and answered it and mother and daughter were miraculously reunited.

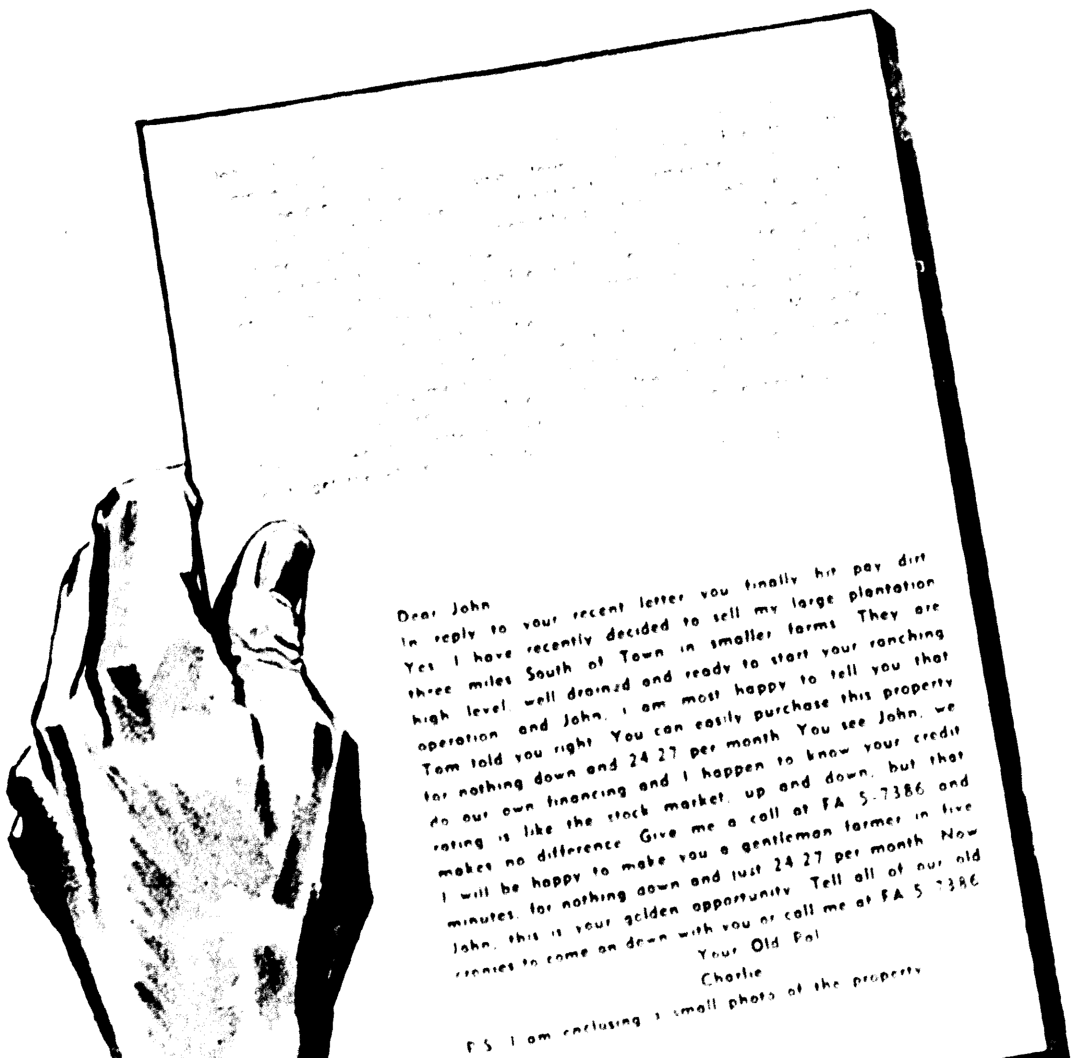
HR Construction Co.



Dear John
In reply to your recent letter you finally hit pay dirt. Yes I have recently decided to sell my large plantation in smaller farms. They are three miles South of Town high level, well drained and ready to start your ranching operation and John, I am most happy to tell you that Tom told you right. You can easily purchase this property for nothing down and 24.27 per month. You see John, we do our own financing and I happen to know your credit rating is like the stock market, up and down, but that makes no difference. Give me a call at FA 5-7386 and I will be happy to make you a gentleman farmer in five minutes, for nothing down and just 24.27 per month. Now John, this is your golden opportunity. Tell all of our old cronies to come on down with you or call me at FA 5-7386.

Your Old Pal
Charlie

P.S. I am enclosing a small photo of the property.

To Build Or Repair Your Home

Dear Charlie:
I am writing you this letter as a last resort. I am one of the many many people looking for a small farm close to town. Everything that I have found that I like I could not afford. Remember, old Tom, he told me you had cut up your beautiful plantation and was selling it in smaller tracts for nothing down and just 24.27 per month. Now Charlie we are good friends, I hope. Please tell me, is this another gimmick, or, do you really have something to sell that I would like and can afford to buy. I have spent countless hours and worn out two sets of tires looking for small acreage near town that I could afford. My wife is constantly nagging me to buy a few acres close to town where we can raise our boys, keep a saddle horse, a few chickens and a garden. Please answer this letter as soon as possible so I can either buy a farm or forget the whole darn thing.

Your old pal,
John.

Dear John:
In reply to your recent letter you finally hit pay dirt. Yes, I have recently decided to sell my large plantation three miles South of Town in smaller farms. They are high, level, well drained and ready to start your ranching operation, and John, I am most happy to tell you that Tom told you right. You can easily purchase this property for nothing down and 24.27 per month. You see John, we do our own financing and I happen to know your credit rating is like the stock market, up and down, but that makes no difference. Give me a call at FA 5-7386 and I will be happy to make you a gentleman farmer in five minutes, for nothing down and just 24.27 per month. Now John, this is your golden opportunity. Tell all of our old cronies to come on down with you or call me at FA 5-7386.

Your Old Pal,

P.S. I am enclosing a small photo of the property.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:

Mothers who do not have "portable baby-sitters" should go right out and buy one.

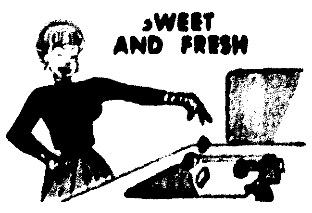
These little gadgets not only are good for carrying and feeding the baby but also can be used for something else. I put the entire plastic seat in the bathtub or sink when I bathe my baby.

I had always been so fearful of dropping the baby when I gave him his bath because my hands and his little body were always so slick. Now . . . all I do is remove the plastic pad and place the little seat in the kitchen sink in a tilted position. Place the baby in this.

He is not afraid at all of the water and his head does not have to be held in one hand continuously while bathing him with the other hand. Both hands are free to bathe the baby. I think these gadgets should be called baby-bathers!

Before starting to bathe the baby, I place a big bath towel on one drainboard and lift him from the sink to this bath towel for drying, diapering and powdering.

—Mother



SWEET AND FRESH

DEAR HELOISE:

Once a week I cut up a lime or lemon (or better yet, use the skin of a grapefruit) and run this through the disposal. A sweet and fresh smell is the result.

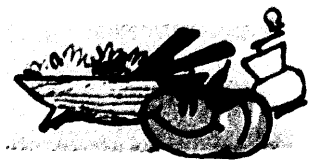
—Loe Etta Bowman

SOME SKIN

DEAR HELOISE:

The most perfect tomato, in my estimation, is a peeled one!

I have found that I can dip a tomato in boiling water for a second or two and then lift it out. Immediately place under cold running water to keep it from cooking.



Place in the refrigerator until ready for use. With a prick of a knife . . . all the skin will peel off beautifully, resulting in a perfect tomato fit for any spoiled bachelor without loss of any of the fruit itself.

—Old Bachelor

DEAR HELOISE:

We have five dogs with long hair. I would like to tell others what has eliminated many a problem for us.

We clean our dogs with the vacuum cleaner brush attachment! It's wonderful! It gets all the loose hair off the dogs and keeps it off the floors and furniture.

And two of the dogs fight to see who is going to get this soothing rubdown first.

—Mrs. Henry South

[illegible]

DEAR HELOISE:

Never throw those small pieces of candles away. Put them on an old wash rag and fold the rag over to form a packet.

Put this on the end of your ironing board and use to swipe your iron as you iron those mountains of clothes each week. The iron will slide faster and easier. Save those muscles wherever you can, girls!

—Mrs. David Elsner

GRAVY TRAIN

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who really want to save and make good gravy too . . . try using powdered milk!

As long as we are mixing our flour with water in a fruit jar, put the powdered milk in at the same time. By shaking the jar (or stirring it with an iced-tea spoon or long fork) you have killed two operations with one procedure. Pour into the drippings and—voila!

—Saver

[illegible]

DEAR HELOISE:

For men and women who wear white shoes and are meticulous about that sole not being smeared with the polish:

Cover the edge of the sole with colorless shoe polish before starting to polish. Then if you do get polish on the sole . . . a swipe with a damp cloth and it's all gone without leaving a trace of a stain.

—Miss K. P.

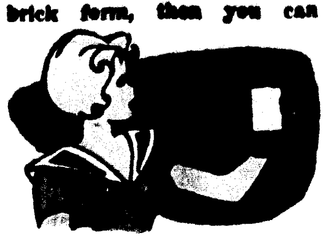
SWEET TALK

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who have trouble keeping that box of brown sugar soft: remove the contents as soon as you come home from the store and put in a tightly-capped fruit jar. This will keep the sugar soft for a year or more.

And by the way, if you have a box that is already in brick form, then you can make the best syrup out of it by adding a little water and maple flavoring . . . but the secret is to always add a touch of vanilla too.

—Jean Cummings



[illegible]

DEAR HELOISE:

Don't let people waste that bacon fat.

Tell them to fry potatoes in it. It's odd, but hunks of potatoes will remove odors from the grease and it can then be strained through a sieve or cloth.

—Frances Miller

HOT IDEA

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who have trouble with their salt shakers corroding: Pour hot paraffin into the inside of the top. Quickly pour the paraffin out. This will leave a thin film on the inside of the shaker.

When the paraffin cools, use a toothpick to reopen the little holes.

—Tillie

[illegible]

DEAR HELOISE:

Being a chemist, I would like all housewives to know that vinegar (any type) is an acid and will remove soap film from showers. It need not be mixed with anything.

When the shower is dry, dip a cotton cloth in straight vinegar and polish. Let it dry. Rinse when showering next time.

—David Burns

[illegible]

DEAR HELOISE:

Here are a couple of space savers: Store blankets, when not in use, between the mattress and box spring.

I use my plastic wastebasket for suds when I scrub floors. It keeps the basket clean and I don't have to buy another bucket.

—Shirley Grant

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Mothers who do not have "portable baby-sitters" should go right out and buy one.

These little gadgets not only are good for carrying and feeding the baby but also can be used for something else. I put the entire plastic seat in the bathtub or sink when I bathe my baby.

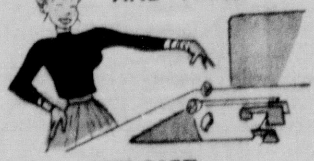
I had always been so fearful of dropping the baby when I gave him his bath because my hands and his little body were always so slick. Now . . . all I do is remove the plastic pad and place the little seat in the kitchen sink in a tilted position. Place the baby in this.

He is not afraid at all of the water and his head does not have to be held in one hand continuously while bathing him with the other hand. Both hands are free to bathe the baby. I think these gadgets should be called baby-bathers!

Before starting to bathe the baby, I place a big bath towel on one drainboard and lift him from the sink to this bath towel for drying, diapering and powdering.

—Mother

SWEET AND FRESH



DEAR HELOISE:

Once a week I cut up a lime or lemon (or better yet, use the skin of a grapefruit) and run this through the disposal. A sweet and fresh smell is the result.

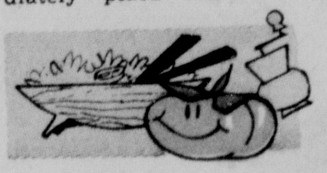
—Loe Etta Bowman

SOME DISH!

DEAR HELOISE:

The most perfect tomato, in my estimation, is a peeled one!

I have found that I can dip a tomato in boiling water for a second or two and then lift it out. Immediately place under cold running water to keep it from cooking.



Place in the refrigerator until ready for use. With a prick of a knife . . . all the skin will peel off beautifully, resulting in a perfect tomato fit for any spoiled bachelor without loss of any of the fruit itself.

—Old Bachelor

DEAR HELOISE:

We have five dogs with long hair. I would like to tell others what has eliminated many a problem for us.

We clean our dogs with the vacuum cleaner brush attachment! It's wonderful! It gets all the loose hair off the dogs and keeps it off the floors and furniture.

And two of the dogs fight to see who is going to get this soothing rubdown first.

—Mrs. Henry South

IRON GLIDE

DEAR HELOISE:

Never throw those small pieces of candles away. Put them on an old wash rag and fold the rag over to form a packet.

Put this on the end of your ironing board and use to swipe your iron as you iron those mountains of clothes each week. The iron will slide faster and easier. Save those muscles wherever you can, girls!

—Mrs. David Elsner

GRAVY TRAIN

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who really want to save and make good gravy too . . . try using powdered milk!

As long as we are mixing our flour with water in a fruit jar, put the powdered milk in at the same time. By shaking the jar (or stirring it with an iced-tea spoon or long fork) you have killed two operations with one procedure. Pour into the drippings and—voila!

—Saver

CLEAN OF SOLE

DEAR HELOISE:

For men and women who wear white shoes and are meticulous about that sole not being smeared with the polish:

Cover the edge of the sole with colorless shoe polish before starting to polish. Then if you do get polish on the sole . . . a swipe with a damp cloth and it's all gone without leaving a trace of a stain.

—Miss K. P.

SWEET TALK

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who have trouble keeping that box of brown sugar soft: remove the contents as soon as you come home from the store and put in a tightly-capped fruit jar. This will keep the sugar soft for a year or more.

And by the way, if you have a box that is already in brick form, then you can make the best syrup out of it by adding a little water and maple flavoring . . . but the secret is to always add a touch of vanilla too.

—Jean Cummings

BACON FAT

DEAR HELOISE:

Don't let people waste that bacon fat.

Tell them to fry potatoes in it. It's odd, but hunks of potatoes will remove odors from the grease and it can then be strained through a sieve or cloth.

—Frances Miller

CHEM LAB

DEAR HELOISE:

Being a chemist, I would like all housewives to know that vinegar (any type) is an acid and will remove soap film from showers. It need not be mixed with anything.

When the shower is dry, dip a cotton cloth in straight vinegar and polish. Let it dry. Rinse when showering next time.

—David Burns

SPACE GRANT

DEAR HELOISE:

Here are a couple of space savers: Store blankets, when not in use, between the mattress and box spring.

I use my plastic wastebasket for suds when I scrub floors. It keeps the basket clean and I don't have to buy another bucket.

—Shirley Grant

HOT IDEA

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who have trouble with their salt shakers corroding: Pour hot paraffin into the inside of the top. Quickly pour the paraffin out. This will leave a thin film on the inside of the shaker.

When the paraffin cools, use a toothpick to reopen the little holes.
